P R E F A C E

THE printing of this volume was stopped in 1914 by the outbreak of war. In 1920 the Government sanctioned a resumption of printing, and the re-composition of those sheets which had been already struck off, but had become antiquated in the meantime owing to fresh researches. I have tried to sift critically, and to quote, when necessary, whatever has been written by scholars on the subject in the course of nearly a century. The transcripts of the texts are based on mechanical copies furnished by the Archæological Survey Department under orders of Sir John MARSHALL. The most perfect among these were contributed by my former assistant, now Government Epigraphist for India, Rao Bahadur H. KRISHNA SASTRI. The plates issued with this volume are collotype reproductions of negatives which were prepared under my personal supervision by Mr. Carl PLETTNER. With the exception of the two Shāhbāzgarhī edicts VII and XII, the impressions of the two Kharōshthī versions of the fourteen rock-edicts proved unsuitable for reproduction, partly owing to the extreme roughness of the rocks on which these records are engraved, and partly because Sir Aurel STEIN's careful estampages of them had become torn and damaged by frequent use. It is a pleasant duty to thank those scholars who have rendered me valuable assistance. Before the war I could avail myself of the ever ready advice of my late friend Dr. J. F. FLEET. To the late Professor Arthur VENIS I am indebted for detailed criticisms of my rendering of the Girnār and Kālsī versions. Professor A. A. MACDONELL kindly looked at the proof-sheets of portions of the texts and translations. The proofs of the introduction were minutely examined by two old friends, Mr. Robert SEWELL and Professor Th. ZACHARIAE.

POSTSCRIPT

THE issuing of this volume was still delayed by the printing of the collotype plates when I received from Mr. H. HARGREAVES, Superintendent, Archæological Survey, Frontier Province, Peshawar, a fresh set of inked estampages of the two north-western versions of the rock-edicts. These estampages have been made with great care and skill, and enable me at the last moment to furnish illustrations of the whole of the Shāhbāzgarhī and Mānschrā edicts. The overlapping sections were clipped and pinned together in my presence by Mr. PLETTNER. In this way the creases and slips disfiguring other facsimiles which I had received in a pasted condition were avoided. Although, owing to the rough surface of the rocks, the new estampages are not quite perfect in every detail, they are the first ever made which admit of reproduction by photography, and they will thus allow students to check the transcripts of those valuable ancient records, and to acquire a first-hand knowledge of the whimsical and often ambiguous Kharōshthī characters. Scholars will feel much indebted to Mr. HARGREAVES, who has now supplied this want, and to Sir John MARSHALL, at whose instance the new impressions were prepared by him.

INTRODUCTION

CHAPTER I. DESCRIPTION OF THE INSCRIPTIONS

FIRST PART: THE ROCK-EDICTS

THE above term is meant to comprise (1) the existing versions of the well-known 'fourteen edicts', and (2) the two 'separate edicts' which the Dhauli and Jaugada versions substitute for edicts XI to XIII. It does not include the minor rock-inscriptions, which will be treated in the fourth part.

I. THE GIRNAR ROCK (Text, p. 1).

This famous set of Aśoka's fourteen edicts is found about a mile to the east of Junāgarh, the capital of the Junāgarh State in the Kāthiāwār Peninsula, 'and at the entry of the dell or gorge which leads into the valley that girdles the mighty and sacred Gīrnār' mountain.<sup>1</sup> The inscription 'covers considerably over a hundred square feet of the uneven surface of a huge rounded and somewhat conical granite boulder, rising 12 feet above the surface of the ground, and about 75 feet in circumference at the base.'<sup>2</sup> The boulder bears, beside Aśoka's edicts, two other valuable documents: An inscription of the Mahākṣhatrapa Rudradāman records the restoration of the lake Sudarśana, which had been 'originally constructed by the Vaiśya Pushyagupta, the provincial governor (rāshṭriya) of the Maurya king Chandragupta, and subsequently adorned with conduits by the Yavana king Tushāspa for Aśoka the Maurya.'<sup>3</sup> Among local names it mentions Gīrinagara, i.e. the town of Junāgarh or its ancient representative, and Ūrjayat, i.e. the mountain now called Gīrnār.<sup>4</sup> The third inscription on the boulder is dated in the reign of the Gupta king Skandagupta and records further repairs of the lake Sudarśana made in A.D. 456-7 by Chakrapālita, the son of Paṇḍadatta who was governor of Surāshṭra.<sup>5</sup>

The Aśoka inscription occupies the north-east face of the boulder. The fourteen edicts are arranged in two columns and divided from one another by straight lines. As may be seen on the third of the plates issued with Wilson's article in JRAS, 12. 153 ff., the left column consists of edicts I to V and the right one of edicts VI to XII; and edicts XIII and XIV are placed below V and XII. When Major James Tod visited Gīrnār in December 1822, the inscription seems to have been intact.<sup>1</sup> Subsequently portions of edicts V and XIII were blasted with gunpowder by the workmen of a pious merchant who constructed a causeway from Junāgaṛh to Gīrnār.<sup>2</sup> At the recommendation of the late Dr. Burgess a shed has been specially built to protect the boulder from the sun and rain.

<sup>4</sup> EI, 8. 42. The later (Prākṛit) form of Ūrjayat is Ujjayanta. Cf. Hēmachandra's Anēkārtihasaṅgraha, III, 279, and his Abhidhānachintāmaṇi, IV, 97; ASWI, 2. 154 ff., and 8. 328 ff.; Tawney's translation of Mērutuṅga's Prabandhachintāmaṇi, Index. Another name of the Gīrnār mountain is Raivata or Raivataka. See e.g. Hēmachandra's two Kōśas, loc. cit.; Māgha's Śiśupālavadha, IV, 1; GN, 1921. 41.

The first decipherment of the Brāhmī alphabet and, with it, of the Gīrnār inscription, is due to the learning and ingenuity of James Prinsep.<sup>3</sup> His transcript and translation were based on tracings on cloth which had been taken in 1835 by Captain Lang for the Rev. Dr. J. Wilson of Bombay.<sup>4</sup> Fresh copies were made by Lieutenant Postans and Captain Lang in 1838,<sup>5</sup> and by Captain (afterwards General) Le Grand Jacob and Professor Westergaard in 1842.<sup>6</sup> These materials were utilized by Mr. E. Norris for drawing up an improved plate of the Gīrnār inscription, from which Professor H. H. Wilson's transcript and translation in JRAS, vol. 12 (1850), were made. No better materials were available to three other scholars who examined the Gīrnār version, viz. Professor Chr. Lassen (Indische Altertumskunde), E. Burnouf (Lotus de la Bonne Loi; Paris, 1852), and Professor H. Kern (Over de Jaartelling der Zuidelijke Buddhisten en de Gedenkstukken van Aśoka den Buddhist; Amsterdam, 1873).

The first perfectly mechanical estampages of the Gīrnār edicts were prepared in 1875 by Dr. J. Burgess. These were reproduced by collotype in 1876 in ASWI, 2. 98 ff., and also in IA, 5. 257 ff., with an English translation of Kern's Dutch versions of part of the edicts.

A complete edition of the Gīrnār edicts is included in Senart's Inscriptions de Piyadasi, vol. I. An abridged English translation of his work appeared in IA, vols. 9 and 10. In JA (8), 12. 311 ff., Senart added the results of his inspection of the Gīrnār rock in situ. Bühler published a number of corrections and the text of edict XIII in his Beiträge zur Erklärung der Aśoka-Inschriften (ZDMG, vols. 37-48), and the full text of the Gīrnār version in EI, 2. 447 ff. The plates which accompany this article are much clearer than those issued in 1876, but seem to have been touched up by hand. A Collection of Prakrit and Sanskrit Inscriptions printed at Bhavnagar (without year) contains the text, Sanskrit and English translations, and facsimiles, of the Gīrnār edicts.

Two fragments of the lost portion of edict XIII were recovered recently and are now preserved in the Junāgaṛh Museum.<sup>7</sup> Both of them were discussed by Senart (JRAS, 1900. 335 ff.), and the second of them also by Bühler (VOJ, 8. 318 ff.). Both pieces are shown in the plate which accompanies my transcript of edict XIII.

As regards the Brāhmī alphabet of the Gīrnār inscription I can refer the reader to Bühler's Indian Paleography, edited by Fleet (IA, vol. 33, Appendix), § 16. The chief peculiarity of the Gīrnār alphabet is the addition of the horizontal bar, marking the length of initial ā, at the top of a, while it is elsewhere attached to the middle of the letter. The formation of groups of consonants, and the peculiar way in which the letter r is expressed in combination with other consonants, will be discussed in the chapter on the Gīrnār dialect (below, p. lviii. f.).

II. THE KĀLSĪ ROCK (Text, p. 27).

This set of the fourteen edicts is engraved near Kālsī, a town in the Chakrātā taluk of the Dehra Dūn district of the United Provinces. About one and a half miles to the north of Kālsī 'is a huge boulder of quartz on the western bank of the Jumna, just above the junction of the Tons river, and about fifteen miles to the west of Mussooree.'

'The block is 10 feet long and 10 feet high, and about 8 feet thick at bottom. The south-eastern face has been smoothed, but rather unevenly, as it follows the undulations of the original surface. The main inscription is engraved on this smoothed surface, which measures 5 feet in height, with a breadth of 5½ feet at top, which increases towards the bottom to 7 feet 10½ inches. The deeper hollows and cracks have been left uninscribed, and the lines of letters are undulating and uneven. Towards the bottom, beginning with the tenth edict, the letters increase in size until they become about thrice as large as those of the upper part. Owing either to this enlargement of the letters, or, perhaps, to the latter part of the inscription being of later date, the prepared surface was too small for the whole record, which was therefore completed on the left-hand side of the rock. On the right-hand side an elephant is traced 'in outline.'

'When first found by Mr. Forrest early in 1860, the letters of the inscription were hardly visible, the whole surface being encrusted with the dark moss of ages; but on removing this black film, the surface becomes nearly as white as marble.'

Senari's edition of the Kālsī text in his Inscriptions de Piyadasi, vol. I, was based on Cunningham's eye-copy of the inscription. Bühler published both the text and a translation from a rubbing supplied by Cunningham (ZDMG, vols. 37 and 40), and a revised version of the text of edict XIII from an impression prepared by Burgess (id., 43, 162 ff.). A collotype of the first half of Cunningham's rubbing was issued with ZDMG, vol. 39. In El. 2, 447 ff., Bühler re-edited the Kālsī text, which was accompanied by reproductions of inked estampages by Burgess.

The Kālsī alphabet exhibits the following chief peculiarities. The letter kh has a loop at the bottom; see Bühler's Ind. Pal., plate 2, No. 10, columns II and III. A similar loop is found occasionally in the centre of j (id., No. 15, column III) and of s (id., No. 39, column VII). The end of an edict is marked by a symbol resembling a crescent. From edict X the characters get larger, and the two letters ś and śh are frequently used. The former of these occurs already twice in edict IV, l. 13,<sup>1</sup> and the second twice in the Queen's edict on the Allahabad-Kōsam pillar, ll. 1 and 4, once on the Sarnāth pillar, l. 10, and once at Maski, l. 2. In a few lines of the first part of the Kālsī inscription (29, 33-36, 39) the punctuation mark ḥ, which occurs once in each of ll. 13, 25, 31, is employed many times. The same mark is found in the Sahasrām and Maski rock-inscriptions.

III. THE SHAHBĀZGARHĪ ROCK (Text, p. 50).

While the alphabet of the two preceding sets of the fourteen edicts is the Brāhmī, this one is written in those north-western cursive characters running from the right to the left which used to be called Indo-Bactrian or Ariano-Pāli, but to which Bühler restored the indigenous name Kharōṣṭhī. The honour of the decipherment of this alphabet is divided between Prinsep, Lassen, Norris, and Cunningham.<sup>2</sup> A number of Kharōshthī letters had been already identified from bilingual coins of the Indo-Grecian and Indo-Scythian kings, before the Shāhbāzgarhī inscription was discovered.

Shāhbāzgarhī is a village on the Makām river, nine miles from Mardān, the headquarters of the Yūsufzai subdivision of the Peshāvar district of the North-West Frontier Province. The inscription is about half a mile distant from this village and two miles from the village of Kapurdagarhī.<sup>1</sup> It is engraved on a large shapeless mass of trap rock, lying about 80 feet up the slope of the hill, with its western face looking downwards towards the village of Shāhbāzgarhī.<sup>2</sup> The edicts I to XI are on the east face (edict VII being entered on the left at the top of the rock), and the edicts XIII and XIV are on the west face. Edict XII is engraved on a separate boulder, which is now enclosed within a wall.

M. (afterwards General) Court, of Mahārāja Ranjit Singh's service, first notified the existence of a Kharōshthī inscription near Shāhbāzgarhī in 1836 and gave a few letters copied by himself. In 1838 Captain Burnes, being at Peshāvar, sent an agent to Shāhbāzgarhī, who returned with an imperfect paper impression. In the same year Mr. C. Masson obtained through a young man a partial impression on calico. He then proceeded to the spot himself and prepared fresh copies.<sup>3</sup> His zeal deserves much praise, as at that time a journey through such an unpacified tract involved considerable personal risk. Masson's materials were brought to Europe and examined by Norris, who first read in them the word Devanāpiyasa. With the help of this discovery, Dowson ascertained that the portion of which a facsimile is given in JRAS, 8 (1846). 303, is a duplicate of edict VII of the Girnār inscription. Norris further found that the front of the rock contained the edicts I to XI, and traced on the back of it portions of edict XIII. He also published the text of edict VII (id., p. 306 f.). In 1850 Wilson contributed a tentative transcript of both faces of the Shāhbāzgarhī rock, accompanied by plates drawn by Norris from Masson's copies (id., 12. 153 ff.). An independent eye-copy of the Shāhbāzgarhī inscription was prepared by Cunningham (Inscriptions of Asoka, p. 10).

Senart's transcript in his Inscriptions de Piyadasi, vol. I, had still to be based on the same imperfect materials. Pandit Bhagvanlal Indraji furnished transcripts of the Shāhbāzgarhī and other versions of edict I (IA, 10. 107) and of edict VIII (JBBRAS, 15. 284). After the return from a trip to India, Senart published the results of his examination of edicts I to XI in situ (JA (8), 11. 521 ff.). The missing edict XII was discovered on a separate boulder by Captain Deane and edited both by Senart (id., p. 511 ff.) and by Bühler (EI, 1. 16 ff.). The latter published the whole Shāhbāzgarhī version in ZDMG, 43. 128 ff., and a fresh transcript and a translation of it in EI, 2. 447 ff., from estampages by Burgess. The only portions of which mechanical copies have been made public so far are edict VII (ZDMG, vol. 43) and edict XII (EI, 1. 16).

IV. THE MANSEHRA ROCK (Text, p. 71).

Like the Shāhbāzgarhī version this set of the fourteen edicts is written in the Kharōshthī alphabet. Mānsehrā is the head-quarters of a tahsīl in the Hazāra district of the North-West Frontier Province. The inscription is found to the north of the village and is engraved on three boulders. Of these, the first bears edicts I to VIII, the second edicts IX to XI on its north face and edict XII on its south face, and the third edicts XIII and XIV. The two first inscribed stones were discovered by Cunningham,<sup>1</sup> and the third in 1889 by a native subordinate of the Panjāb Archaeological Survey.<sup>2</sup>

Senart was the first to transcribe edict XII (JA (8), 11 (1888), 511 ff.) and, from insufficient materials, portions of edicts I to XI (id., 12, 319 ff.). Bühler edited the whole Mānselhrā version first in ZDMG (43, 273 ff., and 44, 702 ff.), and a second time in EI (2, 447 ff.), from estampages by Burgess. JA (8), vol. 12 contains three plates reproduced from Cunningham's casts of edicts I to XII. These are so indistinct that they must be pronounced useless.

V. THE DHAULI ROCK (Text, p. 84).

Dhauli is a village in the Khurdā subdivision of the Purī district, Orissa, about seven miles south of Bhuvanēśvar. The inscribed rock near the village was discovered in 1837 by Lieutenant Kittoe, who calls it 'Aswastama'.<sup>3</sup> It 'is situated on a rocky eminence forming one of a cluster of hills, three in number, on the south bank of the Dyah river.'

'The hills before alluded to rise abruptly from the plains and occupy a space of about five furlongs by three; they have a singular appearance from their isolated position, no other hills being nearer than eight or ten miles. They are apparently volcanic, and composed of upheaved breccia with quartzose rock intermixed.'

'The Aswastama is situated on the northern face of the southernmost rock near its summit; the rock has been hewn and polished for a space of fifteen feet long by ten in height, and the inscription deeply cut thereon.'

'Immediately above the inscription is a terrace sixteen feet by fourteen, on the right side of which (as you face the inscription) is the fore half of an elephant, four feet high, of superior workmanship; the whole is hewn out of the solid rock.'<sup>4</sup>

While Prinsep was examining a lithograph of Kittoe's copies, he found that the greater part of the Dhauli inscription was identical with the Gīrnār edicts (JASB, 7, 157). He further ascertained that the Dhauli rock omits edicts XI to XIII of the Gīrnār version, but compensates for them by two separate edicts (id., p. 219).<sup>5</sup> These two he edited with a tentative translation (id., p. 438 ff.), adding Kittoe's lithograph of the whole Dhauli inscription (id., plate 10). As may be seen on this plate, the inscription is arranged in three columns. The middle column contains edicts I to VI, and the right column edicts VII to X and XIV,<sup>6</sup> and below them, within a border of straight lines, the second separate edict, while the first separate edict occupies the whole of the left column.

Cunningham<sup>6</sup> showed that it would be more correct to exchange the two designations 'first and second separate edict': the separate edict engraved in continuation of edict XIV ought to be called No. I, and the one engraved separately on the left No. II. This order is confirmed by the Jaugaḍa rock (No. VII, below) where Prinsep's No. II is actually placed above No. I. But as all editors (besides Kern) have followed

Prinsep's arrangement, a change of numbers would now lead to much confusion, and it will be sufficient to keep in mind that the separate edict No. I was engraved after No. II.

The two separate edicts were re-edited and translated by Burnouf (Lotus, p. 671 ff.) and, from Cunningham's copies, by Kern (JRAS, 1880. 379 ff.). Senart's edition of them<sup>1</sup> was based on estampages by Burgess. The same applies to Bühler's editions of the Dhauḷi version. He published the whole of it twice: once in German (ZDMG, 39. 489 ff., and 41. 1 ff.) and once in English (ASSI, 1. 114 ff.). His second edition is accompanied by photo-lithographs (plates 64-66).

VI. THE JAUGAḌA ROCK (Text, p. 101).

A duplicate of the Dhauḷi edicts is engraved at Jaugaḍa, a ruined fort in the Berhampur tāḷuka of the Ganjām district, Madras, about eighteen miles north-west of Ganjām town, on the northern bank of the Rishikulya river.

The inscribed rock 'is situated in what appears to have once been an extensive but now deserted town, surrounded by the debris of a lofty wall.'

'The rock is part of a large mass of rock or rocks, rising to various heights, and covering a large space of ground, I should say many thousand square yards.'<sup>2</sup>

'The Jaugaḍa inscriptions are written on three different tablets on the vertical face of the rock.'

'The first tablet contained the first five edicts, but about one-half has been utterly lost by the peeling away of the rock.'

'The second tablet comprised the next five edicts, namely, 6 to 10, to which was added the 14th or closing edict of the other versions. About one-third of this tablet has been lost by the peeling away of the rock.'

'The third tablet contained the two separate or additional edicts which are found at Dhauḷi.'

'These two additional edicts are enclosed in a frame which separates them from the collected series of Aśoka's edicts.'

'The separation of these two edicts is more distinctly marked by the accompaniment of the svastika symbol at each of the upper corners of the upper inscription, and of the letter m at the upper corners of the lower inscription.'<sup>3</sup>

'Copies of the inscriptions were taken in 1850 by the present Sir Walter Elliot, who was perfectly aware that they contained only another version of Aśoka's edicts, which had already been found at Shāhbāzgarhī, Girnār, and Dhauḷi.'<sup>4</sup>

Thanks to orders of the Government of Madras, the rock is now protected by an iron roof and railing.

The two separate edicts of Jaugaḍa were edited with those of Dhauḷi by Professor Kern. The first purely mechanical estampages of the rock were prepared by Burgess. On these Senart's edition of the two separate edicts was based.<sup>5</sup> Bühler published edicts I to X and XIV from a photograph by Mr. Minchin (ZDMG, vols. 37 and 40) and the two separate edicts from Burgess's estampages (id., 41. 1 ff.). ## VII. THE BOMBAY-SOPARA FRAGMENT (Text, p. 118).

Sōpārā is an ancient town in the Bassein tāluka of the Thāna district, Bombay. There Pandit Bhagvanlal Indraji discovered in 1882 a broken block of basalt bearing about one-third of the eighth rock-edict of Aśōka. The existing fragment suggests that a complete set of his edicts must have been engraved near Sōpārā.

'The stone was found near the Bhātelā pond to the east of the town close to the old landing-place.'<sup>1</sup>

The Pandit published a tracing and transcript of the fragment, along with the text of five other versions of edict VIII. The original stone is now preserved in the Museum of the Bombay Asiatic Society.

SECOND PART: THE PILLAR-EDICTS

This term is meant to comprise the Aśōka inscriptions on the Delhi-Tōprā pillar and on the five other pillars which bear six of the seven edicts inscribed on it. The minor pillar-inscriptions will be treated separately in the third part. The 'Queen's edict' and the 'Kauśāmbī edict', however, are included in the second part, because they are inscribed on the Allahabad-Kōsam column which bears also six of the chief pillar-edicts.

I. THE DELHI-TOPRA PILLAR (Text, p. 119).

This famous monument 'is a single shaft of pale pinkish sandstone, 42 feet 7 inches in length, of which the upper portion, 35 feet in length, has received a very high polish, while the remainder is left quite rough.'<sup>2</sup> It used to be known by the names of 'Bhīma-sēna's pillar', 'Golden pillar', 'Fīrōz Shāh's pillar', and 'Delhi-Siwālik pillar'. Shams-i Sirāj, a historian of Fīrōz Shāh (A.D. 1351-88), informs us that it stood originally 'in the village of Tobra, in the district of Sālaura and Khizrābād, in the hills';<sup>3</sup> that Sultan Fīrōz had it carried to Delhi; and that he erected it again on the top of his palace at Fīrōzābād. From Tobra near Khizrābād, which was ninety kōs from Delhi, the column was carried on a truck with forty-two wheels to the bank of the Jamnā, whence it was floated down the river to Fīrōzābād (Delhi) on a number of large boats.

Cunningham (Arch. Reports, 14. 78 f.) identified the village of Tobra, where the pillar stood originally, with the present Tōprā, on the direct line between Ambālā and Sirsāvā, eighteen miles to the south of Sādhōrā, and twenty-two miles to the south-west of Khizrābād. The pillar is standing to the present day on the roof of the three-storied citadel (kōṭlā) of Fīrōz Shāh outside the 'Delhi Gate' to the south-east of modern Delhi.<sup>4</sup> An elevation of the building, with the pillar on the top of it, was published in 1788 in the first volume of the Asiatic Researches, p. 379, and a sketch of it in 1803 in vol. 7, p. 175, plate 4.

The Delhi-Tōprā pillar bears seven edicts of Aśoka, of which the last and longest is unique, while other specimens of the first six edicts have been discovered elsewhere. The first six edicts and the eleven first lines of the seventh edict are arranged in four columns on the north, west, south, and east faces of the pillar; the eleven remaining lines of the seventh edict run all round the pillar.

Besides the Aśoka edicts and several minor records of pilgrims and travellers,<sup>1</sup> the pillar bears three short inscriptions of the Chāhamāna Viśaladōva of Śākambarī, son of Ānalladēva (EI, 9. 67, n. 5), dated A.D. 1164, which have been edited last by Kielhorn from Fleet's impressions (IA, 19. 215 ff.).

The Delhi-Tōprā pillar-inscription is the first record of Aśoka that was read and translated in 1837 by Prinsep (JASB, 6. 566 ff.). Facsimiles of this inscription had been in the possession of the Asiatic Society of Bengal 'since its very foundation, without any successful attempt having been made to decipher them' (id., p. 566).

'On searching the Society's portfolio' Prinsep 'found the five original manuscript plates of Captain Hoare, whence the engravings published in the Researches<sup>2</sup> seem to have been copied.'

'I found also two much larger drawings of the first and last inscription of the series, apparently of the actual dimensions.—These I suppose to have been the originals presented to Sir William Jones by Colonel Polier, and therefore of themselves venerable for their antiquity!' (id., p. 567).<sup>3</sup>

The ingenious manner in which Prinsep succeeded in deciphering the ancient Brāhmī alphabet deserves to be recorded here in his own words:

'In laying open a discovery of this nature, some little explanation is generally expected of the means by which it has been attained. Like most other inventions, when once found it appears extremely simple; and, as in most others, accident, rather than study, has had the merit of solving the enigma which has so long baffled the learned.'

'While arranging and lithographing the numerous scraps of facsimiles for Plate XXVII,<sup>4</sup> I was struck at their all terminating with the same two letters, दानं. Coupling this circumstance with their extreme brevity and insulated position, which proved that they could not be fragments of a continuous text, it immediately occurred [to me] that they must record either obituary notices, or more probably the offerings and presents of votaries, as is shown to be the present custom in the Buddhist temples of Ava; where numerous dhvajās or flag-staffs, images, and small chailās are crowded within the enclosure, surrounding the chief cupola, each bearing the name of the donor. The next point noted was the frequent occurrence of the letter स, already set down incontestably as s, before the final word:—now this I had learnt from the Saurāshṭra coins, deciphered only a day or two before, to be one sign of the genitive case singular, being the ssa of the Pāli, or śya of the Sanskrit. "Of so and so the gift", must then be the form of each brief sentence; and the vowel ā and Anusvāra led to the speedy recognition of the word dānanī (gift), teaching me the very two letters, d and n, most different from known forms, and which had foiled me most in my former attempts. Since 1834 also my acquaintance with ancient alphabets had become so familiar that most of the remaining letters in the present examples could be named at once on re-inspection. In the course of a few minutes I thus became possessed of the whole alphabet, which I tested by applying it to the inscription on the Delhi column' (id., p. 460 f.).

The first four edicts were examined by Burnouf in his Lotus, and the fourth and sixth by Kern in his Jaartelling. Senart's edition and translation of the Delhi-Tōprā pillar-edicts in his Inscriptions de Piyadasi (2. 1 ff.) were based on Cunningham's eye-copies. In 1884 Fleet issued excellent photo-lithographs, to which Bühler added transcripts in the Nāgarī character (IA, 13. 306 ff.), and which were utilized in Sir George Grierson's English translation of Senart's French article (IA, vols. 17 and 18). Finally Bühler edited and translated the seven pillar-edicts twice, in German (ZDMG, vols. 45 and 46) and in English (EI, 2. 245 ff.).

II. THE DELHI-MIRATH PILLAR (Text, p. 137).

This pillar now stands on the so-called 'Ridge' to the north-west of modern Delhi.<sup>1</sup> Like the Delhi-Tōprā pillar, it was carried to Delhi by Fīrōz Shāh. Shams-i-Sirāj tells us that it stood before in the vicinity of Mīrāth, now a town and the head-quarters of a district of the United Provinces, and that Fīrōz Shāh re-erected it at Delhi on a hill in the Kushk-i-Shikār or 'Hunting-Palace',<sup>2</sup> which is known to have been situated on the Ridge.<sup>3</sup>

The pillar bears, besides some modern scribblings,<sup>4</sup> a more or less damaged version of the first five edicts of the Delhi-Tōprā pillar. A lithograph of its inscription was published by Prinsep in JASB, vol. 6 (1837), plate 42, from impressions forwarded by Major P. L. Pew, who added the following particulars:

'This very ancient Hindu pillar was dug out of some ruins near a well, and was probably destroyed by the blowing up of a powder magazine which I understand once existed near the spot. It consists of five pieces.'

'The pillar is sandstone, and to its perishable nature is to be attributed the imperfect state of the inscriptions' (id., p. 795).

Padre Tieffenthaler, who visited Delhi towards the middle of the eighteenth century, already saw the same five pieces lying on the top of the Ridge, and also ascribed the destruction of the pillar to gunpowder.<sup>5</sup>

'There the five pieces remained undisturbed for upwards of a century, when the inscribed portion was' sawn off<sup>6</sup> and 'sent down to Calcutta to the Museum of the Asiatic Society. Within the last few years this piece has been returned to Delhi, and the pillar has again been set up in its old position.'<sup>7</sup>

IA, vol. 19 contains a facsimile of the Delhi-Mīrāth pillar-edicts by Fleet with transcripts by Bühler (p. 122 ff.), who reprinted the text twice, in ZDMG (vols. 45 and 46) and in EI (2. 245 ff.).

A fragment bearing portions of the two last lines of the sixth edict was offered to the British Museum in 1913. Its dimensions render it very probable that it belonged originally to the Delhi-Mīrāth pillar.

III and IV. THE LAURIYA-ARARAJ AND LAURIYA-NANDANGARH PILLARS (Text, pp. 141 and 145).

The inscriptions on these two pillars were already known to Prinsep when he edited the Delhi-Tōprā pillar-edicts in 1837 (JASB, 6. 566 ff.). Both pillars bear the first six edicts, the first four on the east face and the last two on the west face. Mr. B. H. Hodgson had called them the Radhia and Mathiah pillars.<sup>1</sup> Cunningham ascertained that the villages of Radhia and Mathiah are 2½ and three miles distant from them, and proposed to call them the Lauriyā-Ararāj and Lauriyā-Navandgarh pillars.<sup>2</sup> His reasons were the following: Each of the two pillars stands near a village named Lauriyā, the former of which is in the Champāran district, North Bihār, twenty miles NW. of Kēsariyā, while the second is fifteen miles NNW. of Betiyā in the same district. Both names are derived from the pillars themselves, which were mistaken by the people for līngas (Hindī lauṛā). To distinguish the two different villages of Lauriyā, Cunningham combined with the former Ararāj, the name of a neighbouring temple of Śiva, and with the second Navandgarh, the name of a ruined fort in its vicinity. V. A. Smith (JRAS, 1902. 153, note) added that 'Navandgarh' is a mistake for 'Nandangarh'.

The Lauriyā-Nandangarh pillar 'is formed of a single block of polished sandstone, 32 feet 9½ inches in height.'

'The capital, which is 6 feet 10 inches in height, is bell-shaped, with a circular abacus supporting the statue of a lion facing the north. The abacus is ornamented with a row of Brahmani geese pecking their food.'<sup>5</sup>

Besides the Aśoka edicts, the pillar bears a record of the emperor Aurangzib and a few modern scribbings. It is now worshipped as a symbol of Śiva, and its erection is ascribed to the Pāṇḍava Bhīma.<sup>6</sup>

Bühler edited the inscriptions of the Lauriyā-Ararāj and Lauriyā-Nandangarh pillars twice, in ZDMG (vols. 45 and 46) and in EI (2. 245 ff.). His second article was accompanied by photo-lithographs of Mr. Garrick's impressions.

V. THE RAMPURVA PILLAR (Text, p. 151).

Another copy of the first six edicts is engraved on a lion-pillar of polished sandstone, which was discovered by Mr. Carleyle at Rāmpurvā in the Champāran district, 32½ miles north of Betiyā.<sup>7</sup> The relative positions of Lauriyā-Ararāj, Lauriyā-Nandangarh, and Rāmpurvā are shown on V. A. Smith's sketch map in JRAS, 1902. 162, and on plate I of Cunningham's Arch. Reports, vol. 16.

<sup>1</sup> See JASB, 3 (1834). 481 ff., where a drawing of the Mathiah pillar and a lithograph of its inscription are given (plates 27 and 29). The first lithograph of the Radhia pillar appeared in vol. 4 (1835), p. 124, plate 7.

'The pillar has fallen down, and is now lying partly in water.<sup>1</sup> The upper part of the lion is gone, but the lower part of the animal, with the bell capital and circular abacus with the well-known geese and conventional flowers, is still in very fair condition. The capital was fixed to the shaft by a massive copper bolt.'<sup>2</sup>

Mr. Garrick prepared impressions of that side of the pillar which could then be reached. Bühler's transcripts of them (ZDMG, vols. 45 and 46; EI, 2. 245 ff., with photo-lithograph) show that it contained portions of the first four edicts.

To Sir John Marshall we are indebted for complete impressions of the six edicts and for the discovery of the missing lion-capital.<sup>3</sup> The length of the shaft was found to be 44 feet 9½ inches, of which 8 feet 9 inches are left rough-dressed, having originally been buried in the ground. As on the two Lauriyā pillars, the inscription is divided into two columns on opposite faces of the pillar.

The pillar has now been removed some 200 yards from its former position and lies horizontally on a small mound. To protect the inscription from the weather, a small brick shed has been erected over the centre of the pillar.<sup>4</sup>

VI. THE ALLAHABAD-KOSAM PILLAR (Text, p. 155).

This pillar now stands inside the fort at Allahabad. It 'is a single shaft of polished sandstone 35 feet in length.'<sup>5</sup> 'Its total length, including the base, is forty-two feet seven inches.'<sup>6</sup>

Habent sua fata columnae! The history of the Allahabad pillar is as chequered and curious as that of the two Delhi pillars. On examination it is found to contain on it four strata of literary records:

- (1) The original inscriptions of Aśoka, viz.:
  - (a) the first six edicts of the Delhi-Tōprā pillar;
  - (b) the so-called 'Queen's edict' (to the right of 2);
  - (c) the so-called 'Kauśāmbī edict' (above b).
- (2) An inscription of the Mahārājādhirāja Samudragupta (below 1).
- (3) An interlineation in Nāgarī characters.
- (4) An inscription of the emperor Jahāngīr.

A sketch of the pillar by Captain James Hoare and a rough copy of portions of its inscriptions appeared in 1801 in the Asiatic Researches, vol. 7, plates 13 and 14. In 1834 Lieutenant T. S. Burt published, at Prinsep's request, drawings of the pillar (JASB, vol. 3, plate 3), which was then lying on the ground, having been taken down by Colonel Kyd in 1804.<sup>7</sup> 'The common legend of the natives', he says, 'states the pillar to be the gadā or staff of Bhīmasēna' (p. 105). Prinsep added a lithograph of Burt's copies of the Aśoka inscriptions and a classified table of letters (plates 4 and 5). Although yet unable to read the alphabet, he very shrewdly guessed the actual value of post-consonantal ā, e, and Anusvāra.

Six months later he recognised the consonants y, v, s (p. 485), and three years after he deciphered the six Aśoka edicts, together with those of the Delhi-Tōprā pillar.<sup>1</sup>

'The capital of the column was no doubt of the usual bell-shape of Aśoka's other pillars, but of this there is now no trace. The circular abacus, however, still remains, with its graceful scroll of alternate lotus and honeysuckle, resting on a beaded astragalus of Greek origin. This was once surmounted by the statue of a lion;<sup>2</sup> but the lion must have disappeared many centuries ago, as when the pillar was re-erected by Jahāngīr in A.D. 1605, it was crowned by a globe, surmounted by a cone, as described and sketched by Padre Tieffenthaler in the middle of the next century.'<sup>3</sup>

In 1838 the pillar was set up again by Captain Edward Smith and provided with a newly designed lion which, according to Cunningham (Arch. Reports, I. 300), looks 'not unlike a stuffed poodle stuck on the top of an inverted flower pot.'

As regards the set of six edicts (1, a), 'the present confused appearance of it is due chiefly to the later inscriptions [3] that have been engraved between the original lines of writing. The most serious damage that has been done to it is due to seven entire lines and the greater part of the eighth, line 16, having been entirely destroyed to make room for a circular inscription of Jahāngīr [4].'<sup>4</sup> IA, vol. 13 contains a facsimile of the six edicts by Fleet and a Nāgarī transcript by Bühler (p. 306 ff.), who reprinted the text twice, in ZDMG (vols. 45 and 46) and in EI (2. 245 ff.).

The Queen's edict (1, b) was already transcribed and translated by Prinsep,<sup>5</sup> while the Kauśāmbī edict (1, c) was first noticed by Cunningham.<sup>6</sup> Both were edited by Senart<sup>7</sup> and, with Fleet's facsimiles, by Bühler (IA, 19. 122 ff.). The Kauśāmbī edict was re-edited by A.-M. Boyer.<sup>8</sup>

The Kauśāmbī edict is addressed to the Mahāmātras at Kōsambī (Kauśāmbī in Sanskrit). Cunningham concluded from this that the Allahabad pillar must have been originally erected by Aśoka at Kauśāmbī,<sup>9</sup> which is the modern Kōsam on the left bank of the Jamnā, about twenty-eight miles west by south from Allahabad.<sup>10</sup> He further suggested that the removal of the pillar from Kōsam to Allahabad was perhaps due to Firōz Shāh, who is known to have transported the Tōprā and Mīraṭh pillars to Delhi. But, while Delhi was the capital of Firōz Shāh, Allahabad was founded, or rather refounded, two centuries after him by Akbar.<sup>11</sup> This ruler may have removed from Kōsam the Allahabad pillar, on which inscriptions of his favourite Bīrbal<sup>12</sup> and of his son Jahāngīr are engraved. In this case the pillar would have been still standing at Kōsam when the inscription of Samudragupta (2) was incised on it. This record was last edited by Fleet in his Gupta Inscriptions, No. 1; it refers to 'this lofty pillar' (ayam uchchhritāḥ stambhaḥ, l. 30).

THIRD PART: MINOR PILLAR-INSRIPTIONS

I. THE SAMCHI PILLAR (Text, p. 160).

Sāmchī<sup>3</sup> is an ancient site in the Bhōpāl State, Central India,  $5\frac{1}{2}$  miles from Bhilsā and about  $\frac{3}{4}$  mile from the Sanchi railway station. The Aśōka pillar 'is only a fragment of a large polished shaft; but near it there still lies a beautiful broken capital crowned by four lions, which, no doubt, once surmounted it.'<sup>4</sup> It is now lying in the jungle; but apparently it stood originally near the south gate of the great Sāmchī Stūpa.<sup>5</sup>

The beginning of the inscription on the pillar is lost, and the first preserved line is badly damaged. A facsimile was published by Burgess in EI, 2. 369. The record was edited and translated by Bühler (id., p. 366 f.) and by Boyer (IA (10), 10. 123 ff. and 141), and re-examined by myself (JRAS, 1911. 167 ff., and 1912. 1055 f.).

II. THE SARNATH PILLAR (Text, p. 161).

Sārṇāth, about  $3\frac{1}{2}$  miles to the north of Benares, is believed to be the site of one of the most memorable events in the career of the Buddha: it adjoins the Migadāya (i. e. 'deer-park') at Isipatana in which he preached his first sermon.<sup>6</sup> Here Mr. F. O. Oertel discovered a broken pillar of polished sandstone which bears an edict of Aśōka.<sup>7</sup> He found also the former capital of the column, which 'is surmounted by four magnificent lions standing back to back, and in their middle was a large stone wheel, the sacred dharmachakra symbol', of which only fragments remain. 'The lions stand on a drum with four animal figures carved on it, viz. a lion, an elephant, a bull, and a horse, placed between four wheels. The upper part of the capital is supported by an elegantly shaped Persepolitan bell-shaped member.'

In the opinion of a competent judge 'it would be difficult to find in any country an example of ancient animal sculpture superior or even equal to this beautiful work of art, which successfully combines realistic modelling with ideal dignity, and is finished in every detail with perfect accuracy.'<sup>8</sup>

The Chinese traveller, Hiuen Tsiang, saw on the site of the Migadāya a stone pillar which stood in front of a Stūpa built by Aśōkarāja, and which was about 70 feet high.<sup>9</sup>

As Oertel (op. cit., p. 69) has calculated the actual height of the Sārnāth pillar at about 37 feet above ground, Hiuen Tsiang seems to have overestimated its height, unless he refers to a different pillar.

Unfortunately the three top lines of the inscription are broken away, and the fourth line is badly damaged. But Oertel succeeded in recovering three inscribed fragments which, as Professor Vogel has proved, contain the two first akṣaras of each of lines 1-3, and the end of lines 3 and 4 (EI, 8. 166 f.). The remainder of the inscription was found in situ underground, and is in a state of nearly perfect preservation.

The stump of the pillar bears also two short records of a later date : an inscription of king Aśvaghōṣa which is engraved in continuation of the last line of the Aśōka edict, and a Buddhist inscription in early Gupta characters above the Aśvaghōṣa epigraph. These three records were first published, with collotypes, by Vogel in EI, 8. 166 ff., and the Aśōka edict was re-edited by Boyer (JA (10), 10. 119 ff.), Senart (CR, 1907. 25 ff.), and Venis (JPASB, 3. 1 ff.). See also my remarks in JRAS, 1912. 1053 ff.

III. THE RUMMINDEI PILLAR (Text, p. 164).

In December 1896 Dr. Führer found a pillar bearing an inscription of Aśōka about thirteen miles south-east of the Nigāli Sāgar pillar (below, No. IV) in the Nepalese Tarāi. The pillar stands near the shrine of Rummindōi, about a mile to the north of the village of Paṛariyā, which is about two miles north of Bhagvānpur, the head-quarters of the Nepalese tahsīl of that name, and about five miles to the north-east of Dulhā in the British district of Bastī.<sup>1</sup>

The new Aśōka pillar is a mere stump, but still in situ and surrounded by a brick railing. 'It is of hard sandstone of the usual yellowish colour, and rises to a height of 21 feet or so.'<sup>2</sup> The inscription on it was edited, with facsimile, by Bühler in 1898,<sup>3</sup> and records that Aśōka visited the spot and erected the pillar 'because the Buddha Śākyamuni was born here', and that the king exempted the village of Lumbini from taxes.

Both Lumbini and the modern name Rummindēi must be identical with the Lumbinī grove, the traditional site of the Buddha's birth.<sup>4</sup> This identification is confirmed by Hiuen Tsiang, who mentions a pillar set up by Aśōkarāja in the Lumbinī garden, and near the pillar the 'river of oil',<sup>5</sup> which is now called Tilār-nadī, i.e. apparently 'the tēli's or oilman's river'.<sup>6</sup> He further states that the pillar bore on the top the figure of a horse, and that it had been struck by lightning and broken off in the middle. This agrees with Mukherji's description of the Rummindēi pillar (p. 34). He tells us that 'its upper portion is gone, and of what remains the top is split into two halves, the line of fissure coming down to near the middle height. The capital was of the usual bell-shaped form, of which the base, broken into two halves, exists . . . . The stone horse, which crowned the capital, is gone with the upper portion of the shaft'; but it seems to be alluded to in the inscription itself. Finally, the temple of Rummindēi contains an ancient sculpture which represents the nativity of the Buddha (op. cit., plate 24, a). This is an additional piece of evidence in favour of the identity of the locality with the Lumbini-vana.

IV. THE NIGALI SAGAR PILLAR (Text, p. 165).

In March 1895 another Aśoka pillar of polished sandstone was discovered by Führer in the Nepalese Tarāi on the western bank of a large tank called Nigālī Sāgar, about a mile south of Niglīvā. This village lies about thirteen miles north-west of Rummindēi and belongs to the Nepalese tahsīl of Taulivā (about seven miles north-west of Piprāvā in the British district of Basti).<sup>1</sup>

The pillar is now called Nigālī or 'the smoking-pipe' of Bhīmasēna.<sup>2</sup> It is not in situ, and only two broken portions of it are preserved. The upper piece is about 14 feet 9½ inches long and bears a few mediæval drawings and scribblings. The lower portion is about 10 feet long and bears an inscription of Aśoka in four lines; some letters at the beginning of the two last lines are broken away.<sup>3</sup>

The inscription was first edited by Bühler in VOJ, 9. 175 ff., and again, with facsimile, in EI, 5. 1 ff. It records that Aśoka 'enlarged the Stūpa of the Buddha Kōṇākamana to the double (of its original size)', and that later on he visited the spot in person and erected the pillar.

Hiuen Tsiang seems to mention the Nigālī Sāgar pillar.<sup>4</sup> He states that it stood in front of a Stūpa containing relics of Kanakamuni Buddha, that it was surmounted by a lion, was about 20 feet high (which is less than the length of the two preserved pieces combined), bore an inscription, and had been erected by Aśōkarāja. The Stūpa referred to by Hiuen Tsiang cannot be traced near the spot where the two portions of the pillar have been found.<sup>5</sup>

FOURTH PART: MINOR ROCK-INSCRIPTIONS

I. THE RUPNATH ROCK-INSCRIPTION (Text, p. 166).

Rūpnāth is an out-of-the-way place of pilgrimage in the Central Provinces, fourteen miles west of Sleemanabad railway station<sup>6</sup> on the line from Jabalpur to Katni.

after Sītā. The spot, however, is best known by the name of Rūpnāth, from a linga of Śiva which is placed in a narrow cleft of the rocks on the right.<sup>1</sup>

'The detached boulder, upon which the edict of Aśoka is inscribed, lies just above the west margin of the lower pool under a great tree, the inscription being upon its flat top and near one edge. The rock is one of many that have fallen at some time or another from the cliffs above, and it is possible that it has fallen since the inscription was cut upon it.'<sup>2</sup>

'The edict of Aśoka is inscribed on the upper surface of the rock, which has been worn quite smooth by people sitting upon it for hundreds of years at the annual fairs. It is now of a very dark dirty-red colour, and the inscription might easily escape observation. The lines follow the undulations of the rock, and are neither straight nor parallel with each other. The inscription is  $4\frac{1}{2}$  feet long and 1 foot broad, and consists of six lines, of which the last has only five letters.'<sup>3</sup>

The Rūpnāth edict was copied in 1871-2 by Cunningham (Arch. Reports, 7. 59) and published with a facsimile in 1877 by Bühler (IA, 6. 149 ff.), who re-edited it twice afterwards.<sup>4</sup> Senart's treatment of it is included in his Inscriptions de Piyadasi (2. 165 ff.) and in Sir George Grierson's translation (IA, 20. 154 ff.). Fresh impressions of the inscription were prepared by the late Dr. Bloch.<sup>5</sup>

II. THE SAHASRĀM ROCK-INSRIPTION (Text, p. 169).

Sahasrām is a town and the head-quarters of a subdivision in the Shāhābād district, South Bihār. 'About two miles to the east of the town rises one of the last spurs of the Kaimur range of hills called Chāndan-Pīr, after a Muhammadan saint, who took up his abode on the top of the hill.'<sup>6</sup>

The edict of Aśoka 'is found in an artificial cave a short distance below, which is generally known as the Chirāghdān or 'lamp' of the saint. The roof of the cave is formed by a large projecting mass of rock that has most effectually preserved the greater part of the inscription, which is in excellent order, except in three or four places where the rock has peeled off. The entrance, which is only 4 feet high, is to the west between two built walls. By making an opening in one of these walls, my assistant, Mr. Beglar, obtained a good photograph of the inscription.'<sup>7</sup>

The Sahasrām edict was published three times by Bühler and twice by Senart along with the Rūpnāth one (No. I, above). In editing it the third time (IA, 22. 299), Bühler noted that Beglar's photograph still shows a number of letters which have since disappeared owing to the disintegration of the rock, and which are already missing in Fleet's facsimile (loc. cit.). To the kindness of Sir John Marshall I owe a copy of this valuable photograph, which I have utilized for my transcript of the text.

III. THE BAIRAT ROCK-INSRIPTION (Text, p. 171).

A much damaged version of the Rūpnāth-Sahasrām edict was discovered in 1871-2 by Mr. Carlisle about a mile to the north-east of Bairāt, the head-quarters of a tahsīl in the Jaipur State, Rājputānā, about forty-two miles north-by-north-east of Jaipur City.

'This edict is engraved on a block lying separately, but immediately below the hill locally known as Bhīm-kī-ḍuṅgrī . . . . It is inscribed on the eastern face and near the lower end of the rock.'<sup>1</sup>

The inscribed block 'is 17 feet in height by 24 feet in length from east to west, and 15 feet in thickness from north to south.'<sup>2</sup>

The inscription was edited by Bühler and Senart along with the Rūpnāth and Sahasrām ones (Nos. I and II, above). No facsimile of it has yet been published except Cunningham's eye-copy in his Inscriptions of Asoka, plate 14, No. x.

IV. THE CALCUTTA-BAIRAT ROCK-INSRIPTION (Text, p. 172).

The block which bears this very interesting and valuable record is now preserved in Calcutta by the Asiatic Society of Bengal. It was discovered in 1840 by Captain Burt 'upon a hill lying adjacent to' Bairāt, the town near which some years later Carlleyle found the preceding inscription (No. III). Burt reported that he found the inscription 'on a hard, grey granite block, irregularly shaped, and measuring about two feet in two of its dimensions, and a foot and a half in the third' (JASB, 9. 616). His copy of the inscription was lithographed by Captain Kittoe, and transcribed and translated by the same 'with the aid of the learned Pandit Kamala Kanta' (id., p. 617 and plate).

Burt's copy formed the basis of the editions of Burnouf (Lotus, p. 710 ff.), Kern (Faartelling, p. 32 ff.), and Wilson (JRAS, 16. 357 ff., with lithograph). Senart edited the record in his Inscriptions de Piyaḍasi, 2. 197 ff., and published a revised edition of it, from an estampage by Burgèss, in IA, 20. 165 ff. A photograph of Burgess' estampage appeared in JA (8), 9. 498.

As Burt had stated that Bairāt was six kōs distant from 'Bhabra' (JASB, 9. 616), the inscription has been styled generally 'the Bhabra edict'. But this name implies a double mistake: the town from which it is derived is not called 'Bhabra', but Bhābrū, and the latter is twelve miles distant from Bairāt, the finding-place of the block.<sup>3</sup> According to Cunningham (Arch. Reports, 2. 247), 'the hill on which the inscription was found forms a conspicuous object about one mile to the south-west of the town [of Bairāt]. It is about 200 feet high, and is still known by the name of Bījak-Pahār or "inscription hill"'. It is covered with ruins which Cunningham (id., p. 248) took to be the remains of two Buddhist monasteries.

'The inscription stone originally lay, I am told, near the shrine of Hanūmān below the rock known as lōp or "cannon", on the first or lower platform on the summit of the hill.'<sup>4</sup>

In order to distinguish this inscription from the preceding one (No. III), I propose to call it 'the Calcutta-Bairāt rock-inscription'.

V. THE MASKI ROCK-INSRIPTION (Text, p. 174).

Another, damaged, version of the Rūpnāth, Sahasrām, and Bairāt edicts was discovered on January 27, 1915, by Mr. C. Beadon, a gold-mining engineer, in the neighbourhood of Maski, a village in the Lingsugur táluka of the Raichur district of the Nizam's Dominions, about forty-six miles west-south-west from Raichur. I am indebted to Rao Bahadur H. Krishna Sastri for the subjoined note on Maski :

'By enquiries made at the place, I gather that the spelling of the village named Maski is different with different communities. The masses of illiterate agriculturists pronounce it Maśgi or Maśigi; the Brahmin classes call it Maski, and the Muham-madans Masgi. A Chālukya inscription of the time of Jagadēkamalla (Śaka 949) calls the place Rājadhāni piriya-Mosaṅgi, i.e. "the royal residence of great Mosaṅgi". Another inscription of the same king in the village refers to that quarter as the Brahmapurī of Mosaṅgi. A later record of the Yādava king Siṅghaṇa of the thirteenth century calls the place again Rājadhāni piriya-Mosaṅgi. In two other inscriptions of the place belonging to the reigns of Achyutarāya and Sadāśivarāya, its name is mentioned as Mosage, the chief town of Mosage-nādu.'

To these remarks we may add that Mosaṅgi, the ancient form of the name of Maski, suggests its identity with the battle-field of Muśaṅgi, where, according to Tamil records, the Chālukya king Jayasimha II was defeated by Rājendra-Chōla I.<sup>1</sup>

A careful transcript and translation of the Maski inscription (with plates) was published by H. Krishna Sastri,<sup>2</sup> who describes the site as follows :

'The cavern in which the inscribed boulder stands is formed of a huge rock resting at various points of its periphery on other smaller ones, some of which are partly buried in the gravelly soil below. The boulder, which is a block of crystalline grey granite of irregular shape, stands at the southern entrance into the cavern, with the writing facing inwards. The surface of the boulder has peeled off at various places, sometimes right up to the depth to which the letters were incised, and measures roughly 8 feet 9 inches by 5 feet' (p. 2).

In the year 1916, the third of the great war, Fleet drew attention to the new inscription in JRAS, 1916. 572 ff.; Senart examined it in detail in JA (11), 7. 425 ff.; and I, having received a copy of Krishna Sastri's article from my friend Konow, re-published the text in ZDMG, 70. 539 ff.

The chief interest of the Maski inscription consists in the fact that the king is here called not only Dēvānā priya, but in addition to it Aśōka,—a name which was hitherto known only from Buddhist literature and from the Purāṇas.

VI, VII, VIII. ROCK-INSRIPTIONS IN THE MYSORE STATE (Text, p. 175).

These three records, which resemble the Rūpnāth, Sahasrām, Bairāt, and Maski edicts, but add to them a second edict, were discovered and edited with lithographs by Mr. B. L. Rice in 1892.<sup>3</sup> They were discussed by Senart, who added a transcript and translation of the Brahmagiri version (JA (8), 19. 472 ff.), and by Bühler, who corrected a few details (VOJ, 7. 29 ff.). In 1894 Bühler re-edited the three inscriptions with photo-lithographs prepared from inked estampages (EI, 3. 134 ff.). Transcripts and facsimiles are given also in Rice's Epigraphia Carnatica, vol. 11, from which I borrow the following careful description of the localities (Introduction, p. 2 f.):<sup>4</sup>

the Molikālmurn tālṇq [of the Chitaldroog district of the Mysore State] from west to east. They are all in the neighbourhood of Siddāpura,<sup>1</sup> between 14° 47' and 51' north latitude and about 76° 51' east longitude. The best preserved is the Brahmagiri inscription, engraved on the top of a great boulder of gneiss, at the north-west base of the hill of that name, at a point called the Ganjigunṭe-mīle. The boulder was well known throughout the neighbourhood as the Akshara-guṇḍu or "letter-rock", and was supposed to be endued with medicinal virtues. Accordingly, in various ailments of human beings and in diseases of cattle, the stone was washed and the water used for the purpose given to the patient to drink. It was the favourite seat for goatherds in the heat of the day when the flocks were collected into the shade of the surrounding rocks, and for ryots watching the crops in the neighbouring fields. The inscription is cut on the undressed horizontal surface of the rock, which slopes down somewhat at the end of the lines. It consists of thirteen not very regular lines, covering a space of 15' 6" by 11' 6". Half a dozen letters at the beginning of the 6th and 7th lines have been defaced by lodgment of water in a depression in the stone.'

'The second inscription is less than a mile to the west of the first, and close to Siddāpura, on a ledge, facing south, some way up a rocky group of hills called Yenamana Timmayyana guṇḍu or "the buffalo-herd Timmayya's rocks". It consists of twenty-two lines, covering a space of 13' 6" by 8', and is engraved in lines of varying length on the sloping and peeling horizontal surface of the rock. A great boulder overhangs the inscription on the north, under the eaves of which the lines end, leaving a very small space between the inscribed floor and the rock above. Considerable portions have been defaced, as the shady ledge on which the inscription is cut formed a favourite shelter for goats and cattle.'

'The third inscription is on the western summit of the Jaṭiṅga-Rāmēśvara hill, which is some three miles or more north by west of Brahmagiri. The inscription is cut on a very irregular slanting horizontal surface of rock, facing north-east, which has been quarried at some period. Overhanging the inscription on the south is an immense boulder, which still shows the marks of the mason's punches used in splitting off a considerable portion of its northern face. The floor on which the inscription is cut is immediately in front of the stairs leading up to the Jaṭiṅga-Rāmēśvara temple. Consequently all pilgrims to the shrine used to walk right over the inscription, and have no doubt done so for centuries. Moreover, owing to the convenient shadow of the overhanging boulder, the site of the inscription was the favourite resort of the bangle-sellers at the annual festival. Hence the rock is called the Baḷegāra-guṇḍu or "bangle-sellers' rock", and various holes have been punched in different parts of the rock on which the inscription is cut to receive the posts of the booths or tents erected by them at the annual fair. For the foregoing reasons it is not surprising that the inscription is very greatly defaced, so much so indeed that it is difficult to tell exactly where it begins or where it ends. So far as can be made out, it consists of at least twenty-eight lines, covering a space of 17' 6" by 6' 6". There is a guiding line engraved in the margin to the left, apparently to show the direction of the lines, but those above this mark do not seem to have been parallel with those below it.'

From a foot-note<sup>2</sup> we are glad to learn that 'erections have now been put up over this and the other Aśoka inscriptions by the Mysore Government for their protection, and the headman of the village has the keys as custodian'.

According to the second and third Barabar inscriptions the name of the Barabar Hill is then Khadabikā. Both the first and second inscriptions of king Devānampiya and the third Śālagā, as inscriptions of Indrabhūti specify as donees the monks of the Kṛṣṇaka etc. In these cases an attempt has been made to chisel away the word śraddhā. This was probably done in the time of the Maukhari Anantavarman, who assigned one of the Barabar caves to Kṛṣṇa, and two of the Nāgārjunī ones to Śiva and Parvati.

The three Patala inscriptions of king Devanampriya were first lithographed and described by Captain Kinnear. They were examined by Burnouf (Lotus, p. 779 ff.) and edited by Leumann and, with Fleet's facsimiles, by Bühler (IA, 20, 361 ff.).

CHAPTER II. THE AUTHOR OF THE INSCRIPTIONS

The king at whose orders the rock and pillar-edicts published in the first and second parts of this volume were engraved, gives his name or title in various Prākṛit forms of which the Sanskrit would be Devanāmpriyāḥ Priyadarśi rājā.<sup>9</sup> This full form of his title is shortened into Dēvānāmpriyaḥ in section C of the Dhauli and Jaugaḍa rock-edict X, in all texts of the rock-edicts XII and XIII after the opening section, in which the full style is preserved, and in the Delhi-Tōprā pillar-edict VII, RR. In the two separate rock-edicts at Dhauli and Jaugaḍa, in the Queen's pillar-edict, and in the Kauśāmbī pillar-edict, Dēvānāmpriyaḥ alone is found.

Among the records published in the third and fourth parts of this volume, the Rummindēi and Nigālī Sāgar pillars exhibit the full form Dēvānāmpriyaḥ Priyadarśī rājā. The Maskī rock-inscription opens with the genitive case of Dēvānāmpriya Aśōka. On the Sārnāth pillar and in the Rūpnāth, Sahasrām, Bairāt, and the three Mysore rock-inscriptions we have only Dēvānāmpriyaḥ. On the Sāmchī pillar this word is lost; but the contents of the Sāmchī and Sārnāth pillars are so nearly related to those of the Kauśāmbī edict on the Allahabad-Kōsam pillar, that they can be safely referred to the same royal author. The same applies to the rock-inscriptions at Rūpnāth, &c., which remind us of the rock- and pillar-edicts in many significant details.<sup>1</sup>

There remain the Calcutta-Bairāt rock-inscription and the three Barābar Hill cave-inscriptions. In the former the king styles himself Priyadarśī rājā, and in the three others rājā Priyadarśī. In the Calcutta-Bairāt record the king shows a strong interest in Buddhism. It would be, therefore, hypercritical not to assign this document to the same sovereign who paid visits to Sāmbūdhi (rock-edict VIII, C), to Lummini (Rummindēi pillar), and to the Stāpa of Kōnākamana (Nigālī Sāgar pillar). We cannot, however, decide with certainty whether the three Barābar Hill inscriptions belong to the same king or to another member of his dynasty. In favour of the former alternative it may perhaps be urged that two of the caves on the Barābar Hill were dedicated to the Ājivikas when the donor had been 'anointed twelve years'. For, this happens to be the regnal year in which the author of the rock- and pillar-edicts commenced to issue 'rescripts on morality'; see the pillar-edict VI, B, and cf. the rock-edict IV, K.

The etymological meaning of the term Dēvānāmpriya is 'dear to the gods'. According to Patañjali's Mahābhāṣya on Pāṇini, II, 4, 56, and V, 3, 14, this word was used as an honorific like bhavan, dīrghāyuh, and āyushmān.<sup>2</sup> Pāṇini himself does not mention Dēvānāmpriya, but states that the termination of the genitive case is preserved at the end of the first member of compounds if the meaning is abusive (पद्मा आक्रोशे, VI, 3, 21). The Kāśikā commentary adduces the two examples चोरसकुलं, 'the family of a thief', and वृषलसकुलं, 'the family of a low-caste man'.<sup>3</sup> Kātyāyana affixes to Pāṇini's Sūtra five Vārttikas, the third of which states that the compound Dēvānāmpriya ought to be added. Neither the Mahābhāṣya nor the Kāśikā have the word मूर्ख, 'with the meaning of "fool"', which the Siddhāntakaumudī adds to the Vārttika. This secondary meaning of Dēvānāmpriya was already known to Patañjali's commentator Kaiyaṭa,<sup>4</sup> while Kātyāyana and Patañjali ignore it, although Patañjali on Pāṇini, II, 4, 56, seems to have used Dēvānāmpriya in an ironical sense. In Bāṇa's

Harshacharita it is found twice as an honorific.<sup>1</sup> In the same way Devānuppiya is employed frequently in Jaina literature.<sup>2</sup>

In the Dīpavaṃsa, Devānāṃpiya is prefixed to the name of Aśoka's contemporary, Tissa of Ceylon, and is often used alone to denote him,<sup>3</sup> and in the Nāgārjunī Hill cave-inscriptions it follows the name of Aśoka's grandson Daśaratha.<sup>4</sup> In a few of the inscriptions published in this volume it is employed as a synonym of rājan, 'a king': In the Kālsī, Shāhbāzgarhī, and Mānsehrā texts of the rock-edict VIII, A, the king's predecessors are called Devānāṃpiyā and Devanāṃpriya, while the Girnār and Dhauli versions have rājāno and lājāne; and the word Devānāṃpiye in the second separate edict at Dhauli (twice in section G and thrice in I) corresponds to lājā in the Jaugaḍa text of the same edict (sections H and J).

As stated above (p. xxviii), another epithet of the king to whom the inscriptions published in this volume are due was Priyadarśin, 'he who glances amiably'. Both Piyadassi and Piyadassana, 'of amiable appearance', occur repeatedly in the Dīpavaṃsa<sup>5</sup> as equivalents of Aśoka, the name of the great Maurya king.<sup>6</sup> In the drama Mudrārākṣha,<sup>7</sup> Piadaṃsaṇa is prefixed to Chandasiri, i.e. Chandragupta, the name of Aśoka's grandfather.

Before discussing Prinsep's identification of the king Devānāṃpriya Priyadarśin of the inscriptions with the Maurya king Aśoka, it will be advisable to quote from the texts a few details which are of leading importance in this connexion. The opening section of the Calcutta-Bairāt rock-inscription informs us that Priyadarśin was a Māgadha king, i.e. a ruler of Magadha. From the rock-edict V, M, we learn that his capital was Pāṭaliputra; for, the words 'both in Pāṭaliputra and in the outlying [towns]' at Girnār correspond to 'here and in all the outlying towns' at Kālsī, Shāhbāzgarhī, Mānsehrā, and Dhauli. In the second and thirteenth rock-edicts the king refers to a number of contemporary Yōna, i.e. Greek, kings: the rock-edict II, A, mentions 'the Yōna king Antiyoka (Antiyaka at Girnār, Antiyoga at Kālsī and Mānsehrā) and the kings who are the neighbours of this Antiyoka'; and the rock-edict XIII, Q, 'the Yōna king Antiyoka (Antiyoga at Kālsī and Mānsehrā), and beyond him four kings, viz. Turamāya (Tulamaya at Kālsī), Antekina (Antikini at Shāhbāzgarhī), Makā (Magā at Girnār), and Alikasudara (Alikyashudala at Kālsī)'.

The great decipherer of the old Brāhmī alphabet, James Prinsep, at first ascribed the edicts to Devānāṃpiya Tissa of Ceylon.<sup>8</sup> This is of course impossible because we know now that the author of the edicts calls himself a king of Magadha, and that he resided at Pāṭaliputra. The discovery of the Nāgārjunī Hill cave-inscriptions of Dashedatha Devānāṃpiya, whom Prinsep at once identified with Daśaratha, the grandson of the Maurya king Aśoka (id., p. 676 ff.), and the fact that Turnour had found Piyadassi or Piyadassana used as a surname of Aśoka in the Dīpavaṃsa, induced Prinsep to abandon his original view, and to identify king Devānāṃpriya Priyadarśin with Aśoka himself (id., p. 790 ff.). A limine, another member of the Maurya dynasty might be meant as well; for, as stated above (p. xxx), the eighth rock-edict shows that the king's predecessors also bore the title Dēvānāmpriya, and the Mudrārākṣha applies the epithet Priyadarśana to Chandragupta. Every such doubt is now set at rest by the discovery of the Maski edict, in which the king calls himself Dēvānāmpriya Aśōka.

In February, 1838, Prinsep published the text and a translation of the second rock-edict. He found in the Gīrnār version of it (l. 3) the words Antiyako Yona-rājā, and in the Dhāuli version (l. 1) Antiyoke nāma Yona-lājā, and identified the Yōna king Antiyaka or Antiyoka with Antiochus III of Syria.<sup>1</sup> In March, 1838, he discovered in the Gīrnār edict XIII (l. 8) the names of Turamāya, Antikona,<sup>2</sup> and Magā, whom he most ingeniously identified with Ptolemy II Philadelphus of Egypt, Antigonus Gonatas of Macedonia (?), and Magas of Cyrene. At the same time he modified his earlier theory, and now referred the name Antiyoka to Antiochus I or II of Syria, preferably the former (id., p. 224 ff.).

On the Gīrnār rock the name of a fifth king, who was mentioned after Magā, is lost. The Shāhbāzgarhī version calls him Alikasudara. Norris recognised that this name corresponds to the Greek Ἀλέξανδρος, and suggested hesitatingly that Alexander of Epirus, the son of Pyrrhus, might be meant by it.<sup>3</sup> This identification was endorsed by Westergaard,<sup>4</sup> Lassen,<sup>5</sup> and Senart.<sup>6</sup> But Professor Beloch now thinks that Alexander of Corinth, the son of Craterus, has a better claim.<sup>7</sup>

As will appear in the sequel, the mention of these five contemporaries in the inscriptions of king Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin confirms in a general way the correctness of Prinsep's identification of the latter with Aśōka, the grandson of Chandragupta whose approximate time we know from Greek and Roman records. Antiochus I Soter of Syria reigned 280-261 B.C., his son Antiochus II Theos 261-246, Ptolemy II Philadelphus of Egypt 285-247, Antigonus Gonatas of Macedonia 276-239, Magas of Cyrene c. 300-c. 250, Alexander of Epirus 272-c. 255, and Alexander of Corinth 252-c. 244.<sup>8</sup> The rock-edict XIII cannot be placed earlier than twelve years after Aśōka's abhishēka, when he commenced publishing 'rescripts on morality'.<sup>9</sup> If we assume that the rock-edicts are arranged in chronological order, it cannot have been issued earlier than thirteen years after the abhishēka, when Aśōka appointed 'Mahāmātras of morality' as he tells us in edict V. If the Alikasudara of edict XIII is Alexander of Epirus, its date would fall between 272 and 255, and if Alexander of Corinth is meant, between 252 and 250. For fixing the period of Aśōka's reign within narrower limits, we are thrown back on what information can be gathered from Indian and classical literature concerning Aśōka's grandfather Chandragupta.

<sup>2</sup> In reality Gīrnār and Kālsī read Antekina, and Shāhbāzgarhī Antikini. Bühler (ZDMG, 40. 137) justly remarked that these two forms would rather correspond to Antigenes than to Antigonus. But no king named Antigenes is known to us, although it was the name of one of the officers of Alexander the Great, who was executed, together with Eumenes, in 316 B.C., being then satrap of Susiana.

The historical tradition of India, Ceylon, and Burma is unanimous in naming as the founder of the Maurya dynasty Chandragupta, and as his two immediate successors Bindusāra and Aśōka. The pseudo-prophetic account of the Purāṇas runs thus :

‘Kauṭilya (or Chāṇakya) will establish king Chandragupta in the kingdom. Chandragupta will be king twenty-four years, Bindusāra twenty-five years, and Aśōka thirty-six years.’<sup>1</sup>

According to the Dīpavaṃsa, Chandragupta reigned twenty-four years (V, 73, 100), and Bindusāra’s son Aśōka thirty-seven years (V, 101).<sup>2</sup>

The Mahāvamsa states that the Brāhmaṇa Chāṇakya anointed the Maurya Chandragupta (V, 16 f.), and that Chandragupta reigned twenty-four years, his son Bindusāra twenty-eight years (V, 18), and Bindusāra’s son Aśōka (V, 19) thirty-seven years (XX, 6).

Buddhaghōsha’s Samantaṭṭhāpādikā agrees with the Mahāvamsa in allotting twenty-four years to Chandragupta and twenty-eight years to Bindusāra.<sup>3</sup>

The Burmese tradition assigns twenty-four years to Chandragupta and twenty-seven years to Bindusāra.<sup>4</sup>

It will be seen that all sources agree in fixing the length of Chandragupta’s reign at twenty-four years. To Bindusāra the Ceylonese chronicles allot twenty-eight years, Bigandet twenty-seven years, and the Purāṇas twenty-five years.

The Ceylonese sources state that Aśōka succeeded his father Bindusāra 214 years after Buddha’s Nirvāṇa,<sup>5</sup> and that his anointment took place four years after his father’s death, or 218 years after the Nirvāṇa.<sup>6</sup> The Burmese tradition confirms the two dates 214 and 218.<sup>7</sup>

As, according to the Ceylonese sources, Bindusāra ruled twenty-eight years and Chandragupta twenty-four years, the former would have reigned A.B. 186–214, and the latter A.B. 162–186.<sup>8</sup> If we deduct the year of Chandragupta’s accession to the throne (162) from the traditional date of the Nirvāṇa, 544 B.C., the result is 382 B.C. This would be about sixty years earlier than the actual accession of Chandragupta as ascertained from Greek sources. For, luckily, the approximate time of king Chandragupta of Pāṭaliputra has been already settled by one of the great pioneers of Indian research, Sir William Jones,<sup>9</sup> who identified him with Σανδράκοττος of Παλιβοθρα, the contemporary of Seleucus Nikator.

Various devices were proposed in order to account for this chronological error, until Fleet showed that the Buddha-varsha of 544 B.C. is a comparatively modern fabrication, of the twelfth century, and that the difference of about sixty years is the quite natural

<sup>2</sup> The length of Bindusāra’s reign is not specified in the Dīpavaṃsa; but the period of twenty-eight years is deducible from statements made in chapter XI, verses 5, 12, 13, about king Muṇḍasiva of Ceylon. See Fleet in JRAS, 1908. 481, and 1909. 25.

<sup>8</sup> According to Bigandet’s Life of Gaudama, 2. 128, Chandragupta reigned A.B. 163–187, and Bindusāra 187–214. If, as the Purāṇas assert, Bindusāra reigned only twenty-five years, he would have succeeded Chandragupta in A.B. 189.

result of accumulated mistakes which were made in rounding off the figures of the regnal years of the kings of Ceylon.<sup>1</sup>

While thus the alleged date of the Nirvāṇa in 544 B.C., and that of Chandragupta's accession in 382 B.C., have no practical value, the traditional interval of 218 years between the Nirvāṇa and Aśoka's abhishēka might still be considered authentic. There are, however, two facts which in my opinion render it somewhat suspicious. It includes a period of 100 years between the Nirvāṇa and the Second Council.<sup>2</sup> Such a nice round sum as just 100 years looks very much like a clumsy guess and a pure invention.<sup>3</sup> Secondly, the traditional figures of the Northern Buddhists are almost totally at variance with those of the Southern Buddhists.<sup>4</sup>

‘[Seleucus] multa in Oriente post divisionem inter socios regni Macedonici bella gessit. Principio Babyloniam cepit; inde auctis ex victoria viribus Bactrianos expugnavit. Transitum deinde in Indiam fecit, quae post mortem Alexandri, veluti a cervicibus iugo servitutis excusso, praefectos eius occiderat. Auctor libertatis Sandrocottus fuerat, sed titulum libertatis post victoriam in servitutem verterat; siquidem occupato regno populum, quem ab externa dominatione vindicaverat, ipse servitio premebat. Fuit hic humili quidem genere natus, sed ad regni potestatem maiestate numinis impulsus. Quippe cum procacitate sua Nandrum regem offendisset, interfici a rege iussus salutem pedum celeritate quaesierat. Ex qua fatigatione cum somno captus iaceret, leo ingentis formae ad dormientem accessit sudoremque profluentem lingua ei detersit expergefatumque blande reliquit. Hoc prodigio primum ad spem regni impulsus contractis latronibus Indos ad novitatem regni sollicitavit. Molienti deinde bellum adversus praefectos Alexandri elephantus ferus infinitae magnitudinis ultro se obtulit et veluti domita mansuetudine eum tergo excepit duxque belli et proelior insignis fuit. Sic adquisito regno Sandrocottus ea tempestate, qua Seleucus futurae magnitudinis fundamenta iaciebat, Indiam possidebat, cum quo facta pactione Seleucus compositisque in Oriente rebus in bellum Antigoni descendit.’

McCrinkle translates this as follows :<sup>6</sup>

‘[Seleucus] waged many wars in the East after the partition of Alexander's empire among his generals. He first took Babylonia, and then with his forces augmented by victory subjugated the Bactrians. He then passed over into India, which after Alexander's death, as if the yoke of servitude had been shaken off from its neck, had put his prefects to death. Sandrocottus had been the leader who achieved their freedom, but after his victory he had forfeited by his tyranny all title to the name of liberator; for, having ascended the throne, he oppressed with servitude the very people whom he had emancipated from foreign thralldom. He was born in humble life,<sup>1</sup> but was prompted to aspire to royalty by an omen significant of an august destiny. For when by his insolent behaviour he had offended king Nandrus,<sup>2</sup> and was ordered by that king to be put to death, he had sought safety by a speedy flight. When he lay down overcome with fatigue and had fallen into a deep sleep, a lion of enormous size approaching the slumberer licked with its tongue the sweat which oozed profusely from his body, and when he awoke quietly took its departure. It was this prodigy which first inspired him with the hope of winning the throne, and so, having collected a band of robbers, he instigated the Indians to overthrow the existing government. When he was thereafter preparing to attack Alexander's prefects, a wild elephant of monstrous size approached him, and kneeling submissively like a tame elephant received him on to its back and fought vigorously in front of the army. Sandrocottus having thus won the throne was reigning over India when Seleucus was laying the foundations of his future greatness. Seleucus, having made a treaty with him and otherwise settled his affairs in the East, returned home to prosecute the war with Antigonus.'

The same transactions are referred to in Appian's Ρωμαϊκά, book Συριακή, chapter 55 :<sup>3</sup>

[Σέλευκος] τὸν Ἰνδὸν περάσας ἐπολέμησεν Ἀνδροκόττῳ βασιλεῖ τῶν περὶ αὐτὸν Ἰνδῶν, μέχρι φιλίαν αὐτῷ καὶ κῆδος συνέβητο.

'[Seleucus] crossed the Indus and waged war on Androcottus, king of the Indians who dwelt about it, until he made friends and entered into relations of marriage with him.'<sup>4</sup>

According to Strabo, Seleucus ceded to Sandrocottus a tract of land to the west of the Indus, entering into a matrimonial alliance with him and receiving in exchange five hundred elephants.<sup>5</sup> We know from various sources that Megasthenes became the ambassador of Seleucus at Chandragupta's court.<sup>6</sup> Strabo adds that Deimachus was sent on an embassy to Chandragupta's son, whom he calls Amitrochades :<sup>7</sup>

Ἐπέμφθησαν μὲν γὰρ εἰς τὰ Παλίμβοθρα, ὃ μὲν Μεγασθένης πρὸς Σανδρόκοττον, ὃ δὲ Δημάχος πρὸς Ἀλλιτροχάδην<sup>8</sup> τὸν ἐκείνου υἱὸν κατὰ πρεσβείαν· ὑπομνήματα δὲ τῆς ἀποδημίας κατέλιπον τοιαῦτα.

'Megasthenes and Deimachus were sent on an embassy, the former to Sandrocottus at Palimbothra, the other to Amitrochades his son; and they left accounts of their sojourn in the country'.<sup>9</sup>

It may be concluded from this interesting notice that Chandragupta's son and successor Bindusāra had the surname Amitraghāta,<sup>1</sup> i.e. 'the slayer of enemies'. The same king is referred to as a contemporary of Antiochus (I Soter of Syria) in a curious anecdote preserved by Athenaeus:<sup>2</sup>

Οὕτω δὲ ἦσαν περισπούδαστοι πᾶσιν ἀνθρώποις αἱ ἰσχάδες . . . . ὥς καὶ Ἀμιτροχάτην τὸν τῶν Ἰνδῶν βασιλέα γράψαι Ἀντιόχῳ ἀξιούντα, φησὶν Ἑγήσανδρος, πέμψαι αὐτῷ γλυκὴν καὶ ἰσχάδας καὶ σοφιστὴν ἀγοράσαντα. καὶ τὸν Ἀντίοχον ἀντιγράψαι· ἰσχάδας μὲν καὶ γλυκὴν ἀποστελοῦμέν σοι, σοφιστὴν δ' ἐν Ἑλλήσιν οὐ νόμιμον πωλεῖσθαι.'

'Dried figs were so eagerly desired by all men . . . . that even Amitrochates, the king of the Indians, wrote to Antiochus asking him, says Hegesander, to purchase and send him sweet wine, dried figs, and a sophist; and that Antiochus wrote back: "We shall send you dried figs and sweet wine; but it is not lawful in Greece to sell a sophist."'

If this statement of Athenaeus is combined with the preceding one of Strabo, it appears that the friendly intercourse which had existed between Seleucus and Chandragupta, was continued by their respective sons and successors, Antiochus I and Bindusāra-Amitraghāta, and that Megasthenes, the ambassador of Seleucus at the court of Chandragupta, was succeeded by Deīmachus, the ambassador of Antiochus I at the court of Bindusāra-Amitraghāta. From Pliny<sup>3</sup> we learn that another Greek potentate, Ptolemy II Philadelphus of Egypt (B.C. 285-247), sent Dionysius as ambassador to an unnamed Indian king, who may be supposed to have been either Bindusāra or Aśoka.<sup>4</sup>

I now return to the question of Chandragupta's date. Seleucus I Nikator of Syria (B.C. 312-280) 'arrived in Cappadocia in the autumn of 302 [the year preceding the battle of Ipsus]. The march thither from India must have required at least two summers. Consequently, the peace with Chandragupta has to be placed about the summer of 304, or at the latest in the next winter.'<sup>5</sup> Thus the coronation of Chandragupta falls between B.C. 323 (Alexander's death) and 304 (the treaty with Seleucus). As the consolidation of an empire which, as described by Megasthenes in his Ἰνδικά, reached from Patnā to the Indus, must have been a matter of many years, I feel inclined to shift the date of Chandragupta's accession towards the earlier limit and to adopt as a working date the year B.C. 320 which Fleet has proposed.<sup>6</sup> With this starting-point, and if the length of reigns as given in the Mahāvamsa is accepted, Chandragupta would have ruled 320-296, and Bindusāra 296-268. Aśoka would have been crowned (four years after his father's death) in B.C. 264. This date is confirmed approximately by Aśoka's thirteenth rock-edict, which, as stated above (p. xxxi), cannot be placed earlier than twelve or thirteen years after his abhiśhēka. 264-12/13 = 252/251 would be one or two years before the last possible year (B.C. 250) in which all the Greek kings mentioned in that edict were still alive. This synchronism would prove that the date of Chandragupta's coronation, on which that of Aśoka's coronation depends, can hardly be placed later than B.C. 320. It would follow further that the Antiyoka of edict XIII (and probably also of rock-edict II) was not Antiochus I, but

Antiochus II (261-246), and that the Alikasudara of edict XIII was not Alexander of Epirus, but Alexander of Corinth (252-c. 244). But we must remember that the above figures rest only on the Ceylonese tradition, while the Purāṇas assign to Bindusāra twenty-five instead of twenty-eight years, and that, accordingly, Chandragupta's coronation might fall about three years later than B.C. 320. Besides, it must be kept in mind that the upper limit of Chandragupta's coronation is the death of Alexander the Great in B.C. 323. The working date of B.C. 320 has the advantage of being the mean of the two outside dates 323 and 317.

I now append a list of the regnal dates which are incidentally mentioned in Aśōka's inscriptions, adding in brackets the year B.C. to which each year of his reign may be supposed to correspond.

1. Eight years after the coronation (B.C. 256). The king conquered (the country of) the Kalingas; rock-edict XIII.
2. Ten years after the coronation (B.C. 254). He went (on a visit) to Sāmbōdhi (i.e. Bōdh-Gayā); rock-edict VIII.
3. Twelve years after the coronation (B.C. 252):
  - (1) He ordered his officers to set out on a complete tour (throughout their charges) every five years; rock-edict III.
  - (2) He promoted morality by public shows of edifying subjects; rock-edict IV.
  - (3) He published rescripts on morality; pillar-edict VI.
  - (4) He gave two caves to the Ājīvikas; two of the Barābar Hill cave-inscriptions.
4. Thirteen years after the coronation (B.C. 251). He appointed superintendents of morality; rock-edict V.
5. Fourteen years after the coronation (B.C. 250). He enlarged the Stūpa of Kōṇākamana to the double (of its size); Nigāli Sāgar pillar.
6. Nineteen years after the coronation (B.C. 245). He gave a cave (to the Ājīvikas); the third Barābar Hill cave-inscription.
7. Twenty years after the coronation (B.C. 244). He visited the Buddha's birth-place at Lūmīni and the Stūpa of Kōṇākamana; Rummindēi and Nigāli Sāgar pillars.
8. Twenty-six years after the coronation (B.C. 238). He issued the pillar-edicts I, IV, V, VI.
9. Twenty-seven years after the coronation (B.C. 237). He issued the Delhi-Tōprā pillar-edict VII.

CHAPTER III.

ASOKA'S EMPIRE AND ITS ADMINISTRATION

In the preceding chapter it was shown that the king Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin of the inscriptions can be no other than the Maurya king Aśōka of Magadha. It will appear from the two next chapters (IV and V) that his edicts are not concerned with public affairs, but are of an almost purely religious character. In spite of this we may glean from them some details of historical importance which are mentioned incidentally.

The extent of Aśōka's empire may be guessed already from the distribution of his rock-edicts, which it seems were engraved along the very confines of his territories. In the west they are found at Gīrnār on the Kāṭhīāvāṛ peninsula and at Sōpārā on the Bombay coast; in the south in the Raichur district of the Nizam's Dominions and in the Chitaldroog district of the Mysore State; and in the east at Dhauli and Jaugada in the Purī and Ganjām districts. The north-eastern boundary line is marked by the rock-edicts at Shāhbāzgarhī and Mānsehrā in the Peshāvar and Hazāra districts and at Kālsī in the Dehra Dūn district, and it is continued by the Nigālī Sāgar and Rummindēi pillars in the Nepalese Tarāi and by the Rāmpurvā pillar in the Champāran district.

The capital of this vast empire was Pāṭaliputra, which, as stated above (p. xxx), is mentioned as such in the fifth rock-edict. The two syllables Paṭa, which are preserved at the beginning of the third line of the Sārnāth pillar-inscription, are probably the remainder of the same name. Both the Dīpavaṃsa (V, 25, &c.) and the Mahāvamsa (V, 22) are aware of the fact that Pāṭaliputra was Aśoka's capital. From the Indrā-rāksasa and from classical authors we learn that it had been already the residence of his grandfather Chandragupta. As I have stated before (p. xxxii), we owe to Sir William Jones the identification of Pāṭaliputra with the Παλιβοθρα or Παλιμβοθρα of the Greeks. Megasthenes, who represented Seleucus at Chandragupta's court, described it as a very large city:<sup>1</sup>

Καὶ λέγει Μεγασθένης, μῆκος μὲν ἐπέχειν τὴν πόλιν κατ' ἐκατέρην τὴν πλευρὴν ἵναπερ μακροτάτῃ αὐτῇ λαυτῆς ᾤκισται ἐς ὀγδοήκοντα σταδίους, τὸ δὲ πλάτος ἐς πεντεκαίδεκα· τάφρον δὲ περιβεβλησθαι τῇ πόλει τὸ εὖρος ἐξάπλευρον, τὸ δὲ βάθος τριήκοντα πήχων· πύργους δὲ ἱβδομήκοντα καὶ πενταεστίους ἔχειν τὸ τεῖχος καὶ πύλας τέσσαρας καὶ ἐξήκοντα.

'Megasthenes informs us that this city stretched in the inhabited quarters to an extreme length on each side of eighty stadia, and that its breadth was fifteen stadia, and that a ditch encompassed it all round which was six hundred feet in breadth and thirty cubits in depth, and that the wall was crowned with 570 towers and had four-and-sixty gates.'<sup>2</sup>

The identity of Pāṭaliputra with the modern Patnā is well known to the Hindūs.<sup>3</sup> The capital belonged to the ancient province of Magadha,<sup>4</sup> which is now called South Bihār. In accordance with this, Aśoka styles himself Māgadha, i.e. king of Magadha, at the commencement of the Calcutta-Bairāt rock-inscription. In the rock-edict VIII, C, he refers to his visit to another locality which was included in the province of Magadha.<sup>5</sup> This is Sambōdhi, now Bōdh-Gayā to the south of Patnā.

The Kauśāmbī edict on the Allahabad-Kōsam pillar mentions Kōsambī (Kauśāmbī in Sanskrit), which is the modern Kōsam (see above, p. xx) to the west of the Magadha province. From the fact that Aśoka addressed the Kauśāmbī edict to his Mahāmātras at Kōsambī, it may be concluded that in his time, just as in later times,<sup>6</sup> Kauśāmbī was the head-quarters of a province.

Two other chief towns of provinces are referred to in the Dhauli separate edict I, AA and BB, viz., Ujjōnī (Ujjayinī) and Takkhasilā (Takshasilā). Aśoka's governor of the former was a royal prince (kumāra). In Buddhist tradition Aśoka himself is stated to have held the appointment of viceroy at Ujjayinī in the life-time of his father Bindusāra.<sup>7</sup> Ujjayinī, the capital of Avanti, and the 'Οζήνη of the Periplus and of Ptolemy, is the modern Ujjain in the Gwalior State. Greeks, was identified by Cunningham with Shāh dhērī in the Rāvalpindī district, Panjāb.<sup>1</sup>

From the commencement of the Brahmagiri and Śiddāpura rock-inscriptions we learn that the head-quarters of Aśoka's southernmost province was a place of the name Suvarṇagiri, and that his representative there, just as at Ujjayinī, was a royal prince (āryaputra). Brahmagiri and Śiddāpura belonged to the district of Isila, which was subordinate to the viceroy at Suvarṇagiri. Isila may have been the ancient name of Śiddāpura. Suvarṇagiri is perhaps identical with its synonym Kanakagiri in the Nizam's Dominions, south of Maski where an edict of Aśoka has been found, and north of the ruins of Vijayanagara in the Bellary district of the Madras Presidency.<sup>2</sup>

At the beginning of the rock-edict XIII, Aśoka informs us that, when he had been anointed eight years, he conquered the country of Kaliṅga<sup>3</sup> on the eastern coast. To this province we have to allot Dhauli and Jaugaḍa in the Purī and Ganjām districts, where copies of the rock-edicts I-X and XIV and of two separate edicts are found. The two separate edicts at Dhauli were addressed to the Mahāmātras at Tōsalī, who were headed by a royal prince (kumāra, sep. ed. II, A). The head-quarters of the district to which the modern Jaugaḍa belonged was called Samāpā,<sup>4</sup> and the Jaugaḍa rock had then the name Khēpiṅgala.<sup>5</sup>

The second and third cave-inscriptions on the Barābar Hill give the ancient name of this hill as Khalatika. The Rummindeī pillar has preserved the designation of the site of Buddha's birth, viz. Lummini, or, as it is called in Buddhist works, Lumbinī.

All the geographical names enumerated so far must have been included in Aśoka's empire. Besides them, the king refers to tribes outside his territories, whom he calls his 'borderers' (anta).<sup>6</sup> Several of these are mentioned by name. According to the rock-edict V, J, his western borderers were 'the Yōnas, Kambōjas, and Gandhāras, the Raṭhikas (Riṣṭika, which is probably a clerical mistake for Rāṣṭika, at Girnār) and Pitinikas (also spelt Pitēnika or Pētēnika).' As I shall show below (p. xxxix), the Yōnas seem to have formed a small state on the north-west frontier, which was ruled over by a Greek prince. The Kambōjas have to be placed in Kābul.<sup>7</sup> Gandhāra is now included in the North-West Frontier Province; at the time of the Si-yu-ki, its capital was Purushapura, now Peshāvar.<sup>8</sup> The Raṭhikas or Rāṣṭikas (= Rāṣṭrika in Sanskrit) are perhaps the people of Kāthiāvār, whose governor bore the title of Rāṣṭriya.<sup>9</sup> The Pitinikas or Pitēnikas<sup>10</sup> have not yet been localized.

<sup>3</sup> In a passage which is based on Megasthenes, Pliny (VI, 19) mentions the 'island' of Modogalinga, i.e. 'the three Kaliṅgas' (from Telugu mūḍu, 'three', + Kaliṅga); see IA, 6, 338, and Caldwell's Comparative Grammar, Introduction, p. 32f. In another place (VI, 17) he refers to the Mactocalingae or Maccocalingae as a tribe of Brāhmaṇas. Maccocalinga is probably a corruption of Mukkaliṅga, which would be the Tamil form of the Telugu Mūḍugaliṅga. For instances of the synonymous Sanskrit expression Trikaliṅga see Kielhorn's List of Northern Inscriptions (EI, vol. 5, Appendix), p. 117, s. v. <sup>10</sup> The identification of Pitēnika with Pratiṣṭhāna is phonetically impossible; see Bühler, ZDMG, 37, 262.

According to the rock-edict XIII, Q, Aśōka's borderers to the south were 'the Chōḍas and Pāṇḍyas, as far as Tāmraparṇī.' The two former are the two well-known principal dynasties of the Tamiḷ country, and Tāmraparṇī is one of the ancient names of the island of Ceylon.<sup>1</sup> The Chōḍas or Chōḷas (Śōḷa in Tamiḷ) were known to Ptolemy,<sup>2</sup> the Pāṇḍya king (Πανδίων) to the author of the Periplus as well, and Tāmraparṇī (Ταμροβάρνη) already to Megasthenes. The rock-edict II, A, inserts between the Pāṇḍyas and Tāmraparṇī two other borderers, viz. Satiyaputra (Sātiyaputa at Kālsī) and Kēralaputra. The former has not yet been identified successfully.<sup>3</sup> The latter is the king of Kērala or Malabar, who is called Κηρόβορπος in the Periplus<sup>4</sup> and Κηρόβοθπος by Ptolemy.<sup>5</sup>

The two sections in which the Chōḍas, the Pāṇḍyas, and Tāmraparṇī are referred to (II, A, and XIII, Q), mention, along with them, as Aśōka's borderers, the Yōna king Antiyoka and his four neighbours.<sup>6</sup> The next section of the rock-edict XIII (R) distinguishes from them some tribes 'here in the king's territory' (iha rāja-vishayē), viz. 'the Yōnas and Kambōjas, the Nābhakas and Nābhapaṅktis (Nabhiti at Shāhbāzgarhī), the Bhōjas and Pitinikas (Pitinikya at Kālsī), the Andhras and Pārindas.' The words 'here in the king's territory' distinctly keep the Yōnas of section R apart from the Yōna kings of section Q. Both here and in the rock-edict V, J, they are associated with the Kambōjas and Pitinikas, and in the second place all three of them are stated to have belonged to Aśōka's western borderers. Consequently, these Yōnas seem to have formed a small state on the north-west frontier, which was ruled over by a Greek prince;<sup>7</sup> and the Bhōjas, who are coupled with the Pitinikas in the rock-edict XIII, R, will have to be looked for in the west as well. Perhaps they have to be connected with those Bhōjas whose king (Bhōjādhirāja) is mentioned by Kalhaṇa as a contemporary of Śaṅkaravarman of Kaśmīr.<sup>8</sup> Andhra is the old name of the Telugu people on the eastern coast, and also the designation of an ancient dynasty which ruled over a considerable part of the Deccan after the decline of the Maurya empire.<sup>9</sup> Pliny, who borrowed his information from Megasthenes, mentions the Andaræ, i.e. the Andhras, as a great and powerful race.<sup>10</sup> As the rock-edict XIII, R, couples the Andhras with the Pārindas, these too must have been an eastern tribe.<sup>11</sup> The Nābhakas and Nābhapaṅktis may have to be placed at the Nepalese frontier of Aśōka's empire.<sup>12</sup>

From the preceding list of geographical names we may derive some information about the scheme of Aśōka's administration. Three of the provinces of his empire were entrusted to royal princes (kumāra or āryaputra), viz. Ujjayinī, Tōsalī, and Suvarṇagiri (above, p. xxxvii f.). The two Kumāras were probably sons of the king himself, and the Āryaputra perhaps some other relative of his. The rock-edict V, M, refers to the harems of his brothers, sisters, and other relatives, 'both in Pāṭaliputra and in all the outlying towns', showing thereby that the tradition according to which he had killed all his brothers but one before ascending the throne<sup>1</sup> is opposed to facts. His sons and 'other queens' sons' are mentioned also in the Delhi-Tōprā pillar-edict VII, DD, and his queens in section CC of the same edict. From the Queen's edict on the Allahabad-Kōsām pillar we learn that his second queen had the name Kāluvākī and was the mother of Tivala.

Another provincial governor was perhaps the Yavana king Tushāspa who was governing Gīrnār in the time of the Maurya Aśōka.<sup>2</sup> Each provincial governor was assisted by a body of high officers named Mahāmātra,<sup>3</sup> or, as they seem to be called in one place, Prādēśika.<sup>4</sup> Other Mahāmātras were placed in charge of the districts which were included in each province. Thus the Mahāmātras at Isila were subordinate to the prince and the Mahāmātras at Suvarṇagiri.<sup>5</sup> In two places<sup>6</sup> we hear of a council (parishad) of the Mahāmātras or 'ministers', which was responsible only to the king and received its orders directly from him. The Kauśāmbī edict was addressed to the Mahāmātras at Kōsambī, the Sārnāth edict perhaps to those at Pāṭa[liputra], and the Queen's edict to 'the Mahāmātras everywhere', i.e. to those of all districts. The technical term āhāla (= āhāra in Sanskrit), 'a district', occurs in the Rūpnāth edict, L, and in the Sārnāth edict, I, where it is opposed to the 'territories surrounding forts' (kōṭṭa-vishaya in section J), i.e., apparently, tracts which were not yet fully pacified, but were held by military posts, such as the 'forests' (aṭavi) mentioned in the rock-edict XIII, M. The Mahāmātras at Tōsalī and Samāpā were exercising judicial functions in the city (nagara-vyavahāraka or nāgaraka).<sup>7</sup> At the same time they had the control of the king's borderers who were yet unconquered,<sup>8</sup> i.e. they were what is called in the first pillar-edict (section F) Anta-mahāmātras or 'superintendents of the borderers'. A new class of Mahāmātras was created by Aśōka when he had been anointed thirteen years, viz. the Dharma-mahāmātras or 'superintendents of morality',<sup>9</sup> whom he employed for converting his subjects to his moral creed. Other special Mahāmātras had to supervise Buddhists, Brāhmaṇas and Ājivikas, Nirgranthas, and other sects.<sup>10</sup> Even the control of women was entrusted to separate officers (stry-adhyaksha-mahāmātra, rock-edict XII, M). In Buddhist literature the word Mahāmātra is frequently used in the sense of 'a minister'. In Aśōka's edicts it has evidently a wider meaning.<sup>11</sup>

in charge of many hundred thousands of men',<sup>1</sup> and 'either rewards or punishments were left to their discretion'.<sup>2</sup> Bühler has shown that the two dialectical forms Rājūka and Lajūka are derived from **Rajjūka*, and that this is an abbreviation of rajju-gāhaka, 'rope-holder', which occurs in the Jātaka.<sup>3</sup> The Rajjūka originally 'held the rope' in order to measure the fields of the ryots and to assess the land-tax. Thus the word became the designation of a revenue settlement officer, just as in British India the chief administrative officer of a district is still called 'collector', because his special duty is the collection of the revenue.<sup>4</sup>

Along with the Rājūka and the Prādēśika, the rock-edict III, C, mentions the Yutas or 'secretaries', who correspond to the Yuktas of the Kautiliya.<sup>5</sup> The last section (E) of the same edict suggests that they were employed for codifying royal orders in the office of the Mahāmātras or ministers.

The rock-edict XIII, S, refers to 'those to whom the envoys (dūta) of Dēvānām-priya do not go'. It may be concluded from this that Aśōka maintained ambassadors not only in the frontier states enumerated in section R, but at the foreign courts named in section Q, viz. those of the five Greek kings, the Chōḍas and Pāṇḍyas, and the island of Ceylon. Similarly, Dionysius may have been the ambassador of Ptolemy II Philadelphus of Egypt at Aśōka's court.<sup>6</sup>

From Indian literature we know that at all times kings used to entertain spies (chāra or gūḍha-puruṣa).<sup>7</sup> It seems probable that these are meant by the word Puruṣa in the pillar-edicts I, IV, and VII, and I have followed V. A. Smith in translating it by 'agents'. These agents were graded into 'high ones, low ones, and those of middle rank' (I, E), were acquainted with the king's wishes, controlled the Lajūkas (IV, G), and were 'placed in charge of many people' (VII, M). A similar class of officers, which was created by Aśōka himself, were the 'reporters' (prativēdaka), who were posted everywhere, as he says, 'in order to report to me the affairs of the people at any time, while I am eating, in the harem, in the inner apartment, even at the cowpen, in the palanquin, and in the parks'.<sup>8</sup> It is worth noting that this list does not include vehicles drawn by horses or bullocks, instead of which palanquins were employed in the time of Aśōka. Horses are mentioned only in the pillar-edict V, K. Section I of the same edict refers to the elephant-park (uāga-vana) of the king. As Bühler (ZDMG, 46. 78) remarked on the authority of Mēdhātithi,<sup>9</sup> the taming and the sale of elephants used to be a royal monopoly. According to Megasthenes (IA, 6. 239),

<sup>4</sup> Cf. Hobson-Jobson, s. v. Collector. Megasthenes (IA, 6. 238) speaks of high officers (ἀρχοντες) who 'superintend the rivers, measure the land, as is done in Egypt, and inspect the sluices by which water is let out from the main canals into their branches, so that every one may have an equal supply of it. The same persons have charge also of the huntsmen, and are entrusted with the power of rewarding or punishing them according to their deserts. They collect the taxes, and superintend the occupations connected with land, as those of the woodcutters, the carpenters, the blacksmiths, and the miners.'

<sup>7</sup> These are evidently the ἑφοροὶ or ἐπίσκοποι of Megasthenes (IA, 6. 124). According to Arrian (id., p. 237) 'they spy out what goes on in country and town, and report everything to the king', and according to Strabo (loc. cit.) 'some are entrusted with the inspection of the city, and others with that of the army. The former employ as their coadjutors the courtezans of the city, and the latter the courtezans of the camp [cf. Māgha, V, 27]. The ablest and most trustworthy men are appointed to fill these offices.'

'a private person is not allowed to keep either a horse or an elephant. These animals are held to be the special property of the king, and persons are appointed to take care of them.' These officers are the Aśvādhyaksha and Hastyadhyaksha of the Kauṭīliya (p. 132 ff.). The Gōdhyaksha of the same work (p. 128 ff.) probably corresponds to the Vracha-bhūmikas or 'inspectors of cowpens' in the rock-edict XII, M. The king's cowpen is referred to in the rock-edict VI, D.

At the end of the set of rock-edicts (XIV, E) Aśoka uses the word lipikara, 'a writer', the formation of which is taught by Pāṇini (III, 2, 21). The three Mysore edicts were drafted by one of this class, who wrote at the end of his signature the instrumental case lipikareṇa in Kharōshthī characters,<sup>1</sup> showing thereby that he had been transferred from North-Western India.<sup>2</sup> The word lipi, 'a rescript or inscription', occurs six times in the rock-edicts. The commentary on the Uṇādisūtras (IV, 119) derives lipi from the root lip, 'to smear'. This is impossible because the two Kharōshthī versions use instead of lipi the form dipi, which is found in the Achæmenidan inscriptions.<sup>3</sup> Besides, the participles likhita, lekhita, likhāpita are replaced at Shāhbāzgarhī by nīpista, nīpesita, nīpesapita,<sup>4</sup> which cannot be derived from the Sanskrit root nish-pish, 'to crush', but must be connected with the Ancient Persian nī-pish, 'to write'.<sup>5</sup> The words ayi dhrama-dipi nīpista, 'this rescript on morality has been written', at Shāhbāzgarhī, V, O, and XIII, X, remind one most strongly of the cuneiform inscriptions. Thus Darius says at Behistan, column 4, section 15 :—[tu]vam kā hya aparam imām dipim vaināhy tyām adam niyapī[sha]m, 'O thou who shalt see this inscription in the future which I have written';<sup>6</sup> and Xerxes says at Van :—yanaiy dipim naiy nīpishṭām akunaush pasāva adam niyashṭāyan imām dipim nīpish-tanaiy, 'where [Darius] did not cause an inscription to be written; afterwards I commanded to write this inscription'.<sup>7</sup> The conclusion is irresistible that neither dipi nor nīpista are genuine Indian words, but that they have been taken over from the Ancient Persian language before Pāṇini's time, when the provinces of Sindhu and Gandhāra belonged to the Persian empire.<sup>8</sup> The Kharōshthī alphabet<sup>9</sup> and the Persepolitan capital<sup>10</sup> came to India from the same source. The preamble of many of Aśoka's edicts : 'king Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin speaks thus', is evidently a reminiscence and modification of the Achæmenidan formula : θātiy Dārayavaush (Xshayārshā, Artaxshathrā) xshāyathiya, 'says Darius (Xerxes, Artaxerxes) the king'. Tushāspa, the name of the Yavana king who was Aśoka's governor of Gīrnār,<sup>11</sup> seems to be a Persian word like Vishtāspa, Keresāspa, &c., and suggests that Aśoka enlisted Irānians in his service.

CHAPTER IV. ASOKA'S CONVERSION

FROM Buddhist literature we learn that Aśōka became a convert to and patron of Buddhism. The Kaśmīr historian Kalhaṇa also reports that Aśōka 'adopted the religion of Jina (i.e. Buddha)' and built many Stūpas.<sup>1</sup> According to the Dīpavaṃsa (VI, 55), he became a Buddhist lay-worshipper (upāsaka), and the accounts of the Mahāvamsa (V, 72) and of the Samantapāsādikā (p. 303) imply the same fact. His conversion took place three full years, i.e. in the fourth year, after his abhiśēka.<sup>2</sup> He is believed to have built no less than 84,000 Vihāras in as many towns, besides the Aśōkārāma at Pāṭaliputra, and to have consecrated all these buildings after three years, i.e. in the seventh year of his reign.<sup>3</sup>

Aśōka's inscriptions fully corroborate the tradition that he favoured Buddhism, and show that he was intimately acquainted with its tenets, legends, and literature. This will be clear from the subjoined references.

(1) In the Calcutta-Bairāt rock-inscription the king pays his respects to the Saṃgha or clergy, gives expression to his reverence to and faith in the Buddha, the Dharma or doctrine, and the Saṃgha, and recommends to monks and nuns, to laymen and to laywomen, the study of seven 'expositions of the Dharma' selected by himself. These seven texts have been actually traced in the Buddhist canon.<sup>4</sup>

(2) In the Kauśāmbī, Sānchī, and Sārnāth pillar-edicts he orders heretical monks and nuns to be expelled from the Saṃgha. This order of the king is known to the tradition of the Southern Buddhists.<sup>5</sup>

(3) The rock-edict VIII, C, states that when he had been anointed ten years, he paid a visit to Saṃbōdhi, i.e. Bōdh-Gayā, the place where the Buddha had attained to perfect knowledge. According to the Dīvyāvadāna (p. 393), Aśōka visited Bōdhi in the company of the Sthavira Upagupta and distributed there 100,000 (gold pieces).

(4) The same sum he is said to have spent at Lumbinī-vana, the site of Buddha's birth (id., p. 389 f.). His visit to it is confirmed by the Rummindēi pillar, which was erected by him when, having been anointed twenty years, he came himself to the village of Lumbini and worshipped the spot where the Buddha Śākyamuni was born.

(5) The Nigālī Sāgar pillar records that when he had been anointed fourteen years, he enlarged the Stūpa of the (mythical) Buddha Kōṇākamana to the double (of its original size), and that when he had been anointed [twenty] years, he came himself and worshipped that spot.

(6) The Kālsī and Dhauli rocks bear the figure of an elephant with the labels 'the best elephant' and 'the white (elephant)'.<sup>6</sup> On the Girnār rock the elephant has been destroyed, but the existing label implies that the missing figure represented the Buddha, who is believed to have entered his mother's womb in the shape of a white elephant;<sup>1</sup> cf. the Nidānakathā of the Jātaka, vol. 1, p. 50, and the representation of the 'descent of the Blessed one' on the Bharaut Stūpa.<sup>2</sup>

These six references raise a strong presumption in favour of the view that Aśoka had adopted the Buddhist religion in the course of his reign. Further undeniable evidence is supplied by the Rūpnāth, Sahasrām, Bairāt, Maski, and the three Mysore rock-inscriptions, which will have now to be considered at some length. These records, or proclamations (śrāvaṇa) as Aśoka calls them himself, were issued 'two and a half years and somewhat more' after he had become a Buddhist (Śākya at Rūpnāth, Buddha-Śākya at Maski, section B) or a lay-worshipper (upāsaka, Sahasrām, &c.), and 'a year and somewhat more' after he had approached the Samgha (Rūpnāth, &c., section D). Section B confirms the statement of the Dīpavaṃsa that Aśoka became a Buddhist upāsaka (above, p. xliii). In section D the word 'approached' (upēta) is ambiguous. Bühler, who first edited these inscriptions, took it in the sense of 'entered'; and, by adding thirty-two and a half years (which were derived from the misreading aḍḍhiṭṭisāni at Rūpnāth) and one further year to the traditional date of Aśoka's conversion (three years), he arrived at the conclusion that the Rūpnāth edict was issued shortly before his death (IA, 6. 153). After Oldenberg had shown that aḍḍhiṭṭisāni was a misreading for aḍḍhiṭṭiyāni, 'two and a half',<sup>3</sup> Bühler was obliged 'to give up the assumption that the statements of the inscription regarding the time of Aśoka's conversion to Buddhism agree with those of the Buddhist tradition' (EI, 3. 137). As Aśoka is known to have reigned thirty-seven years,<sup>4</sup> Fleet, who followed Bühler in assigning the Rūpnāth and cognate edicts to the last years of the king's life, assumed that he abdicated before the end of it in order to turn a Buddhist monk. But literary tradition knows nothing of such an abdication, unless we can find some reminiscence of it in the fact that 'the Divyāvadāna relates that Aśoka died destitute of power and possessions, having given everything that he could give to the Buddhist Samgha'.<sup>5</sup> Moreover, an ex-king could not have issued commands (āṇapayati, Brahmagiri edict, B) to his former officers. Besides, the Rūpnāth and Sahasrām edicts must be considered the earliest of all the Aśoka inscriptions for two reasons:—(1) they speak of inscriptions on rocks and pillars as a task which it was intended to carry out, and not as a fait accompli; <sup>6</sup> (2) they, and the three Mysore records, contain the first elements of Aśoka's Dharma, which we find more fully developed in his rock- and pillar-edicts. Bühler (EI, 3. 141) believed that, as the Rūpnāth edict contrasts the words 'since I have approached the Samgha' with the words 'since I am a (Buddhist) lay-worshipper', the former cannot convey any other meaning but 'that he had entered the Samgha, and had become, at least nominally, a monk; compare the Sanskrit phrases yajñam, vratham, or brahmacharyam upa-i'. But the only other testimony for such a pabbajjā is that of the Chinese pilgrim I-tsing, who mentions an image of Aśoka dressed in the garb of a Buddhist monk;<sup>7</sup> and the expression saṃgham upa-i for the precise idea of 'entering into the monastic order' is, as Senart (IA, 20. 163) reminds us, 'vague and not sanctioned by the ordinary terminology, necessarily fixed at an early date in such a matter; besides, this situation of a king, who, while preserving his royal prerogatives and his royal life, enters into a religious order, is far removed from the idea which we are accustomed to form with regard to Buddhist monachism in the ancient period.' These considerations induce me to accept the view of Senart, who takes the word upēta in the sense of 'visited' and finds in it a reference to a state visit paid by the king to the Samgha.<sup>1</sup> Aśoka's first visit to the Samgha is placed by the Dīpavaṃsa (VI, 78), Mahāvamsa (V, 76), and Samantapāsādikā (p. 303) in the very year of his conversion to Buddhism. Senart compares the visit recorded in the Rūpnāth and connected edicts with the festival of the consecration of Aśoka's 84,000 Stūpas, which is alleged to have been celebrated three years later, and at which the king is stated to have 'stood in the midst of the Samgha'.<sup>2</sup>

As stated above (p. xliv), the Rūpnāth edict informs us that, when issuing it, (1) Aśoka had been a Buddhist for more than two and a half years (section B), and (2) more than a year had passed after his visit to the Samgha (section D). The word sami, 'I am', in section B of the Rūpnāth, Sahasrām, and Maski edicts proves that the two and a half years of Aśoka's upāsakatva did not precede the single year which followed his visit to the Samgha, but included the second period.<sup>3</sup> Instead of section C of the Rūpnāth and Sahasrām edicts, the Brahmagiri and Śiddāpura edicts read: 'but indeed I had not been very zealous for one year'. This more precise statement implies that the period of somewhat more than two and a half years has to be subdivided into one year with, no doubt, a little more, followed by one year with the balance of the whole period. During this second year, Aśoka, having visited the Samgha, showed himself very zealous.<sup>4</sup> In section E of the Sahasrām edict he states that, in consequence of his zeal, 'men in Jambudvīpa (i.e. in India), being during that (i.e. in the preceding) time unmingled with the gods, have (now) been made (by me) mingled with the gods'. This passage has been much discussed and interpreted in various ways. I have suggested that the 'gods' (dēva) may be compared with the 'divine figures' (divyāni rūpāṇi) of the rock-edict IV, B, where the king claims to have exhibited 'representations of aerial chariots, representations of elephants, masses of fire, and other divine figures', evidently in order to induce his subjects to lead moral lives and thereby to qualify for heaven.<sup>5</sup> The 'festive meetings' (samājā) which were approved of by him in the rock-edict I, E, are probably identical with those religious shows instituted by him.

I now pass to the knottiest problem of all those which the Rūpnāth and cognate edicts propound to posterity, viz. the meaning and application of the word vivāsa at the end of the Rūpnāth edict. This substantive may be expected to be derived from the same root as, and to be connected in meaning with, the verb vivaseti in a preceding section (L). The same verb occurs as vivāsayati in section I of the Sārnāth edict. As I have shown elsewhere,<sup>6</sup> this section adds nothing new to the king's order, but contains further provisions for ensuring a still wider circulation to it, and we have to translate vivāsayati at Sārnāth and, along with it, vivaseti at Rūpnāth by 'causing to leave home, causing to start on tour, despatching (messengers)'.<sup>7</sup> Consequently the substantive vivāsa seems to mean 'staying away from home, remaining on tour'. A comparison of the wording of section M at Rūpnāth with section J at Sahasrām yields the result that the edict was issued by a person on tour, who can be no other but Aśōka himself,<sup>1</sup> when he had spent 256 nights<sup>2</sup> on tour. It follows that Aśōka had started on tour a few months after visiting the Sanīgha, which he had done more than a year before issuing the Rūpnāth, Sahasrām, Bairāt, Maski, and the three Mysore edicts.

The Rūpnāth and cognate edicts do not specify the years of Aśōka's reign in which his conversion and his visit to the Sanīgha took place; but they furnish a few de ails which enable us to fix their time with great probability, viz. :

- (a) Aśōka became a Buddhist upāsaka.
- (b) He visited the Sanīgha one year after (a).
- (c) He started on tour.
- (d) He issued the Rūpnāth edict, &c., more than two and a half years after (a), more than one year after (b), and 256 nights after (c).

On p. xxxvi I gave a conspectus of the regnal dates which Aśōka's inscriptions contain. Of these I here repeat the following ones in tabular form :

No. 1	Rock-edict XIII	8 years after the abhishhāka	Conquest of Kālīṅga.
" 2	" " VIII	10 " " "	Visit to Sāmbōdhi.
" 3	Pillar-edict VI	12 " " "	Publication of rescripts on morality.
" 4	Rock-edict IV	" " " "	Institution of public shows of edifying subjects.

On p. xlv I gave two pieces of evidence to show that (d) the Rūpnāth and cognate edicts must be considered the earliest of all. No. 3 places them twelve years after Aśōka's abhishhāka, i.e. in the thirteenth year of his reign.<sup>3</sup> If we suppose that they belong to the second half of the thirteenth year, we may combine No. 2 with (a) and assume that Aśōka's visit to Sāmbōdhi in the eleventh year of his reign was connected with his conversion to Buddhism. In this case (b) would fall in his twelfth year and (c) about the end of the same year. No. 1 explains the conversion by mentioning the circumstances which occasioned it. The king confesses that the Kālīṅga war was the turning-point in his religious career, and that his grief at the enormous loss of human life made him repent of his conquest and aspire henceforth to the 'conquest by morality'.<sup>4</sup> Herewith we may compare the Mahāvamsa, V, 189 :

'Before, he had been known as Chaṇḍāśōka (i.e. the fierce Aśōka) on account of his evil deeds; afterwards he became known as Dharmāśōka (i.e. the pious Aśōka) on account of his virtuous deeds'.<sup>5</sup>

The Mahāvamsa places this change of name and character in the seventh year of Aśōka's reign and his conversion already in the fourth year (above, p. xliii). These dates cannot be reconciled with the epigraphical ones and must be erroneous.<sup>6</sup> But the fact that the Buddhist chronicles agree with the inscriptions in recording a change in Aśōka's policy and principles of government about the time of his conversion proves that their accounts are not purely imaginary, but are based on contemporaneous tradition.

At the same time they furnish in this manner another piece of evidence in favour of the correctness of Prinsep's identification of Aśoka with the Dēvānāmpriya who issued the edicts published in this volume.

A few words have to be added concerning the 256 nights which the king had spent on tour when he published his first religious proclamations. Aśoka's tours are referred to and their object specified in the rock-edict VIII, in which he states that, after he had gone to Sāmbōdhi (i.e. after his conversion to Buddhism), he commenced to undertake 'tours of morality' (dharma-yātrā) for 'visiting Brāhmaṇas and Śramaṇas and making gifts (to them), visiting the aged and supporting (them) with gold, visiting the people of the country, instructing (them) in morality, and questioning (them) about morality'. This edict was probably not issued before the rock-edict V which records the appointment of Dharma-mahāmātras thirteen years after the abhiśhēka. As the tour during which Aśoka issued the Rūpnāth edict had been undertaken in his twelfth year when he commenced to be 'very zealous', it may be concluded that it was his first dharma-yātrā. When he issued his proclamation in the second half of his thirteenth year, he had been in camp 256 nights. The special reason which induced him to acquaint us with this figure is not apparent. Fleet has shown that it does not mark any division or total of subdivisions of the year, either lunar or solar;<sup>1</sup> but, as I believe I have shown that the Rūpnāth and other records are not the last, but the earliest of the edicts, I am unable to accept his ingenious suggestion that the 256 nights had been spent in worship because they corresponded to an equal number of years which had then elapsed since Buddha's Nirvāṇa.<sup>2</sup>

It must still be noted that the Calcutta-Bairāt rock-inscription or 'letter to the Samgha' seems to be earlier than all the other rock- and pillar-edicts. The references to a few Buddhist tracts in this inscription suggest that after his visit to the Samgha, and before starting on tour, he was engaged in studying the sacred literature. This would place the inscription in the twelfth year of his reign.

The Kauśāmbī, Sānchī, and Sārnāth edicts cannot be earlier than the six first pillar-edicts, because the first of them is engraved on the Allahabad-Kōsam pillar in a position which shows it to have been a subsequent addition.<sup>3</sup>

CHAPTER V. ASOKA'S DHARMA

In the last chapter I trust to have proved that Aśoka had already embraced Buddhism when he commenced to issue 'proclamations on morality' (dharma-śrāvāṇa) or 'rescripts on morality' (dharma-lipi) in order to convert his subjects. He tells us himself (pillar-edict VII, J-L):

'The following occurred to me: I shall issue proclamations on morality (and) shall order instruction in morality (to be given). Hearing this, men will conform to (it), will be elevated, and will (be made to) progress considerably by the promotion of morality.'

The date of this propaganda is given in the pillar-edict VI, B:

'(When I had been) anointed twelve years, rescripts on morality were caused to be written by me for the welfare and happiness of the people, (in order that), not transgressing those (rescripts), they might attain a promotion of morality in various respects.'

As shown above (p. xlv), Aśoka's first proclamations (śrāvāṇa)<sup>1</sup> were the Rūpnāth and cognate edicts. When issuing them, he ordered that his views should be made public by inscribing them on rocks and pillars.<sup>2</sup> In the same year he directed his officers to carry on the propaganda on their quinquennial circuit (rock-edict III, C) :

'Everywhere in my dominions the Yuktas, the Rājūka, and the Prādāsika shall set out on a complete tour (throughout their charges) every five years for this very purpose, (viz.) for the following instruction in morality as well as for other business.'<sup>3</sup>

In the next year of his reign he created special 'Mahāmātras of morality' (Dharma-mahāmātra, rock-edict V, I), whom I have mentioned before (p. xl). A fresh set of six edicts was engraved on pillars twenty-six years after the abhiśhēka, and the seventh pillar-edict at Delhi-Tōprā was added in the next year.

European analogies might lead us to expect that Aśoka's conversion to Buddhism would have induced him to persecute the votaries of other religions. In reality the Hindūs have been at all times extremely tolerant to other creeds, and have allowed everybody to try to attain salvation in his own fashion. Among the six orthodox schools of philosophy they count the pantheistic Vēdānta and the atheistic Sāṃkhya, and epigraphical and literary records show that Hindū kings considered it their duty to build temples and to make grants to other gods and denominations than their own. The same tolerance was practised by Aśoka. As a pious Hindū he acknowledged the 'debt' (ṛiṇa) which every king owes to his subjects in return for the revenue (śhaḍbhāga) levied from them, and which consists in affording them protection (pālana) :

'Whatever effort I am making, (is made) in order that I may discharge the debt (which I owe) to living beings, (that) I may make them happy in this (world), and (that) they may attain heaven in the other (world).'<sup>4</sup>

In the same spirit he says :

'All men are my children. As on behalf of (my own) children I desire that they may be provided by me with complete welfare and happiness in this world and in the other world, even so is my desire on behalf of all men.'<sup>5</sup>

This principle is further specified in the pillar-edict VI, C-E :

'(Thinking) : "thus the welfare and happiness of the people (will be secured)", I am directing my attention not only to (my) relatives, but to those who are near and far, in order that I may lead them to happiness, and I am instructing (them) accordingly. In the same manner I am directing my attention to all classes. And all the sects have been honoured by me with honours of various kinds.'

On the other hand, the king reminds the Mahāmātras that they owe him the debt of obedience in return for the salary received from him ; see id., L and M, respectively, and the first separate edict, Q and R, U and V, respectively.

<sup>5</sup> See the first separate edict at Jaugaḍa, F, G, and the second, E, F.

Accordingly he directed his Dharma-mahāmātras to busy themselves with Brāhmanas and Ibhyas (i.e. Vaiśyas, rock-edict V, K), and with ascetics and householders (pillar-edict VII, Y), placed special officers in charge of the Buddhist clergy, of the Ājivikas,<sup>1</sup> Nirgranthas (i.e. Jainas), and other sects (id., Z), and permitted all sects to reside in any place they liked (rock-edict VII, A). In the very remarkable rock-edict XII, which does him the greatest credit, he gives expression to his impartial consideration for all sects<sup>2</sup> and entreats them in their own interest to respect each other :

'For whosoever praises his own sect or blames other sects,—all (this) out of devotion to his own sect, (i.e.) with the view of glorifying his own sect,—if he is acting thus, he rather injures his own sect very severely' (section H).

Hence the king recommends to all sects concord (samādhya, section I) and the guarding of speech (vakāḥ-guṇi, section D).

There is nothing specifically Buddhistic in those benefactions to which the second rock-edict refers. Asoka arranged for medical treatment of men and cattle not only in his own dominions, but among his borderers, and caused medicinal herbs, roots, and fruits to be cultivated. Along the roads he had trees planted and wells dug for the benefit of cattle and men.<sup>3</sup> The Delhi-Tōpra pillar-edict VII, which was issued twenty-seven years after the abhiśiṣṭa, states that he planted banyan-trees and mango-groves along the roads, that at intervals of eight ḷās he had wells dug and flights of steps (for descending into the water) built, and that he established numerous places for the supply of drinking-water to cattle and men (sections R-T). When twenty-six years had elapsed after his abhiśiṣṭa, he had ordered the release of prisoners twenty-five times (pillar-edict V, L). This suggests that he used to proclaim an amnesty to criminals at almost every anniversary of his coronation. The fourth pillar-edict records that the king left rewards and punishments to the discretion of his Lajikas, in order to ensure impartiality in judicial proceedings, and that he granted three days' respite to prisoners on whom the sentence of capital punishment had been passed. The fifth rock-edict (L) and the first separate edict (Dhauli, J, K, Y; Jangada, K, L, Z) also testify to his regard for innocent prisoners.

All these measures were certainly prompted by his care for his subjects, but they do not characterize him as a Buddhist reformer. If we turn to an examination of what he tells us about the nature of his Dharma, it appears that the latter is in thorough agreement with the picture of Buddhist morality which is preserved in the beautiful anthology entitled Dhammapadam, i.e. 'words of morality'. Here we find Buddhism in statu nascendi. 'From the definitions or descriptions which the king gives us, it follows that to him Dharma ordinarily implies what we call the sum of moral duties.'<sup>4</sup> 'The ideas and the language which are brought to light, from a religious point of view, in our inscriptions, cannot be considered as an isolated expression of individual convictions or conceptions.' The Dhammapadam 'lays before us an equivalent sufficiently exact to allow us to consider that they correspond to a certain state of Buddhism, earlier than that which has found expression in the majority of the books which have come down to us.<sup>1</sup>

The word Dharma is first mentioned in the Maski edict (section E). It is defined thus in the second portion of the Brahmagiri record (sections M-Q):

‘Moreover, Dāṇānāṃpriya speaks thus: Obedience must be rendered to mother and father, likewise to elders; nīrmness (of compassion) must be shown towards animals; the truth must be spoken: these same moral virtues (dharma-guṇa) must be practised. In the same way the pupil must show reverence to the master, and one must behave in a suitable manner towards relatives. This is an ancient rule, and this conduces to long life. Thus one must act.’

The rock-edicts repeat or amplify the same injunctions:

‘Meritorious is obedience to mother and father. Liberality to friends, acquaintances, and relatives, to Brāhmaṇas and Śramaṇas (i.e. Buddhist monks) is meritorious. Abstention from killing animals is meritorious. Moderation in expenditure (and) moderation in possessions are meritorious’ (III, D).

‘Abstention from killing animals, abstention from hurting living beings, courtesy to relatives, courtesy to Brāhmaṇas and Śramaṇas, obedience to mother (and) father, (and) obedience to the aged’ (IV, C).

‘Proper courtesy to slaves and servants, reverence to elders, gentleness to animals, (and) liberality to Brāhmaṇas and Śramaṇas’ (IX, G).

‘Proper courtesy to slaves and servants, obedience to mother (and) father, liberality to friends, acquaintances, and relatives, to Brāhmaṇas and Śramaṇas, (and) abstention from killing animals’ (XI, C).

‘Obedience to those who receive high pay, obedience to mother and father, obedience to elders, proper courtesy to friends, acquaintances, companions, and relatives, to slaves and servants, (and) firm devotion’ (XIII, G).

Finally, the pillar-edict VII, section HH, speaks of a progress ‘in obedience to mother and father, in obedience to elders, in courtesy to the aged, in courtesy to Brāhmaṇas and Śramaṇas, to the poor and distressed, (and) even to slaves and servants’.

A noteworthy point in the above extracts is the equal respect which the king paid to Brāhmaṇas and Śramaṇas.<sup>2</sup> As Senart (IA, 20. 263) has shown, the Dhammapada, though a professedly Buddhist work, does exactly the same. There are, however, two edicts in which Aśoka denounces Brāhmanical usage. In the ninth rock-edict he condemns ‘many and various vulgar (“offensive” at Shāhbāzgarhi) and useless ceremonies’ which women are practising ‘during illness, at the marriage of a son or a daughter, at the birth of a son, and when setting out on a journey’, and recommends in their stead the practice of morality.<sup>3</sup> Secondly, in the first rock-edict, section B, he directly prohibits the killing of animals at sacrifices. At the end of the same edict, however, he naively confesses that he had not yet been able to carry out fully the ‘abstention from killing animals’ which formed part of his moral code, and that three animals were still being killed daily in his kitchen; but he promises that even this slaughter would be discontinued in future. Along with animal sacrifices he prohibited festive meetings (samāja, sections C, D), perhaps because some of them, like the Spanish bull-fights, consisted of contests of animals,<sup>1</sup> and substituted another kind of festive meetings (section E), viz. the edifying shows alluded to in the fourth rock-edict and in the Rūpnāth and cognate edicts (above, p. xlv).

<sup>3</sup> Cf. the Māṅgala-sutta (Khuddaka-pāṭha, V; JRS, 1870. 312 ff.) or Mahāmāṅgala-sutta (Sutta-nipāṭa, II, 4), in which the Buddha himself declares what he considers ‘the highest māṅgala’.

Among Aśoka's 'good deeds' the second pillar-edict (E) gives prominence to various benefits conferred on animals. This statement is explained by the fifth pillar-edict, which contains a detailed list of animals that were declared inviolable either permanently or on certain days, among them the well-known fast-days (posatha).<sup>2</sup> From the Delhi-Tōpra pillar-edict VII it appears that this limitation of the general principle of ahiṃsā was a concession which Aśoka, though a convinced Buddhist, was obliged to make to the majority of his subjects:

'Now this progress of morality among men has been promoted (by me) only in two ways, (viz.) by moral restrictions and by instruction.<sup>3</sup> But among these (two), those moral restrictions are of little consequence; by instruction, however, (morality is promoted) more considerably. Now moral restrictions indeed are these, that I have ordered this, (that) certain animals are inviolable . . . . By instruction, however, the progress of morality among men has been promoted more considerably, (because it leads) to abstention from hurting living beings, (and) to abstention from killing animals' (sections JJ-NN).

One of the items in the lists of virtues which constituted Aśoka's Dharma was liberality or charity (dāna). He not only practised it on his 'tours of morality' (above, p. xlvii), but organized the distribution of his own gifts and of those of his relatives through his officers; see the Delhi-Tōpra pillar-edict VII, sections CC, DD:

'Both these and many other chief (officers) are occupied with the delivery of the gifts of myself as well as of the queens, and among my whole harem [they are reporting] in divers ways different worthy recipients of charity both here and in the provinces. And others were ordered by me to busy themselves also with the delivery of the gifts of (my) sons and of other queens' sons, in order (to promote) noble deeds of morality (and) the practice of morality.'

According to the next section (EE) 'noble deeds of morality and the practice of morality (consist in) this, that (morality), viz. compassion, liberality, truthfulness, purity, gentleness, and goodness, will thus be promoted among men'; while the pillar-edict II (B, C) says:—'What does morality include? (It includes) few sins, many virtuous deeds, compassion, liberality, truthfulness, (and) purity.' These two lists remind us of verse 224 of the Dhammapada, where it is stated that the practice of truthfulness, absence of anger, and charity leads to the gods:

Sacchetaṃ bhāṇe na kujjheyya dajjā appasmi yāchito
etehi tiṇi ṭhānehi gacchhe devāna santike ॥

With the words 'few sins, many virtuous deeds' in the pillar-edict II, C, Senart (IA, 20. 262) compares verse 183 of the Dhammapada:

Sabbapāpass' akaraṇaṃ kusalass' ūpasampadā

<sup>3</sup> This, and not 'conversion', seems to be the actual meaning of nijhāti. Cf. Suttanipāta, II, 8, verses 5 and 7.

In the fourth rock-edict Aśoka remarks that 'the practice of morality is not (possible) for (a person) devoid of good conduct' (aśīlasya, section H), and exhorts his descendants to be 'abiding by morality (and) by good conduct' (dharmaṃ śīlā tishṭhantaḥ, F). In the Dhammapada we read in verse 217 :

Sila-dassana-sampannaṃ dhammaṭṭhaṃ sachchavādinam ।

and in verse 84 :

sa sīlavā paññavā dhammiko siyā ॥

Aśoka's remark : sukaram hi pāpaṃ, 'for sin is easily committed' (Girnār edict V, G), reminds us of sukarāṇi asādhūni in verse 163 of the Dhammapada, and the words : dupāṭivekhe chu kho esā, 'now this (evil deed of mine) is indeed difficult to recognise' (pillar-edict III, D), of verse 252 :

Sudassaṃ vajjam aññesaṃ attano pana duddasaṃ ।

and of verse 50 :

Na paresaṃ vilomāni na paresaṃ katākataṃ ।
attano va avekkheyya katāni akatāni cha ॥

The lists of evil passions (āsinaṃ-gāmiṇi, pillar-edict III, F) and dispositions (jātāni)<sup>1</sup> do not tally with the *āsava*s and *kilesa*s of the Buddhists.<sup>2</sup> To counteract these dispositions, Aśoka recommends 'the absence of anger and the avoidance of hurry'<sup>3</sup> and continues :

'Whoever is fatigued in the administration (of justice), will [not] move and rise ; but one ought to move, to walk, and to advance in the administration (of justice)' (Jaugaḍa, Q).

This maxim reminds one of verse 168 of the Dhammapada :

Uttiṭṭhe nappamajjeyya dhammaṃ sucharitaṃ chare ।

Already Aśoka's earliest proclamations have zeal (parākrama or prākrama) for their subject.<sup>4</sup> He returns to it in the sixth rock-edict, which dwells on the necessity of exertion (utthāna, sections H, J) or zeal (parākrama, N) in conducting public business. Similarly, the Dhammapada recommends utthāna (verses 24, 25, 280), parakkama (verses 23, 383), and appamāda (verses 21-32). In two of his sermons on 'zeal' Aśoka appeals to all his subjects, not only to those in high positions, but to those in humble life as well ; see the Rūpnāth edict, sections G, H :

'And this cannot be reached by (persons of) high rank (alone), (but) even a lowly (person) is able to attain even the great heaven if he is zealous. And for the following purpose has (this) proclamation been issued, (that) both the lowly and the exalted may be zealous.'

Compare with this the rock-edict X, sections E, F :

'But it is indeed difficult either for a lowly person or for a high one to accomplish this without great zeal (and without) laying aside every (other aim). But among these (two) it is indeed (more) difficult to accomplish for a high (person).'

A similar sentiment occurs in the seventh rock-edict, section E :

'But even one who (practises) great liberality, (but) does not possess self-control, purity of mind, gratitude, and firm devotion, is very mean.'

The eleventh rock-edict (B) and the ninth (J) state that 'there is no such gift as the gift of morality' (dharmā-dāna). Senart (IA, 20, 62) compares verse 354 of the Dhammapada :

Sabbadānaṃ dhammadānaṃ jināti.

Spiritual insight (chakka), which Aśoka claims to have spread in many ways,<sup>1</sup> is alluded to in the Dhammapada, verse 273 :

virāgo seṭṭho dhammānaṃ dipadānaṃ cha chakkhumā ॥

According to the thirteenth rock-edict (L) 'Devānāmpriya thinks that even (to one) who should wrong (him), what can be forgiven is to be forgiven'.<sup>2</sup>

This remark reminds us of the noble verse 223 of the Dhammapada :<sup>3</sup>

Akkodhena jine kodham asādhunā sādhanā jine ।
jine kadāryaṃ dānena sacchenālikavādinaṃ ॥

The thirteenth rock-edict (sections M-O) continues thus :

'And even (the inhabitants of) the forests which are (included) in the dominions of Devānāmpriya, even those he pacifies (and) instructs.<sup>4</sup> And they are told of the power (to punish them) which Devānāmpriya (possesses) in spite of (his) repentance, in order that they may be ashamed (of their crimes) and may not be killed. For Devānāmpriya desires towards all beings abstention from hurting, self-control, (and) impartiality in (case of) violence.'

This is the 'conquest by morality' (dharmā-vijaya) which Aśoka substitutes for the conquest by arms, and which he claims to have won even among his neighbours (sections P-U). He requests his descendants that they 'should not think that a fresh conquest ought to be made, (that) if a conquest does please them they should take pleasure in mercy and light punishments, and (that) they should regard the conquest by morality as the only (true) conquest' (section X).

In one important point Aśoka's inscriptions differ from, and reflect an earlier stage in the development of Buddhist theology or metaphysics than, the Dhammapada : they do not yet know anything of the doctrine of Nirvāṇa, but presuppose the general Hindu belief that the rewards of the practice of Dharma are happiness in this world and merit in the other world. See the rock-edict IX, M, N (Kālsī); X, C; XI, E; XIII, W, Y, AA; the Dhauli separate edict I, F; II, E, G, K; the pillar-edict I, C; III, H; IV, E, M, N; VII, PP. Cf. the Dhammapada, verse 219 f. :

Chirappavāsīṃ purisaṃ dūrato sotthim āgataṃ ।
ñātimittā suhajā cha abhinandanti āgataṃ ॥
Tath' eva katapuññaṃ pi asmā lokā paraṃ gataṃ ।

Instead of 'merit in the other world' Aśoka often uses the term 'heaven' (svarga). See Rūpnāth, Sahasrām, and Bairāt, G; Brahmagiri and Śiddāpura, H; the rock-edict VI, L; IX, K, L (Girnār); the Dhauli separate edict I, S, U; II, L. The Dhammapada (verse 126), however, distinguishes Nirvāṇa from Svarga:

saggaṃ sugatino yanti parinibbant' anāsavā ॥

At the end of this survey of the contents of Aśoka's inscriptions we have still to consider the fourteenth rock-edict, in which the author of the preceding edicts states that he caused them to be written 'either in an abridged (form), or of middle (size), or at full length. For the whole was not suitable everywhere'. The words 'at full length' must apply to the complete sets of fourteen edicts at Girnār, Kālsī, Shāhbāzgarhī, and Mānsehrā. These four versions are practically identical, with the exception of the end of edict IX, where the three last of them (Kālsī, &c.) differ, for reasons which are not apparent, from Girnār, Dhauli, and Jaugaḍa.<sup>1</sup> The words 'in an abridged (form)' may refer to the Rūpnāth and cognate edicts, and the words 'of middle (size)' to Dhauli and Jaugaḍa, where two separate edicts were substituted for the rock-edicts XI–XIII. These, or at least the third of them, were 'not suitable' here because Dhauli and Jaugaḍa formed part of the newly conquered country of Kalinga and required different treatment and special orders to the administrative officers. It can be shown that the two separate edicts at Dhauli and Jaugaḍa were contemporaneous with the thirteenth rock-edict of the other versions: The words 'that Dēvānāmpriya will forgive them (viz. his unconquered borderers) what can be forgiven; that they may (be induced) by me (to) practise morality; (and) that they may attain (happiness in) this world and (in) the other world' in section G of the Dhauli separate edict II correspond to sections L and M of the thirteenth rock-edict at Shāhbāzgarhī:

'And Dēvānāmpriya thinks that even (to one) who should wrong (him), what can be forgiven is to be forgiven. And even (the inhabitants of) the forests which are (included) in the dominions of Dēvānāmpriya, even those he pacifies (and) instructs.'<sup>2</sup>

Another point of contact exists between the first separate edict and the third rock-edict, which Aśoka issued twelve years after his abhiśheka, and in which he ordered the officers of all districts of his empire to undertake quinquennial tours for inspection and propaganda purposes. The first separate edict at Dhauli must have been drafted in the same year because in its sections Z and CC the king speaks of the quinquennial circuit of the Mahāmātras as a measure which he was about to introduce. At the same time triennial tours were instituted in the provinces of Ujjayinī and Takshaśilā; see sections AA, BB of the same edict.

CHAPTER VI.

GRAMMAR OF THE GIRNAR ROCK-EDICTS

A.—PHONETICS

I. VOWELS.

The vowel a is replaced by u in osudha (=Skt. ausadha, II, 5). This change is due to the influence of the o in the preceding syllable; cf. udupāna=Skt. udapāna in the Māgadha dialect.<sup>1</sup>

The e of eta (= **itra*?) seems to be developed from an original i; see Johansson, Shāhb., § 21.

As in Pāli, Skt. u is represented by a in garu (XIII, 6), while the form guru occurs three times. The a may have been introduced from the comparative garīyas and the superlative garishṭha; see Michelson, IF, 23. 260, n. 1. In kho (=Skt. khalu) the a is lost by syncope, the l is assimilated to the preceding kh, and Skt. u is represented by o. The form kho is used also in Pāli, while the literary Prakṛits have khu (for **khlū*, an enclitic form of khalu) instead of it.<sup>2</sup>

In the foreign name Añtiyaka=Avtiyos, o is expressed by a. In [A]ñti[ek]ina=Avtiyos, e and i correspond to i and o, and in Turanāya=Πτολεμαῖος, u and a to o and ē.

The Gīrnār dialect has lost one of the Sanskrit vowels, viz. ṛi, which became i (after the stress accent) in etārisa, tārisa, yārisa (=Skt. etādṛiṣa, &c.), and u (after labials) in paripuchlā and vuta (= vṛitta, X, 2), but generally a:—ānaniṣa (= ānṛiṣa), kacha (= kṛiṣa), kata, dadha, bhata, bhataka, maga, magavyā, mata (= mṛita, XIII, 1), vistata, vyāpata, suhadaya<sup>3</sup> (IX, 7), v[a]dhi (= vṛiddhi, IV, 11). In vadhi (= vṛiddhi, XII, 2, 8, 9) and usaṭa<sup>4</sup> the ṛi, which became a, has caused the lingualization of the following dental. In vrachha (= vṛiksha, II, 8) the vowel ṛi is represented by the syllable ra, and in sruṇāru (XII, 7) by ru through the influence of other forms of the root śru.

Of diphthongs, ai is found only in thaira, traidasa, and samachaira, the genesis of which will be explained below (p. lvii f.), and au is always changed to o:—dvo, pāralokika, poṭra, pṛapoṭra, osudha, -opaga and -opaya.

Short vowels are lengthened in ānāntaram<sup>5</sup> (=Skt. anantaram, VI, 8), āchāyī[ke]<sup>6</sup> (= ātyayīkam, VI, 7), mādhūratā (= madhuratā, XIV, 4), nāṭisu (IV, 1), abhikāra (= **abhikāra*, V, 7), abhīramaka (VIII, 2), paṭivesiya (= prativēṣya, XI, 3), paṭibhā[g]a (XIII, 4), saṃpratīpati (=Skt. saṃpratīpatti, IV, 2; also spelt saṃpratīpati and saṃpaṭīpati), vivāha<sup>7</sup> (= vivāha, IX, 2), vijaya (XIII, 10; also vijaya), bahāhi (= bahubhiḥ, IV, 4), and at the end of words in tatrā (XIII, 1), paratrā (VI, 12), sarvatrā (II, 6), etamhī (IX, 2), pañthesū (II, 8).

Initial ā is shortened in aropitani, and final ā in tatha (= tathā, XII, 6), [Yo]na-rāja (XIII, 8) = Yona-rājā (II, 3), and in the enclitic va, which is far more frequent than its original form vā. The three forms āraddho,<sup>8</sup> āraddhī (i.e. **āraddhī*), and aparadha are perhaps to be derived from the root radh <sup>1</sup> I use the term 'Māgadha dialect' for designating the language of the province to which Aśoka's capital belonged. It must not be confused with the Māgadhi of the Prakṛit grammarians; cf. Michelson, AJP, 30. 284.

<sup>4</sup> This participle corresponds in form to Skt. utsṛita, but its meaning agrees with that of Prakṛit ussiya (Pischel's Grammatik, § 64)=Skt. uchchhṛita. In other words, the Gīrnār form seems to be due to a false popular etymology of uchchhṛita from the root śṛi instead of śṛi.

<sup>5</sup> The length of the initial ā may be due to the fact that the word is a translation of the Māgadha ānāntaliyāni; see the Dhāuli and Jaugaḍa versions, VI, 4.

used in the same sense as rādhi. The short a of etarisaṃ (= ētādṛiṣaṃ), ctūrisani (= ētādṛiṣāni), dana (= dānam) is probably due to clerical mistakes. Final i is shortened in the nom. sing. of masculine bases in -in:—Priyadasi, hasti.

The initial a of the enclitic api is dropped everywhere except in evamapi (II, 2). The initial i of iti is generally preserved, but it is dropped in -nisrito ti (V, 8) and in the compound kiniti or kiti.

II. SIMPLE CONSONANTS.

Greek  $\chi$  and  $\gamma$  are expressed by k in Antiyaka = Ἀντίοχος and [A]m[ek]ina = Ἀντίογος. In -opaga and -opaya we seem to have a change of g into y; cf. Franke, VOJ, 9. 345 ff. Skt. gh has become h in lahuka.

In vacha (VI, 3; XII, 9), ch corresponds to the j of Skt. vraja; cf. vraçhanti = Skt. vrajanti at Shāhbāzgarhi.

Skt. ṛ is preserved in kalāṇa (= kalyāṇa), gaṇanā, charaṇa, prakaraṇa and pakaraṇa, prāṇa and pāṇa, vinikhamana (from vinish-kram), sramaṇa and samaṇa (= śramaṇa). In terminations, however, dental n is not, as in Sanskrit, lingualized after r and śh:—agena (= agrēṇa), parākramaṇa, putrena and putena, mitrena, abhīramakāni, rūpāni, sahasrāni, Gaṇdhārāṇaṃ, gurūṇaṃ, thairāṇaṃ, manusāṇaṃ and mānusāṇaṃ (= mānushāṇaṃ). On the other hand, lingual ṛ is newly developed after r in prāpuṇati (from Skt. prāpnōti), darsaṇa and dasana (= darśana), saṃtīraṇa (from śīrayati), and without apparent reason in Yona (V, 5), while Yona (with dental n) occurs four times.

As stated above (p. lvi), dentals are lingualized after the vowel ṛi in usaṭa and vaḍhi, and d becomes r before an original ṛi in ctūrisa, &c. Similarly, dh has turned to ḍh through the influence of the preceding śh in osudha (= Skt. anshadha), and t becomes ṭ after r in the preposition paṭi (ten times), while the original form prati occurs four times in pratipati and saṃpratipati. In lipi (= dipi in Ancient Persian; see above, p. xlii) d has become l. In idha the Gīrnār dialect has preserved the ancient form of Skt. iha; cf. Pischel's Grammatik, § 266.

The labial aspirate bh has become h in the instrumentals bahūhi (= bahubhiḥ), tehi (= Vedic tēbhiḥ), paṭivesiyehi, satchi, and in some forms of the root bhū, viz. hoti (= bhavati), aho (= abhavat), and akuṇisu, while bh is preserved in bhavati, bhave, bhūta.

The semivowel y is developed out of i in Antiyaka = Ἀντίοχος, and Πτολεμαῖος becomes Turamāyo. Initial y is lost in ā = Skt. yā (II, 2) and āva = Skt. yāvat. In the dative athā (XII, 9) = Skt. arthāya the whole syllable ya seems to be dropped. In causatives the characteristic affixes aya and ayi sometimes remain unchanged. More frequently both are changed to ai (aya by Samprasāraṇa, and ayi by the elision of y) and contracted to e. Thus Skt. prativēdayata becomes paṭivedetha, while e.g. pūjayati remains unaltered, and Skt. hāpayishyati, ārādhayitum, rōchayitavya, a-rōchayitvā are converted to hāpesuti, ārādhetu, lochetavya, [a]-lochetpā, while ayi remains in dasayitpā = Skt. darśayitvā. Similarly, Skt. mayūra becomes first **maūra* and then mora (I, 11). In two instances an original aya is not represented by e, but by ai: **trayadaśa* (= Skt. trayōdaśa) becomes traidasa (V, 4), and Skt. **sama-charya*, having passed through the intermediate stages **samachariya* and **samacharia*, becomes samachaira (XIII, 7) through metathesis.<sup>1</sup>

Lingual d corresponds to Sanskrit ḍ in mahiḍā, and to Tamil ḍ in Choḍa. The l of lochetavyā and [a]-lochetpā, which corresponds to Skt. r, is due to the influence of the Māgadha dialect; see Text, p. 8, n. 3. Greek  $\lambda$  is represented by r in Turamāyo = Πτολεμαῖος. This word proves that the Gīrnār and Shāhbāzgarhi versions are translations from the Māgadha dialect, where the  $\lambda$  of the Greek original is preserved (Tulamaye at Kālsī).<sup>2</sup> Another instance in which r corresponds to l is *\*arabhatē*, 'to kill', = Skt. ārabhatē; see below, p. lxvi.

The semivowel v is developed out of u in vuta (= Skt. ukta, IX, 6; XIV, 4). As aya to ai and e, ava is changed by Samprasāraṇa to ai and o. In this way bhavati, abhavat, avarōdhana, **avavāditavya* become hoti, aho, orodhana, ovāditavya. The contracted form hoti and its original, bhavati, are about equally frequent in the Gīrnār text. In thaira = Skt. sthavira, v is elided and ai contracted to ai.

As in most Prākṛits, the two sibilants ś and ṣ have become s throughout: e.g. pasu = Skt. paśu, dosa = dōsha.

As in all other Prākṛits, final consonants are dropped. Hence the ablative singular of masculines and neuters in -a ends in -ā (= -āt); Skt. tat, etat, yat, and yāvat become ta, eta, ya, and āva; Skt. bhavēti, abhavat, vasēyuh become bhave, aho, vaseyu; and the nom. plur. of masculines in -a and of feminines in -ā ends in -ā (= -āḥ). But ā is shortened in the dative-genitive imāya dhaṇmānusastīya (III, 3), in the nom. plur. fem. chikīchha (II, 4), and in the 3. sing. optative tisteya (for **tisthēyāt*). Final as generally becomes o (e.g. yaso = Skt. yaśah, rāṇo = rājñah, tistanto = tisthantaḥ, Devānaṃpriyo = Dēvānāṃpriyaḥ); but in some instances the corresponding Māgadha form in -e is improperly used (e.g. Devānaṃpiye, XII, 1), and in others we have -ā (Magā, XII, 8; sā = Skt. saḥ, XIII, 10; esā = ēśah<sup>1</sup>) or -a ([A]m[ek]ina, XIII, 8, bhuya = bhūyah, VIII, 5, and esa). Final is becomes i in apachiti, rati, hīni, but ī in līpī, &c.

While thus all final consonants are dropped, a word may end not only in a simple vowel, but in a nasalized vowel, i.e. in a vowel + Anusvāra, and Sanskrit words ending in m and n substitute Anusvāra for these two nasals; e.g. Skt. dānam becomes dānaṃ, and karuṇ (XII, 4) is formed from Skt. karōti on the analogy of Skt. kurvan. Just as in modern Hindī, Anusvāra is, however, omitted frequently in writing; see ida (XI, 3), katavya (= Skt. kartavyam, IX, 6), dana (= dānam, IX, 7), phala, mata (= matam, XIII, 2, and = mṛitam, XIII, 1), mādava, vinikkhamaṇa, saka (= śakyam), ki (IX, 9), kiti and kīti (= kīrtin), chhāti (= kshāntin), v[a]dhi (= vṛiddhin), susuṇsera (= śuśrūṣhēran), karu (for karuṇ), ārādhetu (= ārādhayitum), eva (= ēvam, IX, 1).<sup>2</sup>

A long nasalized vowel is generally shortened (e.g. gaṇanāyaṇi, bhūtānaṃ, yesaṇi, ñātīnaṃ, gurūnaṃ, anuvataṇi); but it is preserved in bhūtānaṃ (XIII, 7), pūjāṇi, yātāṇi, anuvīdhiyatāṇi. Anusvāra is omitted in pū[jā] (= Skt. pūjām, XII, 2), mahāthāvaḥ[ā], susru[ṇ]sā, susrusatā. The long vowel is shortened and Anusvāra is omitted at the same time in tesa (= tēśhām, XIII, 4) and saṇṭīraṇāya (loc. sing. of saṇṭīraṇā, VI, 9), unless the latter is a genitive used in the sense of the locative.

III. SANDHI.

In the last paragraphs it was shown that at the end of words consonants are as a rule dropped and nasals converted into Anusvāra. In tad-opayā (VIII, 5) and tad-aṇṇāthā (XII, 5) the final consonant of the base tad is preserved in composition,<sup>3</sup> and final m remains before an initial vowel in evamapi (II, 2) and katavyam-eva (IX, 3). Similarly, hiatus is prevented by nasalizing the first of two vowels in [a]ñam-aññasa (= Skt. anyōnyasya, XII, 7) and bhatam-ayesu (= bhṛitā-ryēshu, V, 5; cf. Text, p. 10, n. 4).

In the majority of cases, a + ā are, as in Sanskrit, contracted into ā; e.g. nāsti, dhaṇmānusā-sanaṃ, prāṇāraṇbho. But the first a is elided before a in dhaṇm-avāyo (XIII, 1), dham-anugaho (IX, 7), dhām-adhisṭānāya (V, 4), et-ayaṇi (= **itra* + ayam, VIII, 3); before e in etāy-eva (III, 3), ch-eva (IV, 7; XIV, 3), ch-esā (XIII, 4), ta[tē]ta (= tatraitat, IX, 4), ten-esā (VIII, 3); before o in m[a]nus-opagān[i] (II, 5), and u before o in pas-o[pa]gāni (II, 6). The result of i + a is ī in ithijhakha (= stry-adhyaksha, XII, 9).

IV. GROUPS OF CONSONANTS.

The Gīrnār dialect has preserved a number of combined consonants which would have been assimilated in the later Prākṛits. As remarked by Bühler (Ind. Pal., § 16, last section), there are among them some ligatures in which the second consonant is placed first for the sake of convenience in writing. As this point is of importance because it affects the transcription of the Gīrnār alphabet, I subjoin a list of such combinations of consonants.

(a) tp (written p̄t) in ārabhitpā, dasayitpā, [a]-lochetpā, -hitatpā, tadātpano(ne), chatpāro, ātpa-.

(b) vy (written yv) in vyamjanato, vyasanaṃ, vyāpatā, apa-vyayatā, divyāni, magavyā, katavya, vataavyaṇi, prajūhitavyaṇi, ovādītavyaṇi, vijetavyaṇi, lochetavyā, paṭ[ī]vedeta[v]yaṇi.

Although in the words given under (a) tp is written as pt, their Sanskrit prototypes suggest that we have to pronounce and transcribe tp. Michelson (JAOS, 31. 235 f.) supports this view by referring to dbūdaśa = Skt. dvādaśa (III, 1; IV, 12): 'There is no question but that db represents the correct order of the letters. Now if Indic dv becomes db, then Indic tv surely should become tp. Hence gerunds in -tpā (Skt. -tvā) are to be read as such. This settles the reading ātpa- (Skt. ātma-) without further arguments.'

The same holds good for (b) vy which is written yv. Dr. Michelson writes to me:—'It is inconsistent to transcribe divyāni, vyasanāni, but -tayva, as the same symbol is used in all cases. vyasanāni would be unpronounceable. Bühler's argument from Pāli that yv is correct from the analogy of yh from Skt. hy is useless, as vy does not become yv but bb (or remains) in Pāli.' See also JAOS, 31. 235.

On the same analogy (c) śs has been transcribed by śt, although Franke (Gurupñjākāmunidī, p. 26, note) thinks that śs represents the actual pronunciation.

The fact that the Gīrnār alphabet marks the letter r in combination with several consonants was discovered independently by Senart (Inscriptions de Piyadasi, I. 25 f.) and by Pandit Bhagvanlal Indraji (IA, 10. 106 and note). Although the r is generally placed at the top of the other consonant, nobody has ever doubted that it was in most cases pronounced after it, and that we must transcribe kr, tr, pr, br, and not rk, rt, rp, rb. The symbol rs, however, does duty for both sr and rs, and rv for vr and rv. The former must certainly be read sr in sahasra, sruṇāru, bahu-srutā, susrūṣā, srāvāpakaṇi, -sramaṇānāni, -nisrito, a[pa]-parisrave, but it cannot be meant for anything but rs in vimāna-darsaṇā (IV, 3) and dasa-varṣābhīṣito (VIII, 2). Likewise the symbol rv may be read vr in vrachhā (II, 8), but must be intended for rv in sarva and sarvata or sarvatra. The spelling bhūta-pruva (V, 4; VI, 2) would be, in the opinion of Michelson (JAOS, 31. 228), the result of an erroneous translation of the Māgadha form -puluva which the writer found in the original draft of the edicts. I consider it more likely that the writer wanted us to pronounce -purva, but committed the mistake of connecting the r with the p instead of inserting it before the v; cf. the same spelling in the Śāhābāzgarhī and Mānsehrā versions.

A large number of combined consonants are not preserved unchanged, but have been assimilated. In later Prākṛit inscriptions, as in the British Museum plates of Chārudēvi and in the plates of Vijaya-Dēvavarman (EI, 8. 144, and 9. 57), the double consonant which is the result of such an assimilation is written in full. The inscriptions of Aśoka and of the Andhra kings, however, express every double consonant by a single letter; e.g. aggi = Skt. agni is written agi, attha = artha becomes atha, luddha = labdha becomes ladha, gabbha = garbha becomes gabha, and nijjhatti = **nidhyapti* is spelt nijhati. In double nasals both ways of spelling are in use; e.g. dhaṇma and dhamu = dharma, aṇṇa and aṇa = anya.

At the beginning of words an assimilated group is simplified in all Prākṛits; e.g. ñāti = Skt. jñāti, ti = tri, pāṇa = prāṇa, bhātrā = bhrātrā, chhuda (i.e. chhudda) = kshudra. Also in the interior of words an assimilated group may be simplified and the preceding vowel lengthened; see kāsati (also kasati, i.e. kassati) = **karsatyati*, dhāma (also dhaṇma) = dharma, vāsa (also varsa) = varsha, chikichhā = chikitsā, rājñku (from rajju or rajjū; see Text, p. 5, n. 2).

In a few cases a long vowel preceding a group of consonants is shortened; see anusas̥ti = Skt. anuśāsti, ayesu (i.e. ayyesu) = āryeśhu, kiti (i.e. kitti) = kīrti, digha (i.e. diggha) = dirgha, puva (i.e. puvva) = pūrva. Even a long vowel preceding a simple consonant may be shortened and the consonant itself doubled; cf. Pischel's Grammatik, § 90 f. Thus the short vowel in bhūya (= Skt. bhūyah), anuvidhiyare and anuvidhiyatām (from Skt. anuvidhiyatē) suggests that these words have to be read bhūyya, anuvidhiyyare and anuvidhiyyatām, and that consequently tiśeya (VI, 13) may be meant for tiśēyya with doubled y and short e, as in the corresponding Pāli form of the 3. sing. opt. act.<sup>1</sup> But, as a rule, a long vowel preceding a group remains unchanged; see asamār[a]ṇi (= Skt. asamāptam), āchāy[ke] (= ātyayikam), āñapayāmi (= ājñapayāmi), ātpa- (= ātma-), tadātpano(ne), nāsti, parākrama, brā[n]haṇa and bāvhaṇa (also bramhaṇa and bamhaṇa), bhātrā, mahāmāta and mahāmātra, mādava (= mārdava), mahāthāvaha (= mahārthāvaha), rāñā

(= rājñā), Ri(Rā)stika (= Rāshṭrika), sūpāthāya (= sūpārthāya), ithījhakha (= stry-adhyaksha), kīti (= kīrti), tī[v]o (= tivrah), sānūp[am] (= sānūpyam).

A long nasalized vowel is shortened before consonants, as it is frequently at the end of words (see above, p. lviii), in Tam̐bapaññī (= Skt. Tānuraparññī) and Devānauṣṭriya, while Anusvāra is suppressed after a long vowel in atīkrāta and atīkāta (= atīkrānta), [ā]parātā (= āparāntā), chhātī (= kshānti), [u]iyātu (= uiyāntu), Pādā (= Pāṇḍyāl), bhāḍa (= bhāṇḍa), karote (for **karonte*, IX, 3), karoto (for **karonito*), pāti (read hoti, for **hoṃti*). In avilīsā (IV, 6) i has taken the place of the iū of vikīṃsā (IV, 1). Conversely in susru[ni]sā, susūmsā, susūṃsera the short nasalized vowel uṃ is substituted for the ū of susrūsā (III, 4), and in susrusā and susrusatā the Anusvāra of uṃ is omitted.<sup>1</sup> There are several other instances in which Anusvāra is omitted after a short vowel:—magala (IX, 3) = maṅgala, the two 3. pers. plur. ichhātī (VII, 2) and prāpuṇātī (XIII, 4), saṃbadha (XI, 1) = saṃbandha, sastuta (twice) = saṃstuta, sachhāya (XIV, 5) = saṃkṣāya, pāsaḍa (twice) = pāshaṇḍa, sayama = saṃyama, savaṭa (also saṃvavaṭa) = saiṃvarta, kich[i] (also kiṃchi) = kiṃchit, kīti (also kiṃti) = kīṃti. In the first six of them the omission of Anusvāra may be due either to clerical mistakes or to the faint articulation of the nasal sound. The form pāsaḍa (= Skt. pārshada) is a recognised variant of pāsaṃḍa (passim); cf. prashaḍa and prashamḍa at Shāhbāzgarhī. In sayama, which occurs four times, and in savaṭa the nasal may have been assimilated to the following semi-vowel; cf. Pāṇini, VIII, 4, 59. The forms kichi and kīti occur again in other Aśoka inscriptions and are perhaps defective spellings for kichchi and kitti = **kid + chid* and **kid + iti*; see Johansson, Shāhb, § 90.

So far we have seen that the Gīrnār dialect either preserves groups of consonants or assimilates them. A third mode of disposing of them is the development of an auxiliary vowel (svarabhakti) between two consonants. This vowel is a in garahati and garahā (= Skt. garhati and garkā), i in paṭivesiya (= prativēśya), puiña (for **puṇiya* = Skt. puṇya), saṃachaira (for **saṃachariya* = Skt. **saṃa-charya*), and u after a labial in prāpuṇātī (3. plur. ind. pres. act. of Skt. prāpuṇōti). Similarly, an auxiliary i is prefixed to an initial group in ithī (i.e. itthī, = Skt. strī).

I now subjoin an alphabetical list of Sanskrit groups with their Gīrnār equivalents.

pr remains or becomes p; see e.g. prakaraṇa and pakaraṇa (IX, 8), prāṇa and pāṇa (IX, 5), Devānañpriya and Devānañpiya, Priyadasi and Piyadasi, pratipatī and paṭipajetha (XIV, 4), sampratipatī and samṭipatī (IV, 6).

bdh becomes dh in ladhesu.

br remains in brā[ñ]haṇa (IV, 2) and bramhaṇa (IV, 6), but becomes b in bāmhaṇa and bamhaṇa (IX, 5).

bhy becomes bh in the passive forms ārabhare, ārabhisn, ārabhisare.

rth becomes th in atha.

rd becomes d in mādava.

rdh becomes dh in [*pra**]vadhayisañti (IV, 9); ḍh in vadhayati (XII, 4), vadhayisati (IV, 7), vadhita. Cf. ṭ for rt in sam̐vata.

rbh becomes bh in gabhāgāramhi.

rm becomes m̐m or m in kam̐ma (= Skt. karman), dhaim̐ma and dhama.

ry becomes y in ayesu,<sup>1</sup> but is represented by riy in samachairan̐, which presupposes the form **samachariyan̐* (= Skt. **sama-charyam*); see above, p. lvii.

rv remains or becomes v in sarva or sava. Instead of Skt. pūrva we have puva in IV, 5, while pruva, which is probably meant for purva, occurs in two places; see above, p. lix.

rś becomes rs in vimāna-darsañā, but s in hasti-da[sā]ñā, dasane, dasayitpā, Priyadasi; daspanan̐ (VIII, 4) is probably a clerical mistake for darsanan̐.

rsh becomes rs in varśa (VIII, 2), but s in vāsa (= Skt. varsha).

rshy becomes s in kāsati, kāsañti, kasa[ñ]ti.

vr becomes v in ti[v]o, [pa]vajitāni, vacha (VI, 3; XII, 9) = Skt. vraja.

sch becomes chh in pachhā. Other instances in which a sibilant causes aspiration are kh = sk, shkr, ksh; chh = ts, kś, ksh; th = str.

śhr becomes ś in Ri(Rā)śtika.

śh loses its aspiration and becomes ś in seṣṭe, tisṭeya, tisṭanto, nistānāya, -adhiṣṭānāya. Cf. the Māgadhi forms śustū = Skt. sushṭhu and koṣṭāgālāni = kōṣṭhāgāram (Hemachandra, IV, 290, and Pischel's Grammatik, § 303), and at Girnār śṭita = Skt. sthita, uṣṭāna = **ut-sthāna*, Ri(Rā)śtika = Rāshtrika, anusasṭi = anūsasṭi.

shy becomes s in manusa, āñāpayisati, and in other futures.

B.—DECLENSION

I. BASES IN -a.

(1) Masculines and neuters in -a.

Singular.		Plural.
Nom. masc. jano , &c.	} neut. dānaṁ , &c.	Masc. morā , &c.; neut. phalāni , &c.
Acc. masc. janani , &c.		Masc. yute , athe ; neut. divyāni , rūpāni .
Instr. janena , &c.		paṭivesiyehi , satehi .
Dat. athāya , &c.
Abl. kapā , -hitatpā , pachhā .
Gen. janasa , &c.		thairānaṁ , &c.
Loc. (a) athamhi , &c.; (b) kāle , &c.		thairesu , &c.

Nom. sing.—In a few neuters the final Anusvāra is missing, viz. phala, mata, mādava (acc.), vinikhamana. In many instances the Māgadha termination -e is used; (a) masculines:—parisave,<sup>2</sup> a[pa]-parisrave, Devānaṁpiye (XII, 1), prādesike, bhā[g]e, rājūke, sakale, sayame; (b) neuters:—āchāyī[kē], kaṇime, -charaṇe, tārise, dasane, dāne, -puve, bahuvudhe, maṅgale, -mate, mah[ā]-phale, mahālake, mūle, yārise, vaḍhite, viṣ[ul]e, seṣṭe. The wrong form -paṭividhāno (VIII, 4) is probably due to the fact that the clerk who drafted the Girnār version thoughtlessly replaced the -e of the Māgadha neuter paṭividhāne by -o, as in the masculine jano, &c. = Māgadha jane, &c. The foreign name [A]m[ek]ina (XIII, 8) has no termination, while Magā lengthens its final a.

Dat. sing.—The form athā (XII, 9) for athāya is found also in the Delhi-Tōprā pillar-edict VII; cf. Text, p. 22, n. 3, and Michelson, JAOS, 31. 240.

Loc. sing.—In pravāsaṁmhi (IX, 2) the m is doubled. The termination -e occurs also in pakarane, prakarane, Pātalipute, vijāye, vijite, sarasake; tadātphano is a mistake for tadāṭphane.<sup>3</sup>

The acc. plur. masc. uses the termination -āni, which, as shown by Lüders (SPAW, 1913. 992 ff.), is peculiar to the Ardhamāgadhi dialect, in four instances:—agi-kh[a]ndhāni (IV, 4) and sava-pāsāṁdāni cha [pa]vajiṭāni cha gharastāni cha pūjayati (XII, 1).

The acc. plur. neut. has the termination -ā instead of -āni in vimāna-darsaṇā cha hasti-da[sā]nā cha (IV, 3).

Gen. plur.—The long vowel is preserved before Anusvāra in bhūtānām (XIII, 7).

Loc. plur.—The final u is lengthened in paṇṭhesu (II, 8).

Singular.	Plural.
Nom. ichhā , &c.	(a) katā (II, 4); (b) mahiḍāyo .
Acc. pūjām , yātām .
Instr. pūjāya , &c.
Loc. gaṇanāyaṃ , parisāyaṃ .

Acc. sing.—The final Anusvāra is omitted in pū[jā] (XII, 2), mahāthāvali[ā] (X, 1), susru[ni]sā (X, 2).

Loc. sing.—In saṃtīraṇāya (VI, 9) the final Anusvāra is omitted, or it may be a genitive used in the sense of the locative.

Nom. plur.—In chikīchha (II, 4) the long ā of the first of the two different terminations is shortened. The second termination is identical with -āo in the Prākṛits; see Pischel's Grammatik, § 376.

II. BASES IN -ī.

(1) Masculines in -ī.

Nom. plur. trī , ī .
Gen. plur. ñāṇiṇi .
Loc. plur. ñāṇisu .

The nom. plur. in -ī is common in Prākṛit; see Pischel's Grammatik, p. 380.

(2) Feminines in -ī and -ī.

Singular.	Plural.
Nom. līpī , &c.	aṭaviyo .
Acc. Sam̐bodhiṃ , &c.
Instr. - annasasīyā , bhatiyā .
Dat. - annasasīya (with final ā shortened).
Nom. sing.—The final i remains short in apachiti , rati , hīni .
Acc. sing.—The final Anusvāra is omitted in kiti (X, 2), kīti (X, 1), chhāti (XIII, 11), v[a]dhi (IV, 11).

III. BASES IN -u.

Besides the gen. plur. masc. gurūṇiṇi we have three forms of the neuter base bahu, viz. nom. sing. bahu, nom. and acc. plur. bahūni, and instr. plur. bahūhi. The nom. sing. sādhu is the same in all three genders.

IV. BASES IN -ī.

Instr. sing. masc. pitā (for pitrā ), bhātrā or bhāt[ā] .
Loc. sing. pitari , mātari and mātr[i] .

V. BASES IN CONSONANTS.

As in other Prākṛits, bases ending in consonants have a tendency to follow the analogy of the a-declension. Thus the feminine base parishad becomes parisā (III, 6) and forms the loc. sing. parisāyaṃ (VI, 7). The present participle sat forms the nom. sing. masc. saṃto. Of bases in -an, panthan forms the loc. plur. panthesū, and the neuter karmān the Māgadha nom. sing. kaṃme and the dat. sing. kaṃmāy[a].

The original consonantal declension survives in the subjoined incomplete paradigms.

(1) Present participles in -at.

Nom. sing. masc. karuṃ or karu .
Nom. plur. masc. tiṣṭaṃto .

The nom. sing. karuṃ is derived from the Sanskrit verb karōti. In karu the Anusvāra is omitted. Two other forms of the same case, karoto (for **karōṃto*) and saṃto (from root as) follow the analogy of the a-declension.

INTRODUCTION

Acc. neut. nāma .
Instr. rājā .
Gen. rājño .

In the nom. sing. masc. [Yo]na-rājā (XIII, 8) the final ā is shortened, while II, 3 has Yona-rājā.

(3) Masculines in -in.

Nom. sing. Priyadasi , hasti .
Instr. sing. Priyadasinā .
Gen. sing. Priyadasino .

In pīti-raso sā (XIII, 10) the nom. sing. masc. ends in -ā. The neuter ta (= Skt. ta) occurs twice (X, 3; XIII, 2) as pronoun and frequently as conjunction. Its Māgadhā equivalent se is taken over unchanged in I, 10.

(3) Base na.

Acc. plur. masc. ne; neut. nāni.

For this pronoun see Hēmachandra, III, 70, 77.

(4) Base ēta.

form esa is employed three times as neuter and was known as such to Hēmachandra (III, 85), who quotes esa siram (= Skt. śtachehīrahī). Cf. the Māgadha nom. sing. se, which is used both as masculine and as neuter (= Skt. saḥ and tat), and see Pischel's Grammatik, p. 299.

(5) Demonstrative idam.

Singular.	Plural.
Nom. masc. ayam ; neut. idam , ayam .	Masc. imc .

Nom. sing. fem. īyam, ayam.

Dat. sing. fem. imāya.

The Anusvāra of the neuter idam is omitted in ida (XI, 3). The masculine ayam is employed instead of it three times, and instead of the feminine īyam (I, 1) five times. In Pāli only ayam is used as feminine.

(6) Interrogative Pronoun.

The nom. sing. neut. kī (for kim) occurs in IX, 9, and kam, used as an indefinite, in XIV, 3. Of the indefinite base kīnchid we have the nom. sing. masc. kechi (XII, 5) and the neuter kīnchi or kīch[i] (X, 3). The compound kīnti or kīti (XII, 2) is used in the sense of 'that, in order that'.

(7) Relative Pronoun.

Singular.	Plural.
Nom. masc. ya ; neut. ya .	Masc. ye ; neut. yāni .
Acc. neut. ya , ya[ni] .
Gen. yaśa .	yesam .

Nom. plur. fem. yā.

The acc. sing. neut. ya[ni] is found only in X, 3, while ya (= Skt. ya) occurs ten times.

(8) Base anya.

E.—CONJUGATION

I. PRESENT.

(1) Bases.

First Sanskrit class.

Root kram: parākramāmi, pari(rā)k[a]matc. The active form kramati occurs also in the epics, while classical Sanskrit has krāmati in the active and kramatē in the middle.

Root gam: gachheyañi.Root garh: garahati.Root dṛś: pasati (i.e. passati = Skt. paśyati).Root bhū: bhavati and hoti.

Root labh. The absolutive ārabhitpā and the passive forms ārabharc, ārabhisu, ārabhisarc presuppose the present **ārabhatc*, 'to kill' (= Skt. ālabhatē).

Root vas: vaseyu.Root vṛit: anuv[a]tare.Root sthā: tisṭeya.

Second Sanskrit class.

Root as: asti.Root yā: [n]iyātn.Root han follows the analogy of the ninth class: upahanāti.

Third Sanskrit class.

The gerundive prajñhitavyam presupposes the present **jñhati* = Pāli juvhati (for **juhvati*); see Pischel, GGA, 1881. 1324.

Fourth Sanskrit class.

Root pad: paṭipajetha (= Skt. pratipadyēta).Root man: manūate (= Skt. manyatē).

Fifth Sanskrit class.

Root śru follows the ninth class and forms the 3. plur. imperative active śruṇāru.

Sixth Sanskrit class.

Root ish : ichhati.

Seventh Sanskrit class.

Both bhuj (bhujj[ā]mānasa, VI, 3) and yuj (yujamtu, IV, 11) follow the a-conjugation.

Eighth Sanskrit class.

Root kri : karoti.

Root kshaṇ follows the a-conjugation : chhaṇāti.

Tenth Sanskrit class and causatives.

(a) With aya : pūjayati, dasayitpā, dīpayema, ārādhayanītu, vaḍhayati. The character aya is contracted into e in paṭivedetha, paṭ[i]vedeta[v]yañ, pūjetayā, ārādhetu, lochetavyā, [a]-lochetpā.

(b) With paya : hāpesati and the derivative dāpaka. The long vowel of the root jñā is shortened, as it is optionally in Sanskrit, before paya in āñāpayāmi. With this agrees the Prākṛit āṇavedi, while Pāli has āṇāpeti with long ā ; cf. Pischel's Grammatik, § 8.

(c) With āpaya : likhāpayisāñ, sukhāpayāmi (which is, properly speaking, a denominative of sukha), and the derivatives khānāpita, lekhāpita, hārāpita, srāvāpaka. In lekhāpita the vowel i of the root likh is strengthened by Guṇa, while in likhāpayisāñ it remains unchanged.

(d) With pāpaya : ropāpita.

(2) Moods.(a) Indicative.

Active.

1. sing. parākramāmi, karomi, āñāpayāmi.

3. sing. garahati, pasati, bhavati and hoti, asti, upahanāti, ichhati, karoti, chhaṇāti, pūjayati, vaḍhayati.

3. plur. pāti (read hoti, XIII, 6), ichhati (VII, 2), prāpuṇāti (XIII, 4). In these three forms we would have expected the termination -nti instead of -ti.

Middle.

3. sing. pari(rā)k[ā]mate, maiññate or maññate, karote, which follows the analogy of the active karōti, while Sanskrit has the weak form kurutē.

3. plur. karote (IX, 3) for **karonīte*. The termination is -re in anuṇv[a]tare (XIII, 9), in the future anuṇvatisare, in the two passives anuvidhiyare and ārābhare, and in the future passive ārābhisare. The same termination is known from Vedic Sanskrit, Prākṛit, and Pāli ; see Pischel's Grammatik, § 458.

(b) Subjunctive.

Active.

1. sing. sukhāpayāmi (VI, 12), which has the termination of the indicative, but must be explained as a subjunctive because it is co-ordinated with the optative gachcheyāñ and the imperative ārādhayanītu.

3. sing. maiññā (XIII, 11) from maiññate. Cf. paśyāt and many other Vedic forms.

(c) Optative.

Active.

1. sing. gachcheyāñ.

3. sing. asa (= Pāli assa for **asyāt* from root as), bhave, tiṣṭeya. Pāli, too, has both the terminations -e and -eyya.

1. plur. dīpayema.

3. plur. asu (= Pāli assu for **asyuḥ*), vaseyu.

Middle.

3. sing. paṭipajētha (XIV, 4). The termination -tha (= Skt. -ta) is the same in Pāli; see Geiger's Pāli, § 129.

3. plur. susunīsera (desiderative of śru) with the termination -ra for Pāli -rañ = Skt. -ran.

(d) Imperative.

Active.

2. plur. paṭivedeṭha (VI, 5). As in Prākṛit and Pāli, the termination of the corresponding person of the indicative is transferred to the imperative.

3. plur. yujāntu, ārādhayāntu, [u]jyāntu (with -tu for -ntu), śraṇāru (XII, 7) from **śraṇāti* = Skt. śṛṇōti. With the termination -ru cf. the middle termination -re in the indicative, the optative susunīsera, and the imperative anuṇatarami.

Middle.

3. sing. anuvidhiyātāñ (passive) and susrusatā (desiderative).

3. plur. anuṇatarami (VI, 14). Pischel (GGA, 1881. 1331) compared the Vedic imperative duhrām. The middle termination -rañ (for -rām) corresponds to Skt. -ntām, as the active termination -ru to Skt. -ntu, and as the indicative middle termination -re to Skt. -ntē. In the optative middle the Sanskrit termination -ran agrees with Gīrnār and Pāli.

(e) Imperfect.

3. sing. act. aho for **abhot* = Skt. abharat; see Johanson, Shāhā, § 32, last section.

II. AORIST.

3. plur. act. ñayāsu (VIII, 1) = Skt. **nyayāsuḥ* from root yā with the preposition nī in the sense of nīs; cf. Michelson, JAOS, 31. 245. The form ahūsu (VIII, 2) seems to be based on the 3. sing. ahu (= Skt. abhūt), as Pāli āsīsu on āsi (= Skt. āsīt). In ārābhīsu (I, 9), which must be connected with the passive ārabbhāre (I, 11) = Skt. ārābhyañtē, the bh is a defective spelling for bhli.

III. PERFECT.

3. sing. act. āha. The form ayāya (VIII, 2) has been generally explained as an imperfect of root yā. It may be as well a perfect of root i, = Skt. iyāya, but with modified reduplication.

IV. FUTURE.

Active.

1. sing. likhāpayisāñ (XIV, 3) has the same termination as in Prākṛit and Pāli.

3. sing. āñāpayisati, vaḍḍhayisati, hāpesati, kāsati (= Pāli kāhāti) from **kārshyati*.

3. plur. [pra]**vaḍḍhayisāñti*, anusāsīsāñti, kāsāñti and kasa[ni]ti from root kṛi.

Middle.

3. plur. anuṇatīsarē (V, 2). In the passive ārābhīsarē (I, 12) the bli is a defective spelling for bhli; cf. the remark on the aorist ārābhīsu, above, section II.

V. PASSIVE.

The forms which occur in the Gīrnār text are all derived from the two Sanskrit passives ālābhyatē and anuvidhiyatē:

3. plur. indicative ārābhāre, anuvidhiyare are defective spellings for ārābbhāre, anuvidhiyyare; see above, p. lix.

3. sing. imperative anuvidhiyātāñi.

3. plur. aorist ārābhīsu.

3. plur. future ārābhīsarē.

VI. DESIDERATIVE.

The 3. plur. optative susunīsera (XII, 7) and the 3. sing. imperative susrusatā (X, 2) are derived from Skt. śuśrūṣhatē.

VII. PARTICIPLES.

(1) Present participle.

Active.

Root sthā: nom. plur. masc. tiṣṭānto.

Root as: nom. sing. masc. san̐to.

Root kṛi: nom. sing. masc. karoto, karuṇi, karu.

Middle.

Root bhuj: bhujj[a]māna.

(2) Past passive participle.

(a) In -ta: mata (= Skt. mata, XIII, 2, and = mṛita, XIII, 1), kata (= kṛita), vyāpata (= vyāpṛita), vistata (= vistr̥ita), usata (= utsṛita), nisrita (= **nisṛita*), sṛita (= sthita), atīkrāta (VI, 1) or atīkāta (= atīkrānta), vanta (= ukta), samāta (= samāpta), saṅkṛita (= saṅkṣipta), ladha (= labdha), āñapita, &c. The participles viṣita and vinīta (VI, 4) are used as substantives.

(b) The only participle in -na is prasam̐na.

(3) Future passive participle.

(a) In -tava: katavya (= Skt. kartavya), vatavya (= vaktavya), prajūhitavya (from **jūhati* = Pāli juvhati), ovāditavya (from Pāli ovadati), vijetavya (from vi-jī), pūjetavya (= pūjayitavya), lochetavya (= rōchayitavya), paṭ[i]vedeta[v]ya.

(b) In -ya: kacha (= Skt. kṛitya, IX, 8), saka (= śakya).

VIII. INFINITIVE.

(a) Accusative: ārādhetu (= Skt. ārādhayitum).

(b) Dative: chhamitave from root ksham; cf. Vedic forms like charitave, and gantave, &c., in Pāli.

IX. ABSOLUTIVE.

(a) In -tpā (= Skt. -tvā): ārabhitpā, parichajitpā (from root tyaj), dasayitpā (from causative of dṛiś), [a]-lochetpā (= a-rōchayitvā).

(b) The only absolute in -ya is sachhāya from saṅ-kṣā (= saṅ-khyā).

F.—SUFFIXES

Under this heading I note a few remarkable formations which differ from Sanskrit.

(1) Kṛit suffixes.

(a) -anā: saṁtīraṇā from Skt. tīrayati.

(b) -ti: nijhati = **nidhyapti*, anusas̐ti = Skt. anūsāsti (Böhtlingk's Wörterbuch, 5. 991), while Pāli anusit̐thi agrees with Skt. anūsīṣṭhi.

(c) -ni: hīni (IV, 11) from root hā on the analogy of the participle hīna.

The first member of the compound vachi-guti (XII, 3) is not a fossilized locative, as Michelson (JAOS, 31. 230) thinks, but must be connected with Ardhamāgadhi vaī or vaī = **vāchī*; see Pischel's Grammatik, § 413.

(2) Taddhita suffixes.

(a) -ka: rājūka (from rajju; see Text, p. 5, n. 2), and often pleonastic: etaka, y[ā]vata[k]a, tāvataka, sarasaka, ñātika.

(b) -āka: mahālaaka (from Skt. mahat) = Prākṛit mahālaya and mahallaya (Pischel's Grammatik, pp. 402, 404).

(c) -ika: ilokika and pāralokika (XIII, 12).

(d) -tya: ilokacha (XI, 4), ekacha (I, 6). The first component of ilokacha and ilokika is the pronominal base i, from which Skt. itara, itas, and iha (for idha) are derived; see Franke in GN, 1895. 535.

(e) -tara, added to participles and substantives: bādhataraṇi, katavyataraṇi, kaṇimatararaṇi from Skt. karman.

(f) -tvana: tadātṭhano(ue); see Text, p. 18, n. 8.

G.—SYNTAX

Here also I do not aim at completeness, but note only a few particular constructions.

To denote time, several cases are used: the accusative in atikātām antaram, 'in times past' (IV, 1; V, 3; VI, 1; VIII, 1), the instrumental in bahūhi v[āsa]-satchi, 'for many hundreds of years' (IV, 4), the dative in dighāya, 'in the distant (future)' (X, 1), and the locative in pañchusu pañchusu vāsesu, 'every five years' (III, 2), surve kāle, 'at any time' (VI, 3, 8), and tadūtpano(ue), 'at the present time' (X, 1).

The nominative absolute occurs in XI, 4:—so t[a]thā kuru, 'if one is acting thus', and the genitive absolute in VI, 3:—bhuñj[a]mānasa me, 'while I am eating'.

The genitive is employed in connexion with bhuvati (IV, 10) and nāsti (VII, 3), and instead of the instrumental with kata (= kṛita, II, 4), sādhu-matā (I, 6 f.), and katavya-mate (VI, 9).

The 3. sing. asti is the predicate of a nominative plural in I, 6, and nāsti in three places (II, 6, 7; XIII, 5); cf. Pischel's Grammatik, p. 350. In XIV, 1 f., asti is used as a particle in the sense of vā. In IX, 1, it opens a sentence, as frequently in the Pañchatantra; cf. Speyer's Sanskrit Syntax (Leyden, 1886), p. 234, n. 2. For instances from Prākṛit literature see Pischel, op. cit., p. 294.

CHAPTER VII.

GRAMMAR OF THE KALSI ROCK-EDICTS

I. VOWELS.

THE vowel a becomes i through the influence of a neighbouring y in majhima (= madhyama), vaḍhiyati (= vardhayati), vaḍhiyisati, and u after a labial in muta,<sup>1</sup> munisa (= manushya), uchā-vucha. In gih[i]tha (= grihastha, XIII, 37) and ud[u]pāna (= udapāna) the vowel of the second syllable is assimilated to the first. In Atikyashudate (XIII, 8) the u is perhaps due to a popular etymology deriving the foreign name Ἀλέξανδρος from alika, 'the forehead', and sundara, 'beautiful'.

The e of hetu or hetā (= **itra*) perhaps goes back to an original i; see above, p. lvi. In edisa and hedisa the vowel e corresponds to the i of Skt. īdriṣa.<sup>2</sup>

The a of galu corresponds to Skt. u; cf. above, p. lvi. In munisa (II, 6) the u of Skt. manushya has become i through the influence of the palatal y in the next syllable; cf. the form munuṣa (i.e. manuṣṣa) at Shāhbāzgarhī and Mānschrā, in which the y has palatalized the preceding sh.<sup>3</sup> In kho (= Skt. khalu) Skt. u is represented by o; see above, p. lvi and n. 2.

As in other Prākṛits, the Skt. vowel ri is lost. It becomes a in [u]naniya (= Skt. ānṛinya), [u]shaṭa, kaṭa, dukaṭa,<sup>4</sup> gahaṭa (= grihastha, XII, 31), dakhati, bhaṭa,<sup>5</sup> bhaṭaka, maṭe, vataṃ (= vṛittam, X, 27), vadhi and vaḍhi (= vṛiddhi), viṭhaṭa, viyāpata; i in edisa and hedisa, tādisa, [ā]disa (= yādriṣa), kīṭanā[ā] (= kṛitajñātā), gih[i]tha, dīdha, panātikya (= **pranāptṛika*), pītisu, bhātina, mige, migaviyā; u in ushuṭa,<sup>6</sup> shune[y]u,<sup>7</sup> and after a labial in a[gubhu]t[i], palipuchhā, nā[v]uti (= nirvṛitti), vutaṃ (= vṛittam, XIII, 11), vudha (= vṛiddha). It will be observed that in some of these words the original ri has caused the lingualization of the following dentals, and in hedisa=Skt. īdriṣa it has lingualized the preceding d. In [lu]kha (II, 6) the syllable lu corresponds to the syllable vri of Skt. vṛiksha; cf. Greek λύκος = Skt. vṛika, and see Wackernagel's Altind.

<sup>3</sup> Michelson (AJP, 32. 441) thinks that the vocalization of munisa may have followed the analogy of Māgadha pulisa = Skt. purusha. But the apparent resemblance of the two words is due chiefly to the defective spelling of munisa, which stands for munissa.

Grammatik, vol. 1, § 184, b). The Gīrnār equivalent vrachha disproves the etymology advocated by Pischel (Grammatik, § 320), who derived Prākṛit ruksha from Skt. ruksha (Rigveda, VI, 3, 7), to which Roth (VIIth Oriental Congress, Aryan Section, p. 3) had assigned the meaning 'a tree', although the traditional meaning 'bright' gives a satisfactory sense.

The diphthongs ai and au are both lost. The former becomes e in nī[che] (perhaps = Skt. nīchail, VII, 22) and in the feminine case-termination -e; the second becomes o in paṭotā (XIII, 15), pa[la]lokikya or palalokiya, -opaga and -opa[ya].

Short a is lengthened in a[tiyāyike] (= Skt. ātyayikam), vyāma (= udyama), lāti (= rati, VIII, 23), and at the end of a few bases in -a, viz. uchāvuchā- (VII, 21), kiṭanā- (= kṛitajña, VII, 22), v[ī]yā- (= vyaya, III, 8), śālā- or śh[ā]lā- (= sāra), shāvā- (= sarva, XII, 31), samanā- (= śramaṇa, XI, 29). The lengthening of a is very frequent at the end of words; e.g. ajā (= adya), atā (= atra and yatra), anatā (= anyatra), asā (= yasya), āhā, evā or vā, chā, janasā, tasā (= tasya), tenā, dānenā, nā, nāmā, nikhamithā, Piyadasisā, mamā, hidā (= iha), hetā (= itra).

Long i and u are nowhere distinguished in writing from the corresponding short vowels except in osadhīn[i] (II, 5), Pi[ya]dasī (I, 2), s[i]lasi (IV, 12), [chū] (I, 4), majñl[ā] (I, 4), laj[ā]k[e] (III, 7).

Similarly, ā is often represented by a. Although in some cases this defective spelling is perhaps due to the negligence of the writer, the subjoined list will not be considered superfluous.

(2) In the interior of words: adisha (= yādriṣam, XI, 29), anathesu (= anāthesu at Dhaulī), apavahe (= Skt. apavāhaḥ), ava (= yāvat, IX, 25), ava[ta]ke, kala (VI, 17), Devanampiyem (X, 28), pa[la]lokikya or palalokiya (= pālalokika in the two separate edicts at Dhaulī and Jaugaḍa), paśaḍa (= Skt. pāśhaṇḍa, XII, 31), baḍham (XII, 32), madhuliyāye, lajā, lajāne, lajinā, vijīnamane, v[i]dh[a]nā[n], vinana-, viyapaṭā (V, 15), vividh[aye], shav[i]bhage.

(3) At the end: a (= Skt. ā, XIII, 6), anatha (= anyathā), abaka- (= ambikā), [e]sh[a] (XIII, 37), ma (XIII, 16), maha-phalā (XIII, 14), māta-pitisu (III, 8), lāja (IV, 11), va (twice = vā), hi[da]lokika (XIII, 18).

Initial a is dropped in pi (= apī) and hakam (for ahakam = aham); i in ti (= itī), also in kiṁti (only XII, 33) and kiti; e in va (only IX, 26) and vā, besides which the full forms eva and evā are also employed.<sup>3</sup>

II. SIMPLE CONSONANTS.

The Kālśī dialect agrees with the Māgadha one in replacing the semivowel r by l, and the two nasals ṇ and ṣ by dental n, throughout.

The two gutturals k and g were often palatalized through the influence of the preceding vowel i. This pronunciation is expressed in writing by the groups ky and gy, of which the latter occurs three times in the word Kaligya (= Skt. Kālīnga), and the former in [n]iky[ā]y[ā] (XII, 34), Alikyashudale (XIII, 8), and in the affixes -ka and -ika of akālīky[e], -thitikyā and -phitikyā, nātikyā, panātikyā, pālāntikyā, Pitinikyē[sh]u, -bh[u]mikyā, shavām[i]kyena, sa[n]sayikyē, hidālokikya and pa[la]lokikya (XIII, 18). Instead of the two last words we find also the forms hi[da]lokika and palalokiya (XIII, 17 f.), which suggest that -ika became -iya through the intermediate stage -ikya. In the same way Franke (VOJ, 9, 347, n. 2) explains nilathiya, which corresponds at Kālśī (IX, 24) to nirathia at Gīrnār.<sup>4</sup> Another instance of the change of k to y after i would be dīyaḍha (XIII, 35), which Pischel (Grammatik, § 230) derived from **dvikārdha*. To this may be added the affix -ālaka or -ālaya in mahālaka and supadālaya (V, 14); see below, p. lxxxiv.<sup>5</sup> The Kālśī

dialect, like the Gīrnār dialect, furnishes an instance of the development of y from g in -opaga (II, 5) and -opa[ya] (VIII, 23). From the form Kaligya, which, as stated on p. lxxi, occurs three times at Kālsī, it may be inferred that the intermediate stage was \-opagya*. Greek γ is expressed by k in Ānteki[ne] and Makā, and χ by g in Āntiyoga. Skt. gh has become h in lahu and lahuka.

Of palatals, ch has been aspirated in kechha (= Skt. kēcha, XII, 32) and kichhi (= **kid+chid*). In vacha (VI, 18; XII, 34) ch corresponds to the j of Skt. vraja. The letter j has become d in palitiditu (X, 28), the absolutive of Skt. parityajati. Cf. Kulū (Pāli-Grammatik, p. 36), who quotes from Dhammapada, p. 144 [l. 13], the aorist parichchadi; E. Müller's Pāli Grammar, p. 25; Pischel's Grammatik, § 215.

Dentals are lingualized in duvāḍasa; before ri in heḍisa; after ri in [u]shaḥa and ushuḥa, kaḥa, dukaḥa, kiṇanāḥa, bhaḥa, bhaḥaka, maḥa, vithaḥa, viyāpaḥa; after ra in the preposition pafi (= Skt. prati). Dental t is palatalized in chiḥhiḥ[u] (IV, 12), the absolutive of Prākṛit chiḥhiḥadi<sup>1</sup> (= Skt. tishṭhati). It is replaced by d in dose (VI, 19) and hida-sukhāye (V, 15).<sup>2</sup> In tatopa[yā] (= tadopayā at Gīrnār and Dhaulī) it looks as if t had taken the place of d. But the first member of the compound might be, not tad, but tata (= Skt. tatra); cf. Senart's Inscriptions de Piyadasi, I, 194. In hida (= idha at Gīrnār) the d apparently corresponds to an original dh; but Johansson (Shāhā, § 57) may be right in connecting hida with Vedic idā, 'now'.

The labial aspirate bh has become h in the instrumental and dative plural in -hi, in hoti, hotu, aho, hureyu, husu, and in the participle huta (= Skt. bhūta), while bhuta is used as substantive.

The semivowel y has become j in majḥu (= Skt. mayūra, I, 4); v in visava (= vishaya, XIII, 9) and vas[e]vu (= vasāyuh, VII, 21); h in ye[ham] (VI, 20).<sup>3</sup> Initial y is lost in am (= Skt. yat), asā (= yasya), e (= yah, yat, yē), at[a] (= yatra), athā (= yathā), [ā]disa (= yādṛiṣa), āva (= yāvat), ava[ta]ke (XIII, 39). In aparvudha (= apṛdha) v was developed out of ū.

The syllable ya becomes i in palitiditu, the absolutive of Skt. parityajati, and in [a]pa-v[i]yātā (= apa-vyayātā at Gīrnār), and vā becomes u in the absolutes in -tu (= Skt. -tvā).

In [e]ḍasa (= **trayadaśa*) aya is contracted to e. The causative affixes aya and ayi either remain unchanged (in dasayitu, &c.) or are contracted (in pūjeti, pūjeta:[i]ya, &c.); in vadhīyati and vadhīyati the second a is changed to i through the influence of the palatal y which follows it. In the 3. sing. optative nivāṭey[ā] (= Skt. nirvartayēt) the e corresponds to an original aye.<sup>4</sup> For ava we have o in olodhana, hoti, hotu, aho.

Cases of Cockneyism are hida (= Skt. iha), heḍisa (= idṛiṣa), heta (= **itra*), hevan, and perhaps the conjunction hainche (IX, 26), which is identical in meaning with Pāli sache, 'if'. Johansson (Shāhā, I, 66) derives it from Pāli yainche (Childers, Pāli Dictionary, p. 603, a) through the intermediate form **ainche*, while Senart (IA, 21. 88) traces it directly to sache.

In the edicts I-IX the Kālsī dialect agrees with the Gīrnār one in replacing the two sibilants ś and sh by s.<sup>5</sup> From edict X the writer employs, besides s, the signs for ś and sh. In a few cases, sh is used where Sanskrit would require it; see eshe, [va]sha (= varsha, XIII, 35), pāshainda, manu[shāna]m, tesham, yesham, ateshu (= antēshu), Kambojeshu, Katī[m]geshu, nātikeshu, Nābhapaṇṭishu, Pitinikeye[sh]u, pitishu, Y[o]nesh[u], tadkesha(sha), manishu. But in the majority of instances both sh and ś are phonetically and etymologically impossible; see e.g. taśa and tasha (= Skt. tasya), dāśa and dāsha (= dāsa), śaṇṭhuta and shaṇṭhuta (= śaṇṭuta), ś[a]va and shava (= sarva), śālī- and sh[ā]lā- (= sāra), śiyāti and shiyāti (= syāt), [ś]e and she, shaha[ś]a and shahasha (= sahasra). To explain this state of matters, we have to suppose that the writer spoke a dialect which knew no sibilant besides s, and that he used the letters ś and sh indiscriminately for expressing the same sibilant.<sup>6</sup> In other words, the letters ś and sh at Kālsī are purely graphical, and in the sequel it is tacitly assumed that every ś and sh is a vicarious symbol expressing dental s.

As in the Gīrnār dialect, all final consonants are dropped. The preceding vowel is sometimes lengthened; see s[a]myā- or shaṇṇyā- (= Skt. samyak, Pāli sammā), palisā (= Skt. parishad), puna

and ṣanā (= ṣanar), āva, ava, avā (= yāvat). It is nasalized in avanī (XIII, 8). The termination -ās generally becomes -ā (e.g. ṣatā), but the ā is shortened in a few cases; see below, p. lxxvi. Final -as becomes -e; e.g. ṣane (nom. sing.), natāle (= Skt. napātārāḥ), lājine (gen. sing.), lājāne (nom. plur.), bh[ū]ye (= bhūyāḥ), ne (= naḥ), se (= saḥ), ye or e, aṁne, eke, [p]ule (= Pāli pure, Skt. purāḥ), [m]u[kka]t[e], viyāṁjānat[e]. But o is found instead of e, as at Gīrnār, in Sātiyaputo, Kē[ḥa]ḥṣuto, jani[yo], li[j]dno, yaso or yasho, tato; ā in ḍakā; a in vadha (XIII, 36), hidolokikya (XIII, 17), esk[a] (XIII, 38), ca[cha] (XII, 31).

Sanskrit words ending in m and n substitute Anusvāra for these two nasals; e.g. dhānmanī, dānānī, and the two present participles saṁtām and kalanītam (XII, 33), which correspond to Skt. śam and karśan. The Anusvāra is, however, frequently omitted; see kala[nīta] (XI, 30) and kalata (XII, 32) for kalanītam, anata (XI, 30) for aṁnītam, adisha (= Skt. yādṛīṣam, XI, 29), ṣāṣhaṇḍa, ṣāṣhaḍa, and ṣāṣha, ḍāḍha (XIII, 36), madava (= mārdavam, XIII, 4), viṣay[a] and viṣayatarīya (XIII, 16), [ṣka]va (= sarśam, X, 28), heva (= ēvam, XII, 32), and the accusatives feminine anasa[tā]i (XIII, 12), kīti, khanīti, vadhi, Sanibodhi, sudhi, himi. In other instances the Anusvāra is dropped and preceding a lengthened; see [ā]disā (= Skt. yādṛīṣam, IV, 10), kanī[ma]tā (= **karmatarām*, VI, 20), kḥudā (= kṣudram, IX, 24), dosā (I, 2), nilathiyā (IX, 24), ṣāṣaḥ (XII, 32), ṣanā (thrice = ṣanyām), bahuk[ā] (I, 2), maha-phalā (= mahā-phalam, XIII, 14). As a rule, the nom. sing. of neuters in -a follows the analogy of the nom. sing. masculine and ends in -e; see se, she, ese, eshe, ye, e, aṁne, sare, shave, i[tā]le, dāne, &c. The acc. sing. neut. has the same termination in dāne (XII, 31), ḍāḍhatala (XII, 33), and in the particles e (XIII, 38), se, she.

Words ending in long nasalized vowels are treated in three different ways. Long ā is generally shortened; e.g. ṣānāmānī, tāmānī (XIII, 38), tesham (XIII, 37), nāti[nām] (IV, 10), bhā[ṣīnā]m (V, 16). In other instances the Anusvāra is dropped; see the genitives plural [ba]m̐bha-nāna (XI, 29), natina (IV, 9), bh[agī]m[nā] (V, 16), gulunā (IX, 25), and the accusatives singular ṣujā (XII, 31), ḍanīḍatā (XIII, 17), dishā (XIV, 23), [ma]hathāwā (X, 27), which is perhaps a clerical mistake for mahathāwāḥ (= Skt. mahārthāwahām). Thirdly, the Anusvāra may be dropped and the long vowel shortened at the same time; see ṣajāva (= Skt. prajāvan, V, 15), ṣāṣaḍāna (XII, 31), m[a]nushān[a] (XIII, 39), i[d]āni (= idānīm, I, 3).

III. SANDHI.

Final m is preserved before the particle eva in tanveva, i[d]namvev[ā], [e]vamvevā, ṣāṁtīkyamvev[ā]. Hiatus is prevented by nasalizing the first of two vowels in the two compounds aṁnam-anashā (= Skt. anyōnyasya, XII, 33) and bhaṭam-ayesu (V, 15).

a + a are contracted into ā in etāyāthāye (XII, 34), [kaṭābhika]le, kurāpi (= Skt. kvāpi), gabhā-gāla, -vasābhīṣita, dhānmanānasa[tā]i (XIII, 12) or dhānmanashatī (twice), &c., but into short a in dhānmanasatī (thrice), dhāmma[ṣvī]e (XII, 35), li[p]īkalapalādheva (XIV, 23), and before an original group of consonants in a[tā]tā (twice = Skt. yatra yatra), apalanitā (= āparāntāḥ, V, 15), tenatā (= tēnātra, VIII, 23), diyadhā (= **dvikārdha*, XIII, 35), nathī (= nāstī), supāthāy[e] (= sūpārthāya, I, 3).

a + ā becomes ā in pā[nū]lāmbhe (IV, 9) and [ma]hathāwā (= Skt. mahārtha + āvahām (?), X, 27).

ā + a becomes a before an original group in [ma]hatha (= mahā + artha, X, 27).

ā + u becomes o in ṣajopadāne(ye), on which see below, p. lxxv, n. 1.

a is elided before i, e, o in banibhān-ibhesu (V, 15), elveva, manus-opagāni (II, 5),<sup>1</sup> and before u in chu, 'but',<sup>2</sup> which corresponds to chō (= cha + u) in Buddhist gāthās.<sup>3</sup>

i + a are contracted into i in ithidhiyakha (= stry-adhyaksha, XII, 34).

u is elided before o in pas-opagāni (II, 5).

Combined consonants are either assimilated, or an auxiliary vowel is developed between them. The only groups which occasionally remain unchanged are tv, dhr, ny, vy, sv. For the two groups ky and gy see above, p. lxxi.

Long ā preceding a group of consonants is generally shortened; see ata- (= Skt. ātman), a[tiyāyike] (= ātyayikam),<sup>1</sup> anap[a]yisanti (III, 8), anusathi (= anustāsti), asamati (= asamāpti), ayesu (= āryēshu), āladhe (= **ārūddham*), gadhā (= **gāddhā*), tadatvōye, palakamāmi, palakamātu, palakamenā, pasavati (= prasāvuyatē), ma[g]a (= mārga, II, 6), madava (= mārdava, XIII, 4), mahāmata (= mahāmātra). But the length is preserved in ānapayite and mahāmāta. Long i preceding a simple consonant is shortened and the consonant itself doubled in tiñni (= trīṇi, I, 3). Similarly, bh[u]ye, vedaniya, anuvīdhiyama (read **yamti*) may be meant for bhuyye, vedaniyya, anuvīdhiyyamti; cf. above, p. lix. Short a preceding a group is lengthened in ānatā (= anyatra, XIII, 38), panātikya (= **pranāptika*, IV, 11), and shāvā- (= sarva-, XII, 31). In pātanitika (twice = pāratrika) the short a preceding the group tr has been nasalized.<sup>2</sup>

A long nasalized vowel is shortened before consonants, as it is often at the end of words (see above, p. lxxiii), in atikāntam (= atīkrāntam), khanīti (= kshānti, XIII, 16), Tambapānini (= Tāmraparṇi), Pāṇḍiyā (= Pāṇḍyāḥ), banbhana (= brāhmaṇa), [bha]m[da] (= bhāṇḍa, III, 8), sa[m]sayikye (= sāmsayikam, IX, 26). In b[ā]bhanā (XIII, 37), Devānūpiye (twice), and in the third persons plural pāpamāta(ti), palakamātu,<sup>3</sup> lochetu (XIII, 17), *[paṭi*]vedetu* (VI, 18), the Anusvāra is dropped.

As at the end of words (see above, p. lxxiii), there are many cases in the interior of words where the Anusvāra is omitted after a short vowel; see Atiyoge (XIII, 6), ateshu (= antēshu), anata (= ananta), anubadh[ā] (= anubandhāt), abaka- (= ambika), alabhi[ya]nti (cf. the aorist alanibhi-jisu, I, 3), Alīkyashudale (= Alēḡavdpos), Kaligya (= Kalīṅga), pāṣaḍa and pashaḍa (= pāṣhaṇḍa),<sup>4</sup> magala (= maṅgala), vihisā (= vihīṁsā), shambudh[e] (= sambandhah), shav[i]blage (= samvī-bhāḡah), sayama and sanyama (IX, 25), vashati (= vasanti), and manatu (3. plur. imperative of root man).

While most groups of consonants are assimilated, others are avoided by developing an auxiliary vowel in the middle of them. This vowel is a in ga[ta]hati (= Skt. garhati), galahā, Alīkyashudale (= Alēḡavdpos); u before or after labials in kuvāpi, duve, duvāḡaṣa, putava (= pūrva), suvāmika, pāpamāta(ti); and frequently i; see lājina (= rājñā), lājine (= rājñah), the future passive participles in -taviya, -adhiyaksha (= adhyaksha), [a]nanīya (= anrīnya), apatiye, alabhi[ya]nti, [e]katiyā, Pāṇḍiyā, paṭivesiya, madhulīya (= mādhurya), vīyamjana, vīyōpaṭa (= vyāpṛita), [shamacha]ṭiya (= **sama-charya*), shinche (= snēhah), siyā (= syāt). Similarly, an auxiliary i is prefixed to the group str in ithi (= strī).

It is unnecessary to quote examples of the groups kr, gr, tr, dr, pr, br, bhr, sr, sr, which have become k, g, t, d, p, b, bh, s, s throughout. The remaining groups and their equivalents are given in the subjoined list.

kt becomes t in Nābhapaṇti, &c.

kv becomes kuv in kuvāpi.

ksh becomes kh in -adhiyaksha, khanīti (= Skt. kshānti), khuda (= kshudra), dakhati,<sup>5</sup> [tu]kha (= vriksha), mokha, su(sam)khita (= samkshipta); chh in chhanati.

khy becomes kh in shamkheye (read samkhiya).

khl becomes kh in kho = Skt. khatn; see above, p. lvi and n. 2.

ts becomes s (or sh) in chikisā, chikisakā, [n]shajē[na] and ushuṭena.

dhy becomes jh in n[i]jhati, majhimenā, but dhiy in -adhiyakha.

dhr remains in dhruve (I, 4); but it seems to be assimilated in [Adha] (= Andhra, XIII, 10).

ny becomes nin or n in anina and ana, maṇnat[i] and manati.

pt becomes t in guti, n[i]jhati, asamati, su(sam)khitenā, natāle (= Skt. naṭtārāḥ), panāṭikyā, Tulamaye (= Πτολεμαῖος).

rṭh becomes ṭh in aṭha; th in atha and nilathiyā; see above, p. lxxi and n. 4.

rd becomes d in madava (= Skt. mārdava).

rdh becomes dh in vadhite, vadhiyisati; ḍh in vadhite, vaḍhiyati, [pa]v[ā]ḍhayisaṇṭ[i], diyadhā.

<sup>1</sup> Dhāuli and Jaugada read °dāye, Mānsehrā °daye, but Shāhbāzgarhī pajūpadane, which might correspond to Skt. prajōṭpādane. At Kālśī the locative of utpādana is excluded, because it would end in -asi. For upadā = Skt. **utpad* see Bühler, ZDMG, 37. 431 f.

str becomes th in ithi (= Skt. strī).

sth becomes th in gahathāni, gilh[ī]thā, chil[ā]thitikyā (V, 17), but th in chila-thitikyā (VI, 20).

lm becomes mbl in banbhlana. The form banlmmana (XIII, 39) is intermediate between **bahmana* (= Skt. brāhmaṇa) and **banlhana* (banhaya at Girnār, IX, 5).

V. BASES IN CONSONANTS.

(1) Present participles in -at.

The nom. sing. masc. has a very curious form; it affixes the termination -añi, which is evidently derived from Skt. -an, to the strong form of the base : sañitāñi from root as, kalañitāñi (kala[nita], kalata) from root kṛi.

(2) Bases in -vat.

Nom. sing. masc. pajāva (= Skt. prajāvān).
 Instr. sing. hetuvatā.<sup>3</sup>

INTRODUCTION

(3) Masculines and neuters in -an.

Acc. neut. nāma, nāmā .
Instr. lājīnā, lajīnā .
Gen. lājīne .

The neuter base karman follows the a-declension: nom. sing. k[am]me or kanim[am], dat. kanimāye.

(4) Masculines in -in.

Nom. sing. Pi[ya]dasi (I, 2), Piyadasi , Piyadashi .

Acc. plur. [ha]thini (= hathini at Dhaulī, IV, 2).

The gen. sing. Piyadasisā follows the analogy of the a-declension.

With the acc. plur. masc. [ha]thini (i. e. hathini), cf. yutāni, &c., in the a-declension (above, p. lxxvi).

(5) Neuters in -as.

Acc. sing. yaso or yasho, bh[u]ye.

The base va[cha]- (XII, 31) corresponds to Skt. vachas.

(6) Other bases in consonants.

The feminine base diś (or disā) forms the acc. sing. dishā (for disām). The two feminine bases **uṣpad* and parishad also follow the a-declension: loc. sing. pajopālāne(ye) (see above, p. lxxv, n. 1), palis[ā]ye; nom. plur. palisā.

C.—PRONOUNS

(1) Pronoun of the first person.

Singular.	Plural.
Nom. hakaṁ .
Instr. mamayā, me (III, 7).
Gen. [mama], mamā, me .	ne (V, 16).

The nom. sing. hakaṁ must be derived from ahakam (= ahaam in Māhārāṣṭri); see Pāṇ. V, 3, 71, and Pischel's Grammatik, § 417.

The instr. sing. mamayā for Skt. mayā is due to the influence of the genitive mama. Cf. mamae, Hēmachandra, III, 109.

(2) Base ta.

Singular.	Plural.
Nom. masc. se, [ś]e, she ; neut. ta, se, [sh]e .	Masc. te .
Acc. masc. taṁ ; neut. se, she .
Instr. tena, tenā .	tehi .
Dat. tā[ye] .	te[hi] .
Abl. [ta]phā, t[ā] .
Gen. taśa, tasha, tasā, tashā .	teshaṁ, tānani .
Loc. taśi .

Nom sing. fem. sā, shā.

As noted by Bühler (ZDMG, 37. 592), the abl. sing. [ta]phā goes back to tamhā (= Skt. tasmāt); cf. aphe and tuphe (= Prākṛit amhe and tumhe) in the separate edicts at Dhaulī and Jaugaḍa. The abl. t[ā] is used as conjunction (V, 13); cf. Pischel's Grammatik, § 425.

(3) Base ēta.

Singular.	Plural.
Nom. masc. [e]se (VIII, 23), <sup>1</sup> [e]she (X, 28), <sup>2</sup> eśh[a] (XIII, 38); neut. ese, eshe.	Neut. e[t]āni.
Instr. etakenā.
Dat. etāya (XII, 34), etāye, dha(e)ta[k]āye.
Gen. etishā.

Nom. sing. fem. [e]sh[a] (XIII, 37).

With the gen. sing. etishā cf. etisa at Shāhbāzgarhī and Mānsehrā.

(4) Demonstrative idam.

Acc. neut. imañ.
Gen. imas[ā].
	Nom. sing. fem. iyañ.
	Dat. sing. fem. imāya.

The nom. masc. ayañ is taken from V, 15, where ayañ perhaps stands for e + ayañ (= Skt. jōyam). The form iyañ is used as masculine in V, 16; elsewhere as feminine and neuter.

(5) Interrogative pronoun.

The acc. plur. neut. [kā]ni is used as a demonstrative; see Text, p. 35, n. 12. The indefinite pronoun is formed with eħha = Skt. cha (nom. sing. masc. kechha) or chhi = Skt. chid (nom. and acc. sing. neut. kieħhi). As at Girnār, the compounds kiñti (XII, 33) and kiti are used in the sense of 'that'.

(6) Relative pronoun.

Singular.	Plural.
Nom. masc. ye, e; neut. ye, e, a, añ.	Masc. ye, e.
Acc. neut. yañ, añ, e (XIII, 38).
Instr. yena.
Gen. asā.	yeshañ.
Loc.	yesu.

(7) Base anya.

I. PRESENT.

First Sanskrit class.

Root kram: palakamāmi, *nikhami[am]*tu.

Root garh: ga[la]hati.

Root ji: the participle vijñamane and the absolutive vijñ[i]tu (XIII, 36) show that this root first followed the ninth class (Prākṛit jñādī) and subsequently the a-conjugation (Prākṛit jñādī).<sup>1</sup>

Root blñ: hoti, hurveyu (sixth class).

Root vas: vashati, vas[e]vu.

Root vrit: anuvatañti.

Root sthā. The absolutive chithū[u] (IV, 12) presupposes the Prākṛit present chithādī.

Second Sanskrit class.

Root ad follows the a-conjugation: adamāna.

Root as: atthi.

Root i or yā: yamti.

Root yā: ye[ham]; see below, p. lxxxii.

Root han: up[a]hanti[i].

Third Sanskrit class.

The gerundive pajohitaviye (I, 1) is derived from the present **johati*, in which the ñ of **jūhāti* (see above, p. lxvi) is strengthened by Guṇa.

Fourth Sanskrit class.

Root pad: paṭipajeyā.

Root man: manmat[i] and manati.

Fifth Sanskrit class.

Root āp follows the ninth class: pāpūnāta(tī).

Root śru follows the a-conjugation: śhune[y]u.

Sixth Sanskrit class.

Root ish: ichhati.

Seventh Sanskrit class.

Root yuj follows the a-conjugation: yujanitu.

Eighth Sanskrit class.

Root kṛi. The 3. sing. kaleti follows the analogy of the tenth class, but the 3. plur. ka[la]ñti the a-conjugation. Cf. Pischel's Grammatik, § 509.

Root kṣhaṇ follows the a-conjugation: chhanti.

Tenth Sanskrit class.

(a) With aya: dasayitu, [d]ipayema, ālādhayi[yañ]tu, a-lochayitu, alochayisu, [pa]v[a]dha-yisañti[i]. The character aya is changed to iya in vadhiyati (XII, 32) and vadhiyisati (IV, 11) and is contracted to e in pūjeti, pūjetav[i]ya, lochetu, nivateti and *ni[vā*]jeti*, *[paṭi*]vedetu*.

(b) With āya: sukhāyāmi (VI, 20).

(c) With paya: hāpa[y]i[sat]i, [ānapaya]mi, anap[a]yisan̄ti, ānapayite, lopita.

(d) With āpaya: lekhāpēsam̄i, likhāpita (without Gṇya of the radical vowel), khānapita, hālāpita.

(e) With pāpaya: lepāpita.

(2) Moods.

The terminations of the middle are replaced by those of the active, with the exception of the 3. sing. aorist nikhamithā and the two participles present adamāna and vijīnamana.

(a) Indicative.

1. sing. palakamāmi, [ānapaya]mi.

3. sing. *[pa*]lakamati*, ga[la]hati, dakhati, hoti, atki, up[a]ham̄t[i], manam̄t[i] and manati, icchati, kaleti, chhanati, pajeti, nivateti and *ni[va*]teti*, vaḍhiyati.

3. plur. anuvatan̄ti, vas̄kati (= Skt. vasanti), yan̄ti, iccham̄ti, ka[la]n̄ti. In pāpunāta(ti) the termination -ti (for -nti) is affixed to the strong base of the ninth class (pāpunā-); cf. the 3. sing. pāpunāti and the 2. plur. pāpunātha in the first separate edict at Dhauḷi and Jaugaḍa.

(b) Subjunctive.

1. sing. sukhāyāmi (with indicative termination).

3. sing. susushātū (desiderative, with imperative termination).

3. plur. palakamātu (with -tu for -nta).

(c) Optative.

1. sing. ye[ham̄] (for **jeyam̄*) from root yā (VI, 20). Cf. [pa]ti[pādāy]ekam̄ (or paṭipātayekam̄) and ālābhēkam̄ in the separate edicts at Dhauḷi and Jaugaḍa. Senart has noted similar forms in the Mahāvastu (vol. I of his edition of this work, p. 403): tishṭhēkam̄, abhisambhūyēkam̄, gacchēkam̄.

3. sing. nivāṭey[ā], paṭipajeyā, siyā, siyā, siyāti, shiyāti. The two last forms (= Skt. syāt) have the termination of the indicative; cf. Text, p. 71, n. 14. With the contracted form ni: aṭey[ā] (= Skt. nirvartayēti, IX, 26) Senart (Inscriptions de Piyadasi, I, 215) compares Pāli niḍḍatteyyam̄ (for niḍḍattayeyyam̄) in the commentary on the Dhammapadam, p. 143 [l. 2]. Cf. also choreyya for chorayeyya in E. Müller's Pāli Grammar, p. 110, dāre = Skt. dapayēh and paṭigāhe = Skt. prati-grāhayēh in Pischel's Grammatik, § 460.

1. plur. [a]ipayema.

3. plur. a[su] (cf. above, p. lxvii), huvēya,<sup>1</sup> shame[y]u, shushusheyu (desiderative). The y of the optative is replaced by v in vas[ē]vu (VII, 21).

(d) Imperative.

3. sing. hotu, [a]nuva[ta]tu.

3. plur. nikham[am̄]tu, manatu, yujan̄tu, ālādhayi[ya]m̄tu, lechetu (= Skt. rēchayantu), *[paṭi*]-vedetu*, anuv[ī]dh[iya]m̄tu (passive).

(e) Imperfect.

3. sing. aho (from root bhū).

II. AORIST.

3. sing. middle nikhamithā (from nish-kram, VIII, 22). In Pāli and Ardhamāgadhi the termination is -ittha and -iṭṭhā; see E. Müller's Pāli Grammar, p. 115, and Pischel's Grammatik, § 517.

3. plur. active nikhamisu, husu (= ahimsu at Gīrnār). The two forms manishu (XIII, 16) and alochayisu<sup>2</sup> are used as subjunctives.

III. PERFECT.

3. sing. āhā, ahā (V, 13) = Skt. āha.

IV. FUTURE.

1. sing. kachhāmi,<sup>1</sup> lekhāpeśāmi.

3. sing. kachhati, vadhiyisati, hāpa[y]i[sat]i.

3. plur. kachhami[i]i, anuvāṭisa[ni]ti, anusāsisaṁti, anap[a]yisaṁti, [pa]v[a]ḍhayisaṁti[i], and the two passives [a]nurvīdhiyisāna (read °saṁti) and alābhi[y]isa[ni]ti.

V. PASSIVE.

The terminations are those of the active.

The 3. sing. indicative pasavati (= Skt. prasāvyatē) occurs three times and is misspelt twice (pavasati, IX, 26, and paṣavati, XI, 30); cf. Text, p. 39, n. 3.

3. plur. indicative anuvīdhiyāna (read °yaṁti, = Skt. anuvīdhiyantē), alābhi[yam]ti.

3. plur. imperative anuvī[dh]iṣa[ni]tu.

3. plur. aorist alanībhiyisu.<sup>2</sup>

3. plur. future [a]nurvīdhiyisāna (read °saṁti), alābhi[y]isa[ni]ti (cf. the Sanskrit aorist passive alābhi).

VI. DESIDERATIVE.

3. sing. subjunctive susushātu.

3. plur. optative shushusheyu.

VII. PARTICIPLES.

(1) Present participle.

Active.

Root as: saṁtām.

Root kṛi: kalanitām (kala[ni]ta, kalata).

Middle.

(2) Past passive participle.

(a) In -ta: mata and muta (= Skt. mata), maṭa (= mṛita), kaṭa (= kṛita), viyāpata (= vyāpṛita), viṭhaṭa (= viṣṭṛita), [u]shaṭa and ushuṭa (= utsṛita), uisita (= **niśṛita*), likhita, lekhita, likhāpita, khānāpita, hālāpita, lopita, loṇāpita, ānapayita,<sup>3</sup> luta (= bhūta), atikanita (= atīkrānta), su(sam)khita (= saṁkṣipta), vudha (= vṛiddha), apavudha (= apōḍha), ladha (= labdha), āladha (= **ārāddha*), &c.

(b) In -na: p[a]sh[am]na, vipahina (i. e. °hina).

(3) Future passive participle.

(a) In -tavya: kaṭaviya, vataviya, pajohitaviya (see above, p. lxxxi), viḥayataviya (for Skt. viḥetavya under the influence of the substantive viḥaya), *pūjetav[i]ya, paṭi[vedeta*]viya*.

(b) In -anīya: vedaniya.

VIII. ABSOLUTE.

- (a) In -tu (= Skt. -tvā): ālabhitu, palitiditu (from root tyaj with Samprasāraṇa of ya and dentalization of j), chihhit[u] (from the Prākṛit present chihhadi), vijju[i]tu (from the present **vi-jinati*; see above, p. lxxx), sutu (from root śru), dasayitu, a-lochayitu (= a-rōchayitvā).
- (b) In -ya: shaṅkheya (read saṅkhāya) from saṅ-khyā.

F.—SUFFIXES

The pleonastic affix -ka (or -kya) occurs in hakaṇ (= Skt. aham), etaku, ava[ta]ka (from Skt. yāvat), tāvataka, nātika or nātikya (= Skt. jñāti), panātikya (= pramapti), svāmika (= svāmin). The adjective shayaka seems to be formed from Skt. śvayam; see Text, p. 49, note 2.

With the affix -ālaka or -ālaya is formed mahālaka, 'wide' (XIV, 20), 'aged' (V, 16), = Prākṛit mahālaya (Pischel's Grammatik, p. 402). As suggested in the Text (p. 33, n. 3), supadūlaya (V, 14) seems to contain the same affix and to signify 'stepping fast'.

The affixes -tara and -tama are added to substantives in kaṇ[ma]talā (i.e. karmaturam, VI, 20) and gajatame, 'the best elephant' (Text, p. 50).

CHAPTER VIII.

GRAMMAR OF THE SHAHBAZGARHI ROCK-EDICTS, WITH NOTES ON THE MANSEHRA VERSION

The Shāhbāzgarhī version has received the advantage of a detailed treatment by an accomplished linguist, Professor Johansson:—Der Dialekt der sogenannten Shāhbāzgarhī-Redaktion der vierzehn Edikte des Königs Aśoka. (Tiré des Actes du 8<sup>e</sup> Congrès International des Orientalistes, tenu en 1889 à Stockholm et à Christiania). [Part 1,] Leide, 1892. Part 2, Upsala, 1894. In the following pages the results of his investigations are utilized for my own inventory of the language of the text, which I had been able to improve by repeated examination of the fresh impressions.

A.—PHONETICS

I. VOWELS.

The vowel a becomes u after a labial in mut[a] (= Skt. mata, XIII, 8) and uchavueha. In meñati (= manyatē, XIII, 11) the change of a into ē is perhaps caused by the palatal ñ.<sup>1</sup>

If the reading etra (VI, 15) is correct (the other versions have here iyam, eshe, &c.), it would correspond to eta (Girnār) and heta (Kālsī) = **itra*; see above, pp. lvi and lxx. As at Kālsī, the vowel e corresponds to Skt. ī in ediśa (= īdrīśa).

As in Pāli, Skt. u is represented by a in paua (VI, 14, 15) = puna (six times, for Skt. punaḥ), and in garuna (IX, 19) = guruna (XIII, 4, for Skt. gurūṇām). Michelson suggests that the form pana may be due to vowel-assimilation; see IF, 23. 258, n. 1. In kho (= Skt. khalu) Skt. u is represented by o; see above, p. lvi and n. 2.

The vowel ri is replaced by (1) a, (2) i, (3) u, (4) ra, (5) ri, (6) ir, (7) ru, causing at the same time the lingualization of a following dental. See (1) usaṭena, dukaṭam, bhaṭa, bhaṭaka, vaḍhi (= Skt. vridhī), vaṭaṭa and viyaṭaṭa (= vyāpṛita), anaṭiyam, [da]khati; (2) kiṭa, s[n]kiṭa[ni], ediśa, tadiśa, yadiśa, pranatika; (3) bases in -ri: pītushu, bhratuna, spasa(su)na (= svasṛiṇām), and for ri after a labial: agrabhūti, vīyapūṣa (= vīyāpūṣa), muṣa, vutām and vūṣām (= vūṣitām), nivūṣa (= nivūṣitā), nivūṣi (= nivūṣitā), vūḍha (= vūḍḍha); (4) grahatha (= grīhastha); (5) [kr]i[ta] (II, 4), drāḍha, vīśrīṣṇa; (6) kīṭra (i.e. kīṭa, = Skt. kṛita);<sup>1</sup> (7) for ri after a labial: pa[rī]p[ru]ccha, mrāḡa, mrāḡaya (= mrīḡaya). In śrūṣya (XII, 7) the ru is due to the influence of śrūta, śrūta, &c.

In a few cases the vowel e, both if it is inherited from Sanskrit and if it is due to dialectical changes (cf. Johansson, § 23), appears to have become i; see duv[i] = du[v]e at Mānśhrā for Skt. duḥ (II, 4) and drau (I, 3), oyi for **aye* = Skt. ayam, amūi (VIII, 17) for amūe = Skt. anyaḥ, Amīkīni (nom. sing., XIII, 9), rajani (nom. plur., XIII, 9).

The two diphthongs ai and au have become e and o, respectively; see niche (perhaps = Skt. nīchāḥ, VII, 5), [o]sha[dha]ni (II, 5), papaṣtra (XIII, 11), paralokika, -opaka and -opaya.

The Kharoṣṭhi alphabet does not mark the length of the three vowels a, i, u, and we must always keep in mind that every a, i, u of the text may be meant for a or ā, i or ī, u or ū, respectively.

Initial a is dropped in pi (= Skt. api); i in ti (= iti) and kiti (= **kīd + iti*); e generally in va, while eva is preserved three times through Sandhi. Besides va, the text often uses the two forms vo (= Vedic āv, i.e. eva + a)<sup>2</sup> and jo, which Johansson (§ 36) derives from Prākṛit yeva (= Skt. ēva).<sup>3</sup>

II. SIMPLE CONSONANTS.

The guttural k has become y in nirāṣiṣya (= nīlathiya at Kālsī) and -oṣiya (VIII, 17) = -opaka (II, 5), instead of which the remaining versions of the rock-edicts (besides Mānśhrā) have -opaga. It seems to be dropped altogether in diḍḍha = **dikārdha*. Greek χ is expressed by k in Amītiyoka, and y by the same in Amītikīni and Maka. Skt. gh has become h in lahu and lahuka.

The palatal j has become y in Kamīḍya, [p]rayukothare, samaya (= Skt. samāja, I, 1, 2), raya (= rajā), and is represented by ch in vrachasfi, vrachabhumika (also at Mānśhrā), and in vracharūḍi, [r]acheyam; cf. Prākṛit rachchāi (for **rajayati*?) = Skt. rajati.

Skt. ṣ is generally preserved, except in kshamanaya, garana, aviprahina, pranatika, Pitinika (= P[re]tika at Gīrnār). In terminations, however, dental n is never lingualized after ri, r, or sh; see akarena, agrena, anāṣṭarīyena, khaḍḍakena, Devanāṣṭriyena, parakramena, putrena, vāgrena, āḥīramani, rupani, sahajani, Gaṇadhāranani, manāṣanani, mahamatranani, Rāṣṭhikanani, garuna, garuna, ṣṭhāna, ḥratana, ṣṭha(su)na. On the other hand lingual ṣ is newly developed after r in prapṣati (from Skt. prāpṣati), sahṣiraya (from śrayati), and wrongly in Devanāṣṭriy[e] (I, 1).

Dentals are lingualized after an original ri (see above, p. lxxxiv), after ra in the preposition rafi (eight times) or rafi (twice) for prati (five times), and after sha in [o]sha[dha]ni (II, 5), prashanḍa and prashanḍa (for **pārshadā* and **pārshadā* = Skt. pārshadā). Between vowels t is replaced by d in haṣṭadī (= haṣṭati at Mānśhrā) and, as at Kālsī, in hīda-sukhaye (V, 12).<sup>4</sup> Here we have the beginning of the process which, later on, every intervocalic t underwent in the Śaurasēni dialect. For hīda (five times) = ihā at Gīrnār, see above, p. lxxii.

As in literary Prākṛit, the labial p becomes v between vowels in avutroṣya (XIII, 8). Initial b is replaced by p in paḥam (VII, 5) for badham (XIII, 3). The aspirate bh has turned to h in hoti (only VIII, section E, for the usual bhoti), aho, and in the termination -hi (= Skt. -bhi in bahūhi and lāḥi).

As at Kālsī, y becomes j in majara (= Skt. mayūra, I, 3), and v in vīḥana (XIII, 8). h is dropped at the beginning of ava (five times) for yava (IX, 19) = Skt. yavat and of [e] (XIII, 11) for ye = Skt. yut, and between two vowels in Priṇḍrafi (thrice), Devanāṣṭriyana (four times).

**piasa* (I, 2), ekatia (I, 2), vijetav[i]a (XIII, 11). The syllable ya becomes i in paritijitu (= palitiditu at Kālsī). The causative affixes aya and ayi either remain unchanged (in aṇapayami, draśayitu, &c.) or are contracted (in aṇapemi, aṇapeśanti, &c.). The same contraction takes place in anuneti (XIII, 7). The e of the 3. sing. optative nivāteyati (= Skt. nivartayēt) corresponds to an original aye, and the o of the numeral todaśa (= Skt. trayōdaśa) to an original ayo.<sup>1</sup>

The change of r into l in palig[o]dha (V, 12), palibodha (V, 13), sala (= Skt. sāra, XII, 2, 8), lo[ch]e[sh]u and a-locheti<sup>2</sup> is a Māgadhism, while, as at Gīrnār, r corresponds to l in **arabhati*, 'to kill', = Skt. ālabhatē (see below, p. xciv), and in Turamaye = Πτολεμαῖος (XIII, 9). As stated above (p. lvii), this wrong translation of the foreign name Tulamaye (Kālsī) proves that the Shāhbāzgarhī version is based on a Māgadhā original. In Keraḍaputro (II, 4) the q corresponds to the lingual l of Tamil Kēraḷa; the other versions of the rock-edicts have l instead of l.

The semivowel v is developed out of u and ū in vuchati (= Skt. uchyatē), vuta (= upta, II, 5), and apavūḍha (= apōḍha). As at Kālsī, the syllable vā becomes u in the absolutes in -tu (= Skt. -tvā). Contraction of ava into o takes place in orodhana, bhoti, hoti, bhotu, aho.

Like the Kālsī version, the Shāhbāzgarhī one distinguishes the three sibilants ś, sh, s, but with one important difference. While at Kālsī these three symbols are used indiscriminately (see above, p. lxxii), the Shāhbāzgarhī text generally employs each of them where it would have been in its proper place in Sanskrit.<sup>3</sup> Thus we find ś in anusāsti, aśamana, ediśa, tadiśa, yadiśa, daśa, deśa, draśana, draśayitu, Priyadraśi, paśu, pradeśi[ka], yaśo, śaka (= Skt. śakya), śata, śila (i. e. śīla), [śilana] (i. e. śīlana), śudhi (i. e. śuddhi), śaśayike, prativeśiya, niśita (= Skt. **niśrita*), śramaṇa, śravaka, śruta, śrutu, śruṇeyu; and sh in eshe, esha, [o]sha[dha]ni, ghosha, tosho, dosha, parisha, prashamḍa, vishava (= vishaya), pitushu, in the loc. plur. in -eshu, in the gen. plur. tesha[ni] and yeshu, in the 3. plur. aorist nikramishu, mañishu, lo[ch]e[sh]u, in vasha (= varsha) and kashati (= **karshyati*). Exceptions are not frequent: s for ś in anusochana, [s]reṭha (= śrēshṭha); s for sh in abhisita (= abhishikta), yesu, u[bha]y[e]sa, [arabhi]yis[u]; sh for s in painchashu and shashu. In manuśa (= manushya) and in the futures in -iśati and -eśati the ś is a defective spelling for śś, in which the original sh had been palatalized through the influence of the following y. In suśrūsha, suśrūshatu, suśrūsheyu the first s (for ś) is probably due to dissimilation, and in an[ū]śaśana, anuśaśanti the second ś (for s) is due to assimilation.<sup>4</sup>

Cases of Cockneyism are hanche (see above, p. lxxii), hahati (twice) for ahati (thrice) = Skt. āha, hida (see above, p. lxxii), hidalokika. Conversely, h is dropped at the beginning of [a]stina = Skt. hastina, and between two vowels in maa = Prākṛit maha (gen. sing. of the pronoun of the first person), ia (= Skt. iha) and ialoka.

As at Gīrnār and Kālsī, all final consonants are dropped. In some cases this applies also to the s of final as; see jana, &c. (below, p. xc), [sa] (XIII, 10), ekatia (I, 2), [a]stina (= Skt. hastina, IV, 8), vacha (XII, 2). But generally final as becomes o, and frequently, as in the Māgadhā dialect, e; see bhuy[e], chature, and the nom. sing. masc. eshe, y[e] (V, 13), añe (XII, 9), jane, &c. (below, p. xc). In aniñi (VIII, 17), Antikini (XIII, 9), rajani (XIII, 9) = rajanu (II, 4), -i has taken the place of -e.

The Anusvāra of words ending in nasal vowels is omitted in many instances. The reason of this deficiency need not be the carelessness of the writer, but may have been as well the faint articulation of the nasal sound. Examples of the omission are prajava (= Skt. prajāvān), ida (IX, 20) = idañi (XIII, 3), ima (IX, 19) = imañi (passim), aya (twice) = ayañi (V, 13), [i]dani (= Skt. idānīm),<sup>5</sup> eva (twice) = evañi (passim), the acc. sing. masc. aṭh[r]a, dosha, ba[hu]ka, the nom. and acc. sing. neut. dana, &c. (below, p. xc), the acc. sing. fem. pūja, &c., and Sabodhi, &c., the gen. plur. ñatīna, Nabhitīna, guruna, garuna, bhratuna, spasā(su)na, tesha, yeshu, u[bha]y[e]sa, abhiratana, &c. (below, p. xc).

As in the Māgadhā dialect, the nom. sing. neut. frequently ends in -e instead of -ani; see eshu (X, section E), ye (VI, section F; IX, F and I; XIII, 1), savre (XII, 5; XIV, 13), [saha]sre

(XIII, 1), dant, &c. (below, p. xc). This barbarism is due to the analogy of the nom. sing. masculine.<sup>1</sup> The termination -e is found even in the acc. sing. masc. (sayame, VII, 2) and in the particle [ē] (= Skt. yat, XIII, 5). While in the nom. sing. masc. we often have -e for -o (see above, p. lxxxvi), the -e of the nom. sing. neut. is replaced by -o in kaṣavo and three other gerundives (see below, p. xc), and the nom. sing. neut. of the pronoun idam has once the form īyo (XII, 2) for īyam (VIII, section E). The nom. sing. masc. so is used for the nom. sing. neut. (XIII, 2) and for the acc. sing. neut. (passim), and the relative yo (X, 21) for the acc. sing. neut. yat. Instead of anudīvasam at Gīrnār we find anudīvaso (I, 2), and at XII, 6, the acc. sing. of the masculine dhrama is dhramo. Finally it must be noted that ayi occurs repeatedly instead of ayam and aya (= Skt. ayam and iyam).

III. SANDHI.

Final m is preserved before the particle eva in [ē] vamveva and paratṛi[ka]mveva, and hiatus is prevented by m in aṇam-aṇasa and dhāṇam-ayeshu.

As the length of ā is not marked in the Kharoṣṭhī alphabet, the result of a+a always appears in writing as short a; see kīṭablikaro, grabhagara, tenada (= Skt. tēnātra), nasti, praṇa-ravibho, mahābhavika, -vashabhisita, supāṭhay[ē], dhramamnsasti, &c. The hiatus remains in [aṭha] vasha-a[ḥhis]ito[sa] (XIII, 1).

a is elided before i in bramaṇ-ibhesku; before u in chn (= cha+u) and paj-upadane; before e in cheva; before o in manus-opakani and tat-opayan (see above, p. lxxii); and u before o in paś-opakani.

i+a are contracted into i in ī[stṛidhī]yaksha (= Skt. stry-adhyaksha).

IV. GROUPS OF CONSONANTS.

As at Gīrnār (above, p. lix), there is some inconsistency in marking the letter r if it is combined with other consonants. 'The order of the symbols does not conform to the actual pronunciation, but to the convenience of the combinations':<sup>2</sup>

(1) r is combined with the preceding akshara

(a) in rbh: grabhagara (= garbhāgāra).

(b) in rm: dhrama (i. e. dharma) and dhramma (i. e. dharmma), krama (= Skt. karma) and kramma (i. e. karmma).

(c) in rv: pṛiva (= Skt. pūrva).

(d) in rs: draṣana (i. e. darśana), draṣayitu (= Skt. darśayitvā), Priyadraṣi.

(e) in rsh: prashanīda and prashaḍa (from Skt. pārshada).

(2) r is attached to the next following consonant

(a) in rg: vagra (i. e. varga), spagra (= Skt. svarga).

(b) in rt: kīṭra (i. e. kīṛta, = Skt. kṛita), kītri (= Skt. kīrti).

(c) in rth and rṭh: athra and aṭhra (= Skt. artha).

(d) in rv: savra (i. e. sarva) and savratra (i. e. sarvatra).

It must be remembered that, wherever the above-mentioned words occur in the text, the transcript shows the imperfect spelling of the inscription, but not the actual pronunciation.

As at the end of words, the Anusvāra is often omitted before consonants; see atara and aintara, atikrata (= Skt. atīkrānta), Atiyoka and Aintiyoka, anata and ananta, Alīkasudaro (= Ἀλῆξαρδρος), karataim and karamtaim, Kaliga, Devanapriya and Devanaimpriya, prashada and prashanīda,<sup>3</sup> badhana and sambha[m]dha, magala and maingala, vihisa (= Skt. vihīṃsā), sataim and sa[m]taim, Sabodhi, sayama and sa[m]yama, s[a]yuta (= saniyukta), saṣayika (= sāṃśayika),

sastuta and saṁstuta, and the 3. plur. karō[ti] (IX, section C), prapūṇati (XIII, 6), bhoti (XIII, 7), vasati (XIII, 4), uik[r]amatu, mañā[tu], aradhētū, paṭivedetū, rochetū.

Some groups of consonants are avoided by the development of an auxiliary vowel, which is a in garahati; u before or after a labial in duv[ī], prapūṇati; and frequently i, as the subjoined list of Sanskrit groups and of their equivalents at Shāhbāzgarhi will show. Michelson has proved that some of these correspondences are in reality Māgadhisms and alien to the Shāhbāzgarhi dialect; see his articles in AJP, vols. 30 and 31, and JAOS, vol. 30.

(1) Pronoun of the first person.

Nom. sing. akam.Instr. sing. maya.Gen. sing. maa, me.

With the gen. maa cf. Prākṛit maka, which seems to be derived from the Skt. genitive mama under the influence of the dative mahyam; see Michelson, JAOS, 30. 85, n. 2.

Nom. sing. fem. esha (XIII, 4).

The i of the gen. sing. etisa, which is found also at Mānsehrā (XII, 8), is perhaps due to the analogy of the Pāli interrogative kissa (from base kī) = kassa (from base ka).

The dialect of the Mānśchrā text is nearly identical with the Shāhbāzgarhī one, but contains some more Māgadhiisms.<sup>2</sup> It will, therefore, be sufficient to draw attention only to those forms at Mānśchrā which differ from the corresponding ones at Shāhbāzgarhī.

The vowel e for a in the second syllable of sayene (VII, 33) may be due to the preceding palatal y, unless it is a clerical error. For the form m[um]ṣa (II, 8) see above, p. lxx. Instead of the vowel ri the Mānśchrā version has (1) a in kaṭa, sukaṭa, [ma]ṭe; (2) u in [pa]r[i]puchha, vaputa (= Skt. vīyāpṛita); (3) e in gathata (= gṛihastha);<sup>3</sup> (4) ra in vīyapraṭa (V, 24);<sup>4</sup> (5) ar in kaṭra (i. e. karṭa = Skt. kṛita), vudhri (i. e. vṛiddhi = Skt. vṛiddhi); (6) ri in mrig[e], mrigaviya (= mṛigavyā); (7) ru in vudhi (= vṛiddhi);<sup>5</sup> (8) nr in vudhra (i. e. vṛiddha = Skt. vṛiddha). For ruchha = Skt. ṛiksha (II, 8) see above, p. lxx f.

<sup>3</sup> The Prākṛit form gṛha is used for gṛiha also in Sanskrit. Another instance of this change is the root ṛdh = ṛidh; see Wackernagel's Altind. Grammatik, 1. 39.

(II, 6). As at Kālsī, the palatal ch has been aspirated in kechhi (= Skt. kaśchit) and kichhi (= **kid + chid*). Dentals are lingualized in duva[da]śa (III, 9) = duva[da]śa (IV, 18), treḍaśa (V, 21), and after ṛi in kaśa, sukaśa, [ua]śe, vaṇuśa, viyapraśa, vrudhi. Sanskrit y is preserved in paṇatika (= prapaṇtika), but is represented by dental n in tī[ni] (= trīṇi). In aṇaṇiyāni (VI, 31) the first y is due to assimilation. The t for dh in śuti (VII, 33) is perhaps a clerical error. The bh of the root bhū has become h in hoti, hotu, aho, [hu]veyu, husu, huta-pruve (twice), but not in bhuta-pruva (V, 21) and in the substantive bhuta (i. e. bhūta). The semivowel y is prefixed to e in yeva, while initial y is lost in e, añ (= yat), [a]diśe (twice), atra (twice = yatra), atha (thrice = yathā). In supadarave (V, 21) we seem to have r for l and v for y; see Text, p. 33, n. 3, and above, p. lvii, n. 2. The first ś of śa[śa]yike (IX, 7) is due to assimilation. In the aorists husu, [arabhi]isu, and [alo]ekaj[i]su, dental s has taken the place of śh. In aa (VI, 26) = aha (i. e. āha) and aain (VI, 30) = ahain (VI, 28), h is elided between vowels.

Final as becomes o only in tato, vuḥhato (VI, 28), yaśo, Devanapriyo (VII, 32), niśito (V, 25), but generally e; see he[tute], vi[yañja]uate, uatare (= Skt. naṭtārāḥ), rajine (= rājñāḥ), ra[jane] (= rājñāḥ), Priyadraśine (gen. sing.), Devanapriye, &c. In viñi[k]ramaṇi (XIII, 5) the -e is replaced by -i.

The hiatus remains in dhramayuta-apalibodhaye (V, 23). a + e becomes e in usaṭen-eva (X, 11), and ā + u becomes o in praj-apadaye (IX, 2).

As at Shāhbāzgarhi, the letter r is sometimes attached to the next following consonant. Thus nirathriya (IX, 3) is meant for nirarthriya, vadhrite and vadhrayisati (IV, 15) for vardhite and vardhayisati. Similarly kaṭra (= Skt. kṛita, V, 24) stands for karṭa,<sup>1</sup> vadhri (= ṛiddhi) for varddhi, vudhira (= ṛiddha) for ṛurddha. Anusvāra is omitted before consonants in ata (II, 5), aparata (V, 22), samata (II, 6), [A]tiyoge, Adha, a[ua]taliyena, anarabhe, anubadha, apa-bha[ḍata], [aba]ka, asapa[ḥ]ipati, Gadharana, -elhadē, para[kra]uate (3. plur.), satiraṇa (VI, 30), haeche (for hañche).

ksh becomes chh in chhaṇati and ruchhani.

jñ becomes n in kiṇanata (= Skt. kṛitajñatā), but jñ in rajina (= rājñā) and rajine (= rājñāḥ).

ny becomes n in puṇa, puṇaṇi, afu[ne].

tm becomes tv in atva- (= Skt. ātman).

ty becomes tiy in apatiye, [eka]tiya.

tr remains in treḍaśa, but becomes t in tī[ni] (= Skt. trīṇi), and d in tenada and yada.<sup>2</sup>

dr becomes d in khuda and khudakena.

dv becomes duv in duva[da]śa and duva[ḍa]śa.

dhy becomes jh in istrija(jha)ksha.

ny becomes n, as at Kālsī, in ana[tra] (X, 11); y in añe, aṇatra (X, 9), aṇamanasa, maṇati, maṇ[ishu].

pr remains in praṇ[ō]tra, but becomes p in paṇatika, paraḍhayisañti, avipakin[ē], paṭibhogaye, paṭivesiyena.

br becomes b in bamaṇa (IV, 15) = bramaṇa (passim).

bhy remains in -ibhyeshu, but becomes bhiy in [ara]bh[iyañti], and bh in [arabhi]isu (aorist passive).

blr becomes bl in bhata(tu)na (V, 24) = bhratuna (twice).

my remains in samya-.

rg becomes g in ma[geshu].

rt becomes ṛ in anuvaṭatu and kīṛi (= Skt. kīrti).

rth remains in nirathriya (i. e. nirarthriya).

rdh remains in vadhrite (i. e. vardhite, IV, 15) and vadhrayisati (i. e. vardha°), but becomes dh in vadhite (IV, 12).

ly becomes y in kayana (= Skt. kalyāṇa).

vy becomes v in vaṇuśa; viy in viyapraśa, vi[yañja]uate, mrigaviya, kaṭaviya, pra[joli]taviye, vataviye, paṭivedetaviye.

vr becomes v in [p]rava[ji]tani.

A.—PHONETICS

I. VOWELS.

The vowel a is converted to i through the influence of a neighbouring y in majhima (= Skt. madhyama) and likhiyis[am]. It becomes u after a labial in muniṣa (= manushya), uchāvucha, and is assimilated to the vowel of the first syllable in udupāna (= udapāna).

The a in the second syllable of puḥkari, which corresponds to Skt. i, was originally an auxiliary vowel; see Pischel's Grammatik, § 115. In su = Skt. svīd, i has become u through the influence of the preceding ṛ. For e = i and i in heta (= **itra*) and edisa, hedisa (= Skt. īdṛiṣa), see above, p. lxx.

Skt. u is represented by a in pana (= puṇaḥ). In pulisa (= purusha) the i of the second syllable, which corresponds to Skt. u, was originally an auxiliary vowel; see Pischel's Grammatik, § 124. For the i in the second syllable of muniṣa (= Skt. manushya), see above, p. lxx and n. 3. In kho (= Skt. khaṇ), Skt. u is represented by o; see above, p. lvi and n. 2.

Skt. ṛi becomes (1) a in ana[n]a (= anṛiṇa), ānaṇna, ānaniya, and ānancya, naṣa, kaṣa, [ka]ṣu and kaṣu (= kṛitvā), lakṣatha, dakṣāmi, [bha]ṭaka, bhaṭi, vaḍhī, vithaṭa, viyāpaṭa; (2) i in edisa and hedisa, tādisa, ādisa (= yādṛiṣa), dhiti, ṣ[ṛ]iṭi su, bhāt[ṛ]i naṇu, m[ā]ṭi ṛi (= māṭṛi-, Dhau. IV, 4), niḡe, [miḡa]viy[ā]; (3) u in pitū (= pitṛi-, Dhau. IV, 4), and after labials in [a]nā[v]uti [= anāvṛitti], ṣ[al]iṭ[ṣuchh]ā, puṭhavi (= prithivī), vuḍha (= vṛiddha); (4) e in dekhata; (5) ra in drukhati (Jau. I, 2). The syllable vṛi is represented by lu in lukha (= vṛikṣha).

The diphthong ai becomes e in nīche (perhaps = Skt. nīchait), and au becomes o in -opaga and -[o]ṣaya, osadhāni, mokhya and mokhiya, papotū, pālalokika.

Short a, i, u are lengthened in atiyāyike (= Skt. ātyayikam), abhikā[la], chī[la]-ṭhitikū, [v]iṭvāha, anāvṛitiya (Dhau. Sep.) = [a]nā[v]uti[ya] (Jau. Sep.), tālanā[ya] and at[ṛ]i[ā]nā (for which Jau. Sep. reads t[ul]āya and [atulanā]), nīḥāliyena, ṣ[ṛ]iṭyū and yījēvū (also yūjēyū and yūjēvū), bahūhi, bahūsu. Final a, i, u may be lengthened either when they are followed by the particle tī (= iti) or without it; see ālā[dha]yisa[th]ā, āhā (passim) = ā[ha] (Jau. Sep. II, 1), chā, kechā, ṣaṭipādayemū ti, ma[m]ā ti, vā (twice = Skt. ēva), saveṇā (Jau. Sep. II, 3), hosūmi, aphesū ti, ālādhayantū ti, [ka]ṣu (Jau. Sep.) = kaṣu (Dhau. Sep.), palakama[ṇ]iṭ[ā], yujantū, s[ā]dh[ā] ti. Final a, i, u, which stand for original am, is, ur, are treated in the same way; see [aph]ākā ti, anusathī ti, āl[adh]iṭ, [n]ijhati, lipi, v[ā]dhi, sudhi, alochayisū, ālādhayey[ā] and ālādhayevū, chaley[ā] ti and chalevū, nikhamāvū, pāpucevū itī, yūjeyū ti and yūjēvū ti, ṣ[ṛ]iṭyū ti and yūjēvū ti, lahej[ṛ]i, [va]sevū ti, huvēvū ti and hvevū ti.

The three derivatives gamu[a], uagalaka, and vachauik[a] correspond to Skt. gāmuka, nāgaraka, and vāchanika. The ā of mahā- is shortened in mahamatā (Jau. Sep. II, 1). Final ā is often shortened; see atha and athā (= Skt. yathā), ada and adū (= yadū), tatha and tathā, pita and pitā, lāja and lājā, va and vā, kam[ma] and kamāna (= karmanā), [a]nā[v]uti[ya] and anāvṛitiya, and the nominatives singular feminine achala, ichha, likhit[a], sotaviya. Long i is shortened in nītiyan (thrice) = nīṭ[ṛ]iyan (Jau. Sep. I, 7) and in the nom. plur. nati (Dhau. IV, 5) = nat[ṛ] (Dhau. and Jau. V, 2).

Initial vowels are dropped in pi (= Skt. api), hakam (for ahakam = aham), tī (passim) = itī (thrice) and kīnti, va and vā (= ēva). In hvevū (Jau. Sep.) = huvēvū (Kālsī and Mānschrā), the vowel u seems to be elided.

II. SIMPLE CONSONANTS.

In the separate edicts at Jaugaḍa the guttural k is softened in palalogani, hidalog[an], hidalogika, while Dhau. reads palaloka[ṇ], hidaloika, hidalokika.<sup>1</sup> k is represented by ṣ in nīlaṭh[ṛ]iyan (Dhau. IX, 2) and supadūlaye (Dhau. and Jau. V, 3); g by ṣ in -[o]ṣaya (Dhau. VIII, 3) = -opaga (Dhau. and Jau. II, 3). In akhakṣa (= Skt. akarkṣa, Dhau. Sep. I, 22) the aspiration of the first kh is perhaps due to the influence of the second kh, which is a defective spelling of kkh, and which was produced by the assimilation of the group rk.<sup>2</sup> Greek χ is expressed by k in Amṭiyoka.

The palatal ch is aspirated in [k]c[chha] (Dhau. Sep. I, 7) = kechā (Jau. Sep. I, 4), kīuchhi and kichhi. It is softened in [a]jalā (Dhau. Sep. II, 7) = achala (Jau. Sep. II, 9, 11), while j is hardened in Kainbocha and vachasi (= Skt. vrajā). The palatal nasal ñ occurs only in ṣaṭiñnā (Dhau. Sep. II, 6), instead of which the Jaugaḍa text reads ṣaṭiñnā. It is replaced by dental n also in āna-payāmi, ā[na]ṣ[ay]is[ā]ti, uātisu.

As at Kālsī, lingual ṇ is replaced by dental n. But ṇ is used in four stray instances: [kha]ṇas[ṛ] (Dhau. Sep. II, 10), nijhap[ṛ]ta[ṛ]ye (Jau. Sep. I, 1), pālaloki[k]c[ṇa] (Jau. Sep. II, 4), and saveṇā (Jau. Sep. II, 3).

Dentals are lingualized after ra in the preposition paṭi (also praṭi in praṭivedayanītu, Jau. VI, 2), and after ṛi in usaṭa, kaṭa, [ka]ṣu and kaṣu, puṭhaviyan, [bha]ṭaka, bhaṭi, vaḍhī, vithaṭa, viyāpaṭa, vuḍha. t becomes ch in [ch]iṭ[th]itū. In the Jaugaḍa separate edicts, d is hardened in the following forms of the root pad: ṣaṭipātaychani, [ṣa]ṭipātayem[ā], viṣaṭipātayantū, [saṇipāṭipā]ta[yan] taṇi, saṇipāṭipātayis[av], while Dhau. reads [ṣa]ṭipātay[cha]ni, &c. For [idha] (Dhau. IV, 8) and hida (passim) see above, p. lxxii. The enclitic particle naṇi (in huvanīti naṇi, Dhau. and Jau. VIII, 1) is derived by native grammarians from Skt. nanu; but in Pischel's opinion (Grammatik, § 150) it goes back to Skt. nānam, which would have lost its first syllable.

The labial p is aspirated in apha[usa]ni (Jau. Sep. I, 11), as in Prākṛit pharusa (= Skt. paruska); see Pischel's Grammatik, § 208. bh becomes h in the instrumental and dative plural in -hi, in lahcy[ū] and lahcyu, hoti, hotu, a[h]o, huramti, [h]uvryū, huvryu, and in the participle hūta, while bhūta is used as substantive.

The semivowel y becomes j in majūla (= Skt. mayūra), and h in the optatives ālabheham, yeham, [p]ā[ī]pādayecham and pāpādayecham. It is replaced by v before n and ñ at Dhauli, while it remains at Jaugada; see -āvutike, asvasevu, ālādhayevū, chaleyū, [p]ā[p]unevu and pāpunevū, yujevū and yūjevū, lahcyu, [ra]sevū, huvryu and huvryū, instead of which Jaugada reads -āy[ut]ike, &c. But both Dhauli and Jaugada have nikhamūvū (III, 2). y is prefixed to e in yeva, but is dropped at the beginning of e, ena, am (= Skt. yat), ata (= yatra), athū and atha (= yathā), adā and ada (= yadā), asa (= yasya), ū (= yā), ūni, ādisē, āva (= yūvat). The syllable ya becomes i in apa-ry[a][ā], palitijit[u], bhaṭi (= bhṛitya). The syllables aya and ayi are contracted to e in tedasa (= **trayadaśa*), Ujeni (= Ujjayini), ñijhap[et]a[er]yc, paṭivedetayice.

As at Kālsī, r becomes l throughout.

v is prefixed to u in r[ut]e (= uktam). The syllable va becomes u in r[ut]āya and [atulanā]; vā becomes ū in [ka]tū (= kṛitā), and u in kaṭu, anusāsitu, and other absolutes. The syllables ava and avi become o in *chedhana, riyevadita[riye*], -riyohūlaka, hoti, hotu, a[h]o, and hosati* (= bhaṛishyati).

The two sibilants ś and ṣh are replaced by s throughout. Skt. ś is represented by ch in chakiye and chaghatha, from root chak (= śak).

h is prefixed in hida, heta, hedisa, hevam.

As in other Prākṛits, final consonants are dropped. A preceding short vowel is lengthened in saṁmyā- (= Skt. samyak), p[a]līsā (= parishat), amusathī, ālādhayevū, &c. (see above, p. c). Conversely, a preceding long vowel is sometimes shortened; see [siya] and siyā (= syāt), da[khcyā] and dakh[et]yā, anubandh[a] (= anubandhāt, Dhau. V, 6), and the nom. plur. masc. anuvigina, &c. (below, p. civ). Final as generally becomes e; see Ujenite, kute, T[a]kha[s]ilāte, durvālate, mukhate, riyarijanate, hetute, the genitives singular atane, lājine, Piyadasine, the nom. plur. lājine, da[v]iye, [bhuy]e, ne, jane, &c. It becomes o only in seto, [ya]so, and man[o]-; a in [saṁpa]tipāda (?), sa, esa; <sup>1</sup> ā in [sā]. Final ar becomes e in ante = Prākṛit and Pāli anto (Skt. antar), and a in paua (= pūvar).

Final a and u are nasalized in mamam (Jau. Sep. II, 7) = mama (passim) and sahasessuṁ (Dhau.) = sahasasu (Jau.), while the Anusvāra of words ending in short nasal vowels is omitted in hidaleka, bakuka, -rachanik[a], -a[ñ]tik[a], &c. (below, p. civ), the acc. sing. fem. Samibodh[ī] and lini, aphāka (= Skt. asmākaṁ) and r[u]phāk[a]. The Anusvāra is dropped and the preceding vowel lengthened in kīṭi, rādhi, sudi, kaṭaviyatalā, k[am]matalā, durvālū, [aph]ākā ti; cf. above, p. c. But the nom. sing. of neuters in -a generally follows the analogy of the masculines and ends in -e; see below, p. civ.

Long nasalized vowels are generally shortened; see the genitives plural bhaginīnavi, gūlūnavi, bhāt[ī]navi, [te]sa[ñi], pāuānavi, &c., the acc. sing. fem. yātavi, susūsavi, and the loc. sing. fem. [pa]līsāy[avi] (Jau. VI, 4), Samūpāyavi, Tosaliyavi, nīṭiyavi, puṭhaviyavi. The Anusvāra is omitted in palisāyā (Dhau. VI, 3); in tes[a] and saṁtilanāya the long ā is shortened at the same time.<sup>2</sup>

III. SANDHI.

Final d is preserved in [ta]d[o]payā, and final m in hedisameva. In hemeva (= Skt. ēvam-eva) the syllable va of ēvam is dropped.<sup>3</sup> The final m is doubled in hevamimeva and sukhamimeva. Hiatus is prevented by m in bhaṭ[m-ayesu].

IV. GROUPS OF CONSONANTS.

The only Sanskrit groups which occasionally remain unchanged are khy, tr, tv, ny, pr, my, vy, śv (which becomes śv), sin, sy, sv. Moreover the group rs is preserved at Jaugaḍa in drasayitu (IV, 3) and Piyadrasine (I, 3), which are meant for darsayitu and Piyadarsine; cf. above, p. lxxxvii. All other groups of consonants are either assimilated, or an auxiliary vowel is developed within them.

A long vowel preceding a group is generally shortened; see atane (= ātmanah), atānan, atiyāyike (= ātyayikam), anusathi (= anuśāstī), anusathe, [ayesu] (= āryēshu), asvāsauāye, asvāsa[n]iyā, [a]svaseyu, asvasevu, asamati (= asamāpti), āladhi (= **ārāddhi*), tadatvāye, p[a]lakamāni, palakamena, maga (= mārga), mahamatā (Jau. Sep. II, 1), Laṭhika, sasvatani, isāya (= īrshyayā), kiṭi (= kīrtin), puluva (= pūrva).<sup>1</sup> But ā remains in ānapayāni, ā[na]p[ay]is[a]ti, mahāmāta (passim), sāsvatani (Jau. Sep. II, 14). In tiṁni (= trīṇi) the i is shortened and the nasal doubled. Similarly, the short vowels i and u in asvāsa[n]iyā, da[v]iye, and [bhuy]e suggest that these three words are meant for asvāsaniyā, daviyye, and bhuyye; cf. above, p. lxxiv.

A long nasalized vowel is shortened before consonants in atikanāni, apa-bh[am]dātā, kilānte, Devānanpiya, Paṇḍiyā, banbhana, while the nasal is dropped and the length retained in bābhaua. In chhāinda (Jau. Sep. II, 5, 11) = chhāinda (passim), the am is lengthened although it is followed by a consonant. Anusvāra is omitted after short vowels in kichhi (cf. above, p. lx), badhana (= Skt. bandhana), viḥsā; after e in kaleti (Dhau. and Jau. IX, 2); and before y in anusayānan, sayania, sayuta (= sanyukta).

The auxiliary vowel which is developed within some groups is u before or after labials in duve, duvāda, duvāla, puluva, suṇāmika, pāpunāti; e in ānaneyam (Jau. Sep.) = ānaniyam (Dhau.); and frequently i, as the subjoined list of Sanskrit groups and of their equivalents at Dhau and Jaugaḍa will show. I need not quote any examples of the groups kr, gr, dr, dhr, br, bhr, śr, sr, which have become k, g, d, dh, b, bh, s, s, respectively.

ḥkh becomes kh (i. e. kkh) in dukha[ni] and duklāyati.

kt becomes t in -āy[ut]ike, -āvutike, &c.

ky becomes kiy in sakiye and chakiye.

khy remains in mokhya (Dhau. Sep.), but becomes khiy in mokhiya (Jau. Sep.).

jñ becomes jin in lājinā, lājine; nñ in paṭinñā (Dhau. Sep.); nn or n in paṭinnā (Jau. Sep.), ānapayāni, ā[na]p[ay]is[a]ti, ānāp[ay]i[ta], nātisu.

jy becomes j in the passive forms yujeyū and y[ū]jeyū.

dy becomes ḍiy in Paṇḍiyā.

ny becomes nn in hilānna and ānanine, but niy in ānaniyam, and ney in ānaneyam.

tm becomes t in atauc and atāuauh.

ty becomes tiy in atiyāyike, apatiye, ekatiyā.

tr remains in s[a]vatra (Jau. II, 4), but becomes t in s[a]vata (passim), tiūmi, &c.

dy becomes y in uyānasi; j in aja, [pa]ŋpa[ja]ti, paŋpajeyā, saūpaŋpajati, sa[ū]paŋpajam[ī]n[ē].

C.—PRONOUNS

(1) Pronoun of the first person.

Singular.	Plural.
Nom. hakam̐ .	maye .
Acc.	aphe , a[ph]eni .
Instr. manayā , manāye , maniyāye , me .
Abl. mamate .
Gen. mama , mamā , mamam̐ , me .	aphāka , [aph]ākā , ne .
Loc.	[aphesu] , aphesū .

For the forms hakam̐ and manayā see above, p. lxxviii. With the instr. sing. manāye (Dhau. Sep.), instead of which Jau. Sep. reads maniyāye, cf. mamāi, Hēmachandra, III, 109. The ablative mamate for Skt. mattatḥ is, like the instrumental manayā, due to the influence of the genitive mama. The nom. plur. maye is derived from Skt. vayam, but influenced by the instr. sing. mayā, and the acc. aphe (Dhau. Sep. II, 7) is formed from the same base as Skt. asmān. The acc. a[ph]eni (Jau. Sep. II, 10) and the loc. aphesu follow the analogy of the masculines in -a.

(2) Pronoun of the second person.

Nom. plur. tuphe , phe .
Acc. plur. tuphe , tupheni .
Instr. plur. tuphehi .
Gen. plur. t[n]phāk[a] .
Loc. plur. tuphesu .

The base **tushma*, from which the nom. and acc. plur. tuphe (= Prākṛit tumhe) is derived, seems to be a compromise between the Skt. base yushma and the singular tvam (Prākṛit tumam̐).<sup>1</sup> With the form phe (Jau. Sep. I, 2) cf. bhe, Hēmachandra, III, 91. The three forms tupheni (Jau. Sep.), tuphehi, and tuphesu follow the analogy of the masculines in -a.

(3) Base ta.

Singular.	Plural.
Nom. masc. se , te (Dhau. Sep. I, 13).	te , se .
Acc. neut. tam̐ , se , sa .
Instr. tena .
Gen. tasa .	[te]sa[ni] , tes[a] .
Loc. tasi .

In Dhau. Sep. II, 7, the nom. plur. neut. tāni takes the place of the masc. te (Jau. Sep. II, 9).

Acc. masc. and neut. etam̐ .
Instr. [e]takena .
Dat. etāye , etākāye .
Gen. etasa .
Loc. etasi .

Nom. sing. fem. etā(ta)kā.

In Dhau. Sep. I, 11 f., the nom. plur. masc. ete [jātā] corresponds to the nom. plur. neut. et[ā]ni jātā[ni] in Jau. Sep. I, 6.

<sup>1</sup> With aphe and tuphe cf. the Singhalese nom. plur. api and topi.

(5) Demonstrative idam.

Singular.	Plural.
Nom. masc. ay[aiñ] , iyaiñ ; neut. iyaiñ .	Masc. ime .
Acc. neut. imaiñ .
Instr. imena .	imehi .
Dat. [ i ]m[ ā ] ye .
Gen. imasa .

Nom. sing. fem. iyaiñ.
Dat. sing. fem. imā[y]e.

As at Kālsī, the nom. sing. masc. ayaiñ occurs only in [e]y[aiñ] (= Skt. yo-yam, Jau. Sep. I, 6).

(6) Interrogative pronoun.

Nom. sing. neut. kiñi. The acc. sing. neut. kani and the acc. plur. neut. kāni are used as demonstratives. The abl. sing. of the same base is preserved in akasmā. The indefinite pronoun is formed with cha or chha (nom. sing. masc. kechhā, [k]e[chha]), and with chhi = Skt. chid (neut. sing. kinichhi, kichhi); and kiñti is used in the sense of 'that'.

(7) Relative pronoun.

Singular.	Plural.
Nom. masc. ye, e ; neut. e .	Masc. ye, e ; neut. āni .
Acc. neut. aiñ .
Instr. ena .
Gen. asa .

Nom. sing. fem. yā, ā.

(8) Base anya.

Singular.	Plural.
Nom. masc. [ anye ], aiñe ; neut. aiñe .	Masc. aiñe } neut. aiñnāni .

Let us take, for instance, the Sanskrit forms ānata, ānāṭita, śāśkalita, jāmita (from jānāti), jāhtiyān (from jāti), drāpita (from drāp), drāyita (from drā), hāyita (from hā). In the English text, the Sanskrit characters are written in the Latin alphabet, the causative character oy is neglected.

gihitha (= grihastha), nisijitu (from nisprijati), pit[i]su (= pitṛishu), simala (= ṣṛimara), hedisa (= idriśa); (3) e in dekhati, &c.

i corresponds to Skt. e in ika (Sāmāth, ll. 6, 7, 8), i. e. **ikka* = Prākṛit ekka and Skt. eka. Cf. Ardhamāgadhī ikkūrasa = Skt. ekādasa; Pischel's Grammatik, § 443.

ai becomes e in kevaṭa (= Skt. kaiṃvarta), and au becomes u in -opagāni, Kosambiyāni, putū-papetike, mokhya.

Initial a is lengthened in ānāvāsasi (Sāmāth) = anā[ra]sasi (Kauśāmbī and Sāmāthī). Final a is lengthened frequently; see eva, ya, va and evā, ya, vā (= Skt. ēva), cha and chā, ua and uā (in nāsaṃtāni), hetā, ūha and ūhā or ahā, vaḍhithū, huthā, vivāsāpayāthā, [sa] nānādhāpayiyā, nāma and nāmā (in nāmā ti), mama and mamā, asvasa and asvasā, gonasa and gonasā, jānapadasa and jānapadasā, Devānampiyashū, lokasa and lokasā, usāhena and usāhenā, bhayaṇa and bhayeṇā, ra[cha]ṇenā. Interconsonantal i and u are sometimes lengthened; see ganīyati (Queen's edict, l. 4), -thitika and -thitika (also -thitika and -thitika), tilita (thus Allahabad-Kōsam; tilita in the other versions), devīye (Queen's edict, l. 2; devīye, id., ll. 4, 5), parajitānām, lūjiki (instr. plur. of Skt. vājau), anupaṭipajānāni, anupaṭipajānitu (also anupaṭi°), anupaṭipajisati, anupaṭipati (also anupaṭi°), sanipaṭipati, paṭipati, paṭibhoga (also paṭi°), paṭivisikhaṇi (also paṭi°), *paṭi[redayaṇti]**, nīthūtiye, pachūpagamane (pachupa° Allahabad-Kōsam), bakūsu (but gulusu). Final i and u may be lengthened before ti (= iti) or without it; see munividdhiyānti, āvahāni ti, kachhati ti, khādiyati ti, ti ti (Delhi-Tōprā, ll. 1, 16), [ha] pūtravīyānti, anupaṭipajānti, hotū ti. Final i and u, which stand for original is and us or ur, are treated in the same way; see [gut] i and goti ti, lipi and lipi, bhikhu and [bhikk] ū, Sakyaṃni ti, sādhu and sādhu, ālādhaṇu and ālādhaṇu ti, upadaheṇu and upadaheṇu ti, svatayevā ti.

Initial ā is shortened in āvahāni and ava<sup>1</sup> (Delhi-Tōprā) = āvahāni and āva or āvā (in the other versions). Interconsonantal ā is shortened in the Queen's edict in ālana (= Skt. ārāna) and mahamata (= mahāmātra). Final ā is often shortened; see atkā and atka (= Skt. yathā), tathā and tatha, vā and va (= Skt. vā), apakaṭi and apakaṭa, lūjā and lūjā, atanā and atana, lūjiva, Piyadasina, anusathiyā and anusathiya, and the nom. sing. fem. esa (pillar edict I, section D), apekhā and apekha, &c. Also final i is sometimes shortened; see Piyadasi (Allahabad-Kōsam) and Piyadasi, duḍi and duḍi, dhūti (= Skt. dhūti), aṭhāni-pakha (Delhi-Tōprā) and aṭhāni-pakha, chātumāsī-pakha, devi-kumālānām, bhikkhu, Luvuvini-gāme. Interconsonantal i is shortened in dutiya = dutiya<sup>2</sup> (Queen's edict, l. 5), and ū in anulūpāya, thube, bhūtānām, susūsā (also susūsā).

Initial vowels are dropped in pi (= Skt. api), laghānti (for **alaghānti* = Skt. arhanti), kakan (for ahakam = aham), ti (for iti) and kinīti, psatka (for upavasatha), va and vā (for ēva).

II. SIMPLE CONSONANTS.

As at Kālsī, palatal ñ and lingual ṇ are replaced by dental n throughout.

The guttural k is palatalized in adha-[kes]ikyāni and vaḍikyā;<sup>3</sup> cf. above, p. lxxi. It is represented by y in aṭha-bhāgiye (Rummindei, l. 5), ata-patiye (Delhi-Tōprā, IV, ll. 4, 14), nīmisi-[dha]yā (= Skt. **nīślishṭakā*), and perhaps in geṇayā; see Text, p. 120, n. 4. gh is preserved in laghānti (for **alaghānti* = Skt. arhanti), but has become h in tahu.

The palatal ch is softened in sāmkujā, which is probably connected with Skt. sāṃkuchi, 'a skate-fish.' It is aspirated in kichhi (Queen's edict, l. 4) = kichhi at Kālsī, &c.

Lingual ḍ may become ḍ; see edake and elake, edakū and elakū, duḍi and duḍi.

Dentals are lingualized after ri in kaṭa, bhaṭakesu, vaḍhi, viyāpaṭa, vaḍikā and vaḍikyā (= **ṛitika*), in which the t (for t) is softened, and after ra in nigamitha (= Skt. nirgrantha) and in the preposition paṭi, but not in pachupagamana (= pratyupagamana), patyāsaina and patiyāsaina (= pratyāsanna). t is elided, a lengthened,<sup>4</sup> and v developed from u in chāvūdasā (= Skt. chaturdaśi), while āi is contracted to o in chodasa (= chaturdaśa). d becomes ḍ or ḍ in duvāḍasa and duvā[la]-s[a], paṇṇaḍasā and paṇṇaḍasā (= Skt. pañchadaśi). The original dh of the root **nadh* (= Skt. nah)

p is softened in thuba (= stūpa, Nigāli Sāgar, I. 2) and libi<sup>2</sup> (Delhi-Tōprā, VII, II, 31, 32) = lipi (passim). It becomes k through dissimilation in kīpikā and kāpikā = Skt. phāpikā,<sup>3</sup> bh becomes h in l[a]hiye, hoti, hotu, huvāti, hosanti, hokanti, huthā, husu, and in the instr. plur. in -hi (for -bhiḥ). m becomes p, and the aspiration changes place, in kaphaḥ = Skt. kamapha; cf. aphe and tuphe (= Prākṛit amhe and tumhe) at Dhauli and Jaugarā, and [ta]phā (= Skt. taṃmā) at Kālsī.

y is represented by h in abhyūmināmayelahi, and by v in āvuti (= **āyukti*), nizhava (= Skt. nishaya), sochava for sochaya (= **śauchya*), pāpovā (= **prāpnō + yāt*), yāvū, anugahinevū, ālādhaeyevū, upadaherevū, paratayevū. It is prefixed to e in yeva and jevā (also eva and evā), but is dropped at the beginning of ata (= Skt. yatra), athā and atha (= Skt. yathā), āva (also yāva, = Skt. yāvat), āvale, e (also ye), ena (also yena). At the end of etad-athā (Dolhi-Tōprā, VII, l. 24) the syllable ja seems to be dropped; cf. above, p. lvii. It becomes i in **nigoka* (= Skt. nyagrodha), paṭivekkhāmi, dupaṭivekhe, and aji becomes e in jhāpetaviye (also jhāpayitaviye).

r has become l throughout, except in cham[da]m[a-si]ri[yi]ye (Sānchī, l. 4).

ra becomes u in anurakkhamāne; vā becomes the same in the absolutes in -tu (= likṭ, lṭā);
 ara and ari become o in edāta, elodhara, poratha, paligovadātha, paligovadi:amti, nīyovadi:amti, nīyāhā, koti, kotu, kazaṁti, bhaṁti.

The two sibilants ś and ṣ have become s throughout. But ś is used in nishama (= śīr, nishaya, Sāmāth, L 10), Devānampiyasū and śe (= śe, śe, L 1 and 4). In chaghatt, ś is represented by ch; cf. above, p. 61.

It is prefixed in hidia, hidata, hidina, hovan. For hava (Cyclops's wife, i. 2) see hava, p. 122.

Final consonants are dropped. a, preceding vowel, may be shortward; as min ā, as min ā (= Skt. manāḥ); pāpā and pāpā siyā and siyā, acimārā and acimārā, abhlā and abhlā, trā, (below, p. cxxv). Conversely, a preceding short vowel may be lengthened; as ānā and ānā (= pānā), līpā and līpā śāhā and śāhā hā (above, p. cxi). First a is generally ā unless ā; as trā, as trā (= trās), chāpā, līpā, śāpāpā, śāpā, hā. But in trās a is ā in āpā; a in chāndamā and as (nom. sing. mān and as); and ā in as (nom. sing. mān, as).

The vowel u is realized in short Sanskrit, ś in śa ('action'), Viśa 'knowledge' is realized as śaṣa (Dakṣi-Tegā, III, 1) as śaṣa = śaṣa ('action'), śaṣa, śaṣa, śaṣa, and in the śaṣa sing. śaṣa (Dakṣi-Tegā, VI, B). The śaṣa is dropped and the śaṣa is dropped, in the śaṣa sing. śaṣa (Dakṣi-Tegā, VII, 1) as śaṣa in the śaṣa sing. śaṣa ('action'), śaṣa, śaṣa, the śaṣa sing. of śaṣa is a generally follows the śaṣa of the śaṣa and only in śaṣa below, p. 100.

1. The first step is to identify the problem or question that needs to be answered. This involves understanding the context and the specific requirements of the task.

1. The first part of the document is a list of names and dates, which appears to be a record of some kind. The names are written in a cursive script, and the dates are in a more formal, printed style. The list is organized into columns, with names in the first column and dates in the second column.

2. The second part of the document is a series of handwritten notes or entries. These are written in a cursive script and are organized into a list format. Each entry appears to be a separate item, possibly a record of a transaction or an event.

3. The third part of the document is a series of handwritten notes or entries, similar to the second part. These are also written in a cursive script and are organized into a list format. Each entry appears to be a separate item, possibly a record of a transaction or an event.

4. The fourth part of the document is a series of handwritten notes or entries, similar to the previous parts. These are also written in a cursive script and are organized into a list format. Each entry appears to be a separate item, possibly a record of a transaction or an event.

5. The fifth part of the document is a series of handwritten notes or entries, similar to the previous parts. These are also written in a cursive script and are organized into a list format. Each entry appears to be a separate item, possibly a record of a transaction or an event.

1. The first group of people who are interested in the study of the history of the United States are the people who are interested in the history of the United States.

6. Geographical Distribution

dhammānūsathi, dharmānāpadāna, dharmānāpekḥā, apāsinave. The ā which results from the contraction is shortened before a group of consonants in saṃghaṭṭasi and -apadānāṭṭhāye (Delhi-Tōprā, VII, ll. 25 and 28). The nasal vowel ai of tuphākai and upāsakānai is treated in the same manner before antikaṃ in tuphāk-antikaṃ and upāsakān-antikaṃ (Sārṇāth, ll. 6 and 7). In ikike (= Skt. ekaikaḥ), chu (= cha + u), ch-cva, and chhāy-opagāni, final a and ā are elided before the initial i, u, e, and o of the next following word.

IV. GROUPS OF CONSONANTS.

The only Sanskrit groups which occasionally remain unassimilated are ky, khy, ty, dhy, dhr, bhy, rshy (which becomes sy), śv (which becomes sv), shy (which becomes sy). For the group ky see also above, p. cxii and n. 3.

A long vowel preceding a group is generally shortened; see ata- (= Skt. ātman), asvatha (= āsvasta), anusathi (= auusāsti), ālādha (= **ārāddha*), kiuasv (for **kinā + sv* = Skt. svīd), pata (= prāpta), maga (= mārga), madava (= mārdava), mahavata (= mahāmātra, Queen's edict, l. 1), Sakyamunī, isyā (= īrshyā), -sulyika<sup>1</sup> (for **sūryika*), dusa (= dūshya), puṇnamāsiyāni. But the length remains in ānapayati, pāpovā (from prāpuṭi), maḥamāta (for **mātra*), palikkā (for parikkhā). While long ī is preserved before n in -gāmīni and bhi[khun]īnam, it is shortened, and the following nasal is doubled, in tiṇni (= triṇi). Similarly, anusathini and devīnani are perhaps defective spellings for anusathini and devīnani. Before y and l the length is preserved in anuvidhīyanti, sukhiyānā, kapilikā, but it is shortened (and probably the following consonant is doubled) in anuvidhīyanti, sukhiyānā, bhuyē, kipilikā; cf. above, p. cii. A short vowel preceding a group is lengthened in āgācha (= āgāya), dākhinā (also dakḥinā, i. e. dakḥinā), putāpapotike<sup>2</sup> (for putrapra), puṇāvasu (for puṇarva), kichhi (for **kid + chid*, Queen's edict, l. 4), uḷlakhiyati (for nirḷa), nīlakhitaviye (also uila at Rāmpurvā, V, l. 9), vaḍḥisati (also vaḍḥisati, i. e. vaḍḥissati), saṇḍaṭṭipajisati (also **jisati*), anuḍḍipajisati, anuḍḍ[a]ṭṭipamne (for anuḍḍipati).

A long nasal vowel is shortened before consonants in aiṇbā- (= Skt. āura), atikamtaṇi, Kosavi-biyāni (= Kausāmbiyāni), Devānaniyāni,<sup>3</sup> while the nasal is dropped, and the length is retained, in bābhana (= bāmbhā at Gīrṇār). Anusvāra is lost after a short vowel in thabha (Rummindē, l. 3) = thanbha (Delhi-Tōprā), in sayane and savibhāge (also sanīyane and sanīvibhāge), in vihisāye (but not in avīhīsāye), and in satavisati. The nasal vowel iṇi is replaced by a length in vīsati, paṇua-vīsati, and saḍuvisati. Similarly, ai seems to be replaced by ā in bh[ā]khati (= Skt. bhaṅkshyati). In visvaṇisayitave (Sārṇāth, ll. 8, 9) the nasal vowel ai corresponds to Skt. ā.

The auxiliary vowel which is developed within some groups is n before v in duveli, duvāḍasa, saḍuvisati, suve; a in dusanḍaṭṭipādāye, laghanti (for **alaghanti*), sochaye and sochave; and frequently i, as will appear from the subjoined list of Sanskrit groups and of their equivalents in the pillar-edicts. It is unnecessary to quote examples of the groups kr, gr, tr, pr, br, śr, sr, which have become k, g, t, p, b, s, s, respectively.

lkh becomes kh (i. e. kkh) in dukkhiyāni.

kshy becomes khiy in uḷlakhiyati; kh in dupaṭṭivekke and bh[ā]khati; gh in chaghati.

khy is preserved in mukhya and mokhya, but is assimilated in mukhā (Delhi-Tōprā, VII, l. 27).

<sup>1</sup> This word presupposes an intermediate form with short u: **suryika*; cf. above, p. cii, n. 1. In the Māgadhā dialect the affix -ika does not, as in Sanskrit, necessarily involve Vṛddhi of the first syllable; see putāpapotika and hidatika, but ānugahika. In anūtalika, aḍha[kos]ikya, chaṇḍamasulyika we cannot say whether the a preceding the group of consonants in the first syllable was originally long and subsequently shortened. The same applies to the first a of chaṇḍiya, which was formed from Skt. chaṇḍa with the affix -ya. In nīḥūliya and puṇnamāsiyāni the first vowel has remained unchanged, while the corresponding Skt. forms are uaiṣṭhurya and puṇnamāsiyāni, with Vṛddhi of the first vowel.

CHAPTER XI

GRAMMAR OF THE MINOR ROCK-INSRIPTIONS

THE language of most of these inscriptions strongly resembles the Māgadha dialect of the pillar-edicts and of the Dhāuli and Jaugada rock-edicts. But, for practical reasons, it appears more convenient to treat the grammar of the minor rock-inscriptions in a separate chapter. The three Mysore edicts (Brahmagiri, Śiddhāpura, and Jaṭiṅga-Rāmēśvara) exhibit a number of dialectical peculiarities and are therefore considered in a special sub-division.

I. THE FIVE ROCK-INSRIPTIONS AT RUPNATH, ETC., AND THE THREE BARABAR HILL CAVE-INSRIPTIONS

A.—PHONETICS

(1) VOWELS.

The vowel a becomes u after m in munisā, and i after y in the future vaḍhisiti (Rūpnāth and Maski) = vaḍhisati (Sahasrām and Bairāt); cf. Śaurasēnī bhaviṣṣidi, &c., in Hēmachandra, IV, 275, and in the southern manuscripts of Indian dramas. For the e of hetā (Sahasrām) and for the i of munisā see above, p. lxx. The abstract gālava (= Prākṛit and Pāli gārava) presupposes the adjective galu (= Skt. guru), in which a corresponds to Skt. u; see above, p. lvi. For o = Skt. u in kho, see ibid. and n. 2. The diphthong au becomes o in moncyā.

ri becomes (1) a in kaṭā, dakṣitaviye, vaḍhi; (2) u in musā (= Skt. mṛṣhā), sun[e]yu; (3) i in adhigichya (= Skt. adhikṛitya), diseyā (optative of drīṣyatē). In aḍhati[y]a (= Pāli aḍḍhatiya and Skt. ardhatritīya) the syllable tri is lost, as in Ardhamāgadhi aḍḍhāijja; see Gciger's Pāli, § 65, 2, and cf. Pāli aḍḍhuḍḍha = Skt. ardhachaturtha.

Interconsonantal a and i are lengthened in -[a]thāta (?) and chila-ṭhitke. Final a is lengthened in evā and vā (= Skt. ēva), chā, hetā, āhā, [ikhāpa]yāthā, h[a]mā, etenī(nā), apaladhiyenā, &c. (below, p. cxxxvi). Final i and u are lengthened before iti in saṅghasī ti, hosatī ti, jānamitū ti, and final u which stands for ur in upadhāl[a]yeyā.

Initial ā is shortened in ahāle (Rūpnāth); interconsonantal ī and ū in misibhūtā (Maski), Jambudīpasi (= °dīpasi at Sahasrām), pa[ka]mam[i]menā (cf. palakamaniṇenā at Sahasrām), ekunavīsati (Barābar); final ā and ī in lāja (Barābar) = lājā (Calcutta-Bairāt), sata (Rūpnāth) = satā (Sahasrām), Pr[i]yadas[i] (Calcutta-Bairāt) = Piyadasī (Barābar).

Initial vowels are dropped in pi (= Skt. api), sumi (for **smi* = Skt. asmi), hakaṁ (for ahakam = aham), ti (= iti), kiṁti and kiti, dāni (= idānīm), va and vā (= ēva).

(2) SIMPLE CONSONANTS.

Intervocalic k is softened in adhigichya (Skt. = adhikṛitya) and appears to have become y in diyaḍhiya (= **dvikārdhya*).<sup>1</sup> gh is preserved in Lāghula (= Rāhula) and suggests that this name of Buddha's son is derived from the ancient hero Raghu. In kubhā (Barābar) = Skt. guhā, 'a cave', k and bh at first sight appear to correspond to Skt. g and h. But each of the two words may have a distinct origin. While guhā is connected with the root guh, 'to hide', kubhā may be related to kumbha, 'a pot' (originally 'a cavity'), and Greek κύμβη, 'a (hollow) boat'.<sup>2</sup>

Lingual n is replaced by dental n throughout, but is improperly used at Calcutta-Bairāt in Aliya-vasāni (= Skt. Ārya-vaśāṇi).

<sup>2</sup> The same root has assumed the slightly different meaning of 'a round projection' in Ancient Persian kanfa, 'a mountain', Avestan kaofa, 'a mountain, the hump of a camel', and Skt. kakubh, 'a peak'; cf. kakud, 'a peak, a hump'.

Dentals are lingualized in uḍāla (= Pāli uḍāra and Skt. ndāva), duvāḍasa, and after ṛi in kaḍā, ṛaḍhi. t is palatalized in adhigichya (= Skt. adhikṛitya). dh seems to be preserved in ha(hi)dha (= idha at Gīrnār?), but has become h in [niḡoha] (= Skt. nyagrōdha).

Intervocalic p becomes v in pāṛ[u]t[a]ṛe (Sahasrām), the infinitive of **prāpati* (= Skt. prāpnōti). bh becomes h in hotu, hosati, husu, devchi, [āḡiv]kehi.

y is dropped at the beginning of āvatake (from Skt. yāvat), aṃ and e (= yat). The syllable ya becomes i in [niḡoha] (= nyagrōdha). aya and ayi become e in lekhāpetā, lā(hi)khāpetaraya, ārodheve (read ārādhetaṛe) and [ā]lūdheta[ṛ], abhivāde[tū]naṃ.

As in the Māgadhā dialect, r becomes l; but it is preserved at Rūpnāth in ārodheve (read ārādhetaṛe), chira-ḡhitike, chha(sa)ṛachhare, sāṭi[ra]kekūni (read sāṭirekūni), and at Maski in pure, [sāt]ire[kṛ].

v becomes p in apaladhiyeṇā (Rūpnāth) = avaḷ[a]dhiyeṇā (Sahasrām). It is developed out of u in ṛivuttha (Sahasrām) = ṛy[u]ḡtha (Rūpnāth). ava and avī become o in -ovāde, hotu, hosati.

ś and ṣh have generally become s. But ś is preserved at Maski in Śake (= Skt. Śakyah) and is improperly used at Bairāt in śage (= śage at Rūpnāth); ṣh is preserved at Maski in vaśh[ui]. In [cha]kye and ekakiye, ś is represented by ch; cf. above, pp. ci and cxiii.

h is prefixed in ha(hi)dha (?), hetū, hevaṃ.

Final consonants are dropped. ā (for ās) is shortened in saṃta and -deva (Sahasrām, l. 2 f.). as becomes e; see pure<sup>1</sup> (= Skt. puras), ṛe (= vas), bhikhuniye (nom. plur.), aṭhe, &c. It is represented by ā in esā (nom. sing. neut.), and by a in -[a]thāta (?), esa (nom. sing. neut.), yāvataka and vāḷata (Rūpnāth).

Final a is nasalized in ekāṃ (Calcutta-Bairāt, l. 2), while final Anusvāra is omitted in ima, iya, tufaka (for tuphākaiṃ), diyāḍhiya (Rūpnāth), prakāsa, [hū]dha, ṛaḍhi (acc.), ṛipula, saḡh[a] (acc.). The nom. sing. of neuters in -a generally follows the analogy of the masculine and ends in -e; see phale, &c. The termination -aṃ is replaced by -i in būḍhi (Rūpnāth, ll. 1, 2); cf. ayi for ayaṃ at Shāhbāzgarh.<sup>2</sup> The long nasal vowel āṃ is shortened in the termination (-aṃ) of the acc. sing. of feminines in -ā (below, p. cxvii), and im becomes i in dāni (= Skt. idānim).

(3) SANDHI.

Final m is preserved and doubled in hevaṃmerā (Calcutta-Bairāt, l. 8).

a + ā becomes ā in -vasābhikṣita, sāṭileke, sāḍhi[kṛ], ap[ā]bādhatan, jaḷ[agḡ]o[sāḡama] (?). The ā which results from the contraction is shortened before a group of consonants in -[āḡama]thāta (?), apaladhiyeṇā and avaḷ[a]dhiyeṇā, diyāḍhiyaṃ, but the length is preserved in diyāḍhiyaṃ (Sahasrām). Final ā is elided before u, e, o in chu (= cha + u), ekuravāsati, ma[ha]tanzeva, Lūghul-ovāde.

(4) GROUPS OF CONSONANTS.

The only groups which occasionally remain unassimilated are ky, ty (which becomes chy), ṣr, ṛṛ, ṛy, sv.

A long vowel preceding a group is shortened in aliya (= Skt. ārya), ṣa[la]kamaṃtu (= ṣarākra<sup>3</sup>), ṣalakamaṃnenā, [ṣalaka]ṃ[ṭ]e, maḡata- (= maḡātman), Śake and [Sa]k[kṛ] (= Śakyah), abhikkinaṃ (= abhikṣhṇam). But the length remains in ṣ[a][ṭ]kame (Sahasrām), ṣ[ā]ṣotaṛe (from prāpnōti), lāti (= rātri), sūte (= sūtram). A short vowel preceding a group is lengthened in ṛ[ā]taṛe (infinitive of vaḡh).

The long nasal vowel āṃ is shortened before consonants in [ṣalaka]ṃ[ṭ]e<sup>4</sup> and Devānaṃpiya (Rūpnāth and Maski), but remains in Devānāṃpiya (Sahasrām and Bairāt). In bhaṃte, a Buddhist term of address which stands perhaps for bhaddaṃte<sup>5</sup> = Skt. bhadraṃ te, 'happiness to you', the syllable dda is elided. The nasal vowel iṃ is replaced by a length in ekuravāsati. Anusvāra is sometimes omitted after a; see the infinitive adhigataṛe (Maski), atā (Rūpnāth) = amitā (Sahasrām and

Bairāt), ṭh[abh]e (but ṭha[ni]bhāsi and ṭham[bh]ā), ṭakamatu (3. plur.), [ṭala]kamatu (Bairāt) = ṭa[la]kamanitu (Sahasrām), vayajanenā (= Skt. vyāñjanēna), Aliya-vasāñi (= Ārya-vañśāṇi), saghe (= sañghaḥ), chha(sa)vachhare and sav[a]chhale (= sañvatsaraḥ). The final a of the first member of a compound is nasalized at Sahasrām in [u]isam-deva and amnisam-[de]vā (read ami<sup>o</sup>).

The auxiliary vowel which is developed within some groups is u before labials in duve, duvāḍasa, s[u]ag[ē], sunii; a in alahāmi, lā(li)khāpetavaya, vayajanenā; and frequently i, as will appear from the subjoined list of Sanskrit groups and of their equivalents in the rock-inscriptions at Rūpnāth, &c.

kt becomes t in abhisita, &c.

ky remains in [cha]kye (Bairāt), but becomes kiy in chakiye, sakiye, and k in sake (= Skt. śakyah), Śake and [Sa]k[ē] (= Śākyah).

pr remains in prakāsa (Rūpnāth) and in abhiṭpretam, prasāde, Pr[ī]yadas[ī] (Calcutta-Bairāt), but becomes p in Piyadasī, &c., and perhaps ph in phāsu = Vedic prāśu (?); see Geiger's Pāli, § 62, 1.

B.—DECLENSION

(1) Masculines and neuters in -a.

Singular.	Plural.
Nom. masc. aṭhe , &c.; neut. phale , &c.	Masc. devā , &c.; neut. bhayāni , &c.
Acc. masc. saṅghaṇi , &c.; neut. vīpulaṇi , &c.
Instr. Budhena , &c.	devēhi .

In the nom. sing. masc. yāvataka and the nom. sing. neut. lā(li)khāpetavaya, vīvasetavā(vi)[ya] at Rūpnāth, -a is perhaps only a clerical error for -e.

In the acc. sing. masc. sagha[a] (for saṅghaṇi) and the acc. sing. neut. vīpula at Rūpnāth, the final Anusvāra is omitted.

The final a of the instr. sing. is lengthened in apaladhiyenā, ava[a]dhiyenā, -abhisitenā, pa[ka]mam[i]nenā, palakamamīnenā, vayajānenā, vy[u]thenā.

At Barābar we seem to have a loc. sing. in -e: su[p]i[y]e.

The final ā of the nom. plur. masc. is shortened in -deva (Sahasrām, l. 3).

The Sanskrit masculines pariyāya, vaiśa, saivatsara form the nom. and acc. plur. pariyāyāni, vaiśāni, [savachhalāni], with the termination of the neuter. The nom. plur. neut. has the ending -ā at Sahasrām (l. 6 f.) in lāti-satā vīvuthā; at Rūpnāth (l. 5 f.) we have sata instead of satā.

(2) Feminines in -ā.

Nom. sing. kubhā, dinā; acc. sing. ap[ā]būdhatāṇi, phāsu-vikālatāṇi; nom. plur. upāsikā, gāthā.

(3) Feminines in -i and -ī.

Acc. sing. vaḍhi; nom. plur. bhikkuniye; loc. plur. parvatī[su].<sup>1</sup>

TRANSLATION

(A) This rescript on morality<sup>2</sup> has been caused to be written by king Dōvānāmpriya Priyadarśin.

(B) Here<sup>3</sup> no living being must be killed and sacrificed.

(C) And no festival meeting<sup>4</sup> must be held.

(D) For king Dōvānāmpriya Priyadarśin sees much evil in festival meetings.

(E) But there are also some festival meetings which are considered meritorious by king Dōvānāmpriya Priyadarśin.<sup>5</sup>

(F) Formerly in the kitchen of king Dōvānāmpriya Priyadarśin many hundred thousands of animals were killed daily for the sake of curry.<sup>6</sup>

(G) But now, when this rescript on morality is written, only three animals are being killed (daily) for the sake of curry,<sup>7</sup> (viz.) two peacocks (and) one deer, (but) even this deer not regularly.

(H) Even these three animals shall not be killed in future.

SECOND ROCK-EDICT: GIRNAR

- 1 (A) सर्वत विजितम्हि देवानंप्रियस प्रियदसिनो राज्ञो
 2 एवमपि प्रचंतेसु यथा चोडा पाडा सतियपुतो केतलपुतो आ तंव-

 4 राजानो सर्वत्र देवानंप्रियस प्रियदसिनो राज्ञो द्वे चिकीछ कता

<sup>2</sup> The literal meaning of dhamma-lipi (or dhrama-dipi in the two Kharōṣṭhī versions) is 'a writing on morality'. To retain the sense of 'writing', I use the translation 'rescript on morality' instead of 'religious edict' as the term was rendered by Bühler.

<sup>3</sup> viz. 'in my territory'. Cf. the rock-edict XIII, Q and R, and the Rūpnāth rock-inscription, K.

<sup>6</sup> D. R. Bhandarkar (IA, 42. 257) quotes Mahābhārata, III, 208, 8-10, where 'we are told that 2,000 animals and 2,000 kine were slain every day in the kitchen (mahānasa) of king Rantidēva, and that by doling out meat to his people he attained to incomparable fame.' Cf. also XII, 29, 127 f., and VII, 67, 16-18: 'On the nights which guests spent with Rantidēva, the son of Saṃkṛiti, 21,000 kine were killed. Then the cooks, who wore ear-rings of bright jewels, were shouting: "Eat ye a lot of curry (sūpa)! There is not so much meat to-day, as formerly!"'

TRANSLATION

<sup>3</sup> Bühler (ZDMG, 37. 95) would read sāmīnaṃ, which he considered to be a clerical error for sāmanūtā, the reading of the other versions of this edict. It is quite possible that sāmanūtā was the original reading of the rock, and that it was subsequently changed by the writer into sāmīpani (or sāmīpā?).

<sup>7</sup> Bühler (ZDMG, 37. 98 ff.) rejected Kern's identification of this term with the Sātpurā range, and explained it by 'the king of the Satvats', whom he located in Western India. D. R. Bhandarkar (JBBRAS, 21. 398) compares Satiyaputa; for which the Kālsī version reads Sātiyaputa, with Sātputē, a surname current among the present Marāṭhās. Lüders (ZDMG, 58. 693 f.) has shown that the Pāli putta (= Skt. putra) at the end of compounds frequently means 'belonging to a tribe'. He quotes as examples Andhakaveṇḥputta, Videhaputta, Bhojaputta, Milāchaputta, devaputta (cf. the feminine devadhītā), and Skt. rājaputra.

<sup>8</sup> Kētalaputa is perhaps a mistake for the reading of the Mānsehrā version: Kēralaputra, i.e. the king of Kērala or Malabar, the Κηρόβοθπος of Ptolemy; see Lassen's Ind. Alt., vol. I (sec. ed.), p. 188, note, and vol. III, p. 193.

<sup>9</sup> The syllable ā cannot be the preposition ā, 'as far as', because the latter would require after it the ablative Tambapaṇṇiyā, as at Mānsehrā, XIII, Q. Lüders therefore explains it as an Ardhamāgadhī form of the Skt. relative yā; see SPAW, 1914. 831.

<sup>10</sup> Tāmraparṇī (Tambapaṇṇī in Pāli) is one of the ancient names of the island of Ceylon. It occurs in the Dīpavaṃsa, and was known already to Megasthenes in the form Ταμποβάνη; see IA, 6. 129 and 348. Besides, Tāmraparṇī is the name of a river in the Tinnevely district, which was known to the author of the Rāmāyaṇa (Bombay edition, IV, 41, 17).

kings who are the neighbours<sup>1</sup> of this Antlyaka,—everywhere two (kinds of) medical treatment<sup>2</sup> were established by king Dōvānāṣhpriya Priyadarśin, (viz.) medical treatment for men and medical treatment for cattle.

(B) And wherever there were no herbs that are beneficial to men and beneficial to cattle, everywhere they were caused to be imported and to be planted.

(C) Wherever there were no roots and fruits, everywhere they were caused to be imported and to be planted.

(D) On the roads wells were caused to be dug, and trees were caused to be planted for the use of cattle and men.

of Syria (261-246 B.C.) is probably meant; see Lassen's Ind. Alt., vol. II (sec. ed.), p. 255. and Senart, IA, 20. 242.

<sup>1</sup> For sāmanāṭā, 'neighbours', and its equivalent sāmīpanā, literally 'neighbourhood', see JBBRAS, 21. 398, IA, 34. 245, and AJP, 30. 183 ff. The 'neighbours' of Antiochus II were probably the four kings named in the Kālsī edict XIII, Q.

TRANSLATION

(A) King Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin speaks thus.

(B) (When I had been) anointed twelve years, the following was ordered by me.

(E) The council (of Mahāmātras)<sup>7</sup> also shall order the Yuktas to register (these rules) both with (the addition of) reasons and according to the letter.<sup>8</sup>

राजो
- 3 धमचरणेन भेरीघोसो अहो धमघोसो विमानदर्शणा च हस्तिदसणा च

<sup>2</sup> Bühler (ZDMG, 47. 466 ff.) showed that this term means originally 'a field-measurer' (from rajju, 'a rope'), and is the designation of a revenue settlement officer. In the Kautilīya, the two terms chōra-rajju (p. 60) and chōra-rajjuka (p. 232) seem to mean something like 'police' and 'police officer', respectively. Cf. I. J. Sorabji, Notes on the Arthasāstram, p. 10 f., and Jolly in ZDMG, 71. 228.

<sup>7</sup> Bühler translated parisā by 'school', and in edict VI by 'committee'. K. Jayaswal (IA, 42. 283) has drawn attention to the occurrence of the term mantri-parishad, 'the council of ministers', in the Kautilīya. This meaning fits admirably both here and in the rock-edict VI, F.

<sup>8</sup> I follow Lüders (SPAW, 1914. 839) in the translation of the difficult words एकत्रयं hetuto cha vyañjanato cha. For vyañjana cf. my note on the translation of the Sārnāth pillar-edict, section I.

THE INSCRIPTIONS OF ASOKA

riyadarśin, abstention from killing animals, abstention from hurting living beings, courtesy to relatives, courtesy to Brāhmaṇas and Śramaṇas, obedience to mother (and) father, (and) obedience to the aged.

(D) In this and many other ways is the practice of morality promoted.

(E) And king Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin will ever promote this practice of morality.

(F) And the sons, grandsons, and great-grandsons of king Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin will promote this practice of morality until the æon of destruction (of the world),<sup>1</sup> (and) will instruct (people) in morality, abiding by morality (and) by good conduct.

(G) For this is the best work, viz. instruction in morality.

(H) And the practice of morality is not (possible) for (a person) devoid of good conduct.

(I) Therefore promotion and not neglect of this object is meritorious.

(J) For the following purpose has this been caused to be written, (viz. in order that) they<sup>2</sup> should devote themselves to the promotion of this practice, and that the neglect (of it) should not be approved (by them).<sup>3</sup>

(K) This was caused to be written by king Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin (when he had been) anointed twelve years.

<sup>4</sup> The Kālsi and Dhauḷi versions read correctly so sukataṃ karoti. Dr. Bühler (AJP, 32. 441) suggests, the Gīrnār reading may be a corruption due to the omission of the next sentence.

TRANSLATION

- (A) King Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin speaks thus.
 (B) It is difficult to perform virtuous deeds.
 (C) He who starts performing virtuous deeds accomplishes something difficult.
 (D) Now, by me many virtuous deeds have been performed.
 (E) Therefore (among) my sons and grandsons, and (among) my descendants (who shall come) after them until the æon of destruction (of the world), those who will conform to this (duty) will perform good deeds.
 (F) But he who will neglect even a portion of this (duty) will perform evil deeds.
 (G) For sin is easily committed.
 (H) In times past (officers) called Mahāmātras of morality (Dharma-mahāmātra) did not exist before.
 (I) But Mahāmātras of morality were appointed by me (when I had been) anointed thirteen years.
 (J) These are occupied with all sects in establishing morality . . . . . of those who are devoted to morality (even) among the Yōṇas, Kambōjas, and Gandhāras,<sup>1</sup> the Ristikas and Pētēnikas,<sup>2</sup> and whatever other western borderers<sup>3</sup> (of mine there are).
 (K) They are occupied with servants and masters<sup>4</sup> . . . . . for the . . . . . happiness of those who are devoted to morality, (and) in freeing (them) from desire (for worldly life).<sup>5</sup>
 (L) They are occupied in supporting prisoners<sup>6</sup> (with money)<sup>7</sup> . . . . . (if one has) children, or with those who are bewitched (i.e. incurably ill?),<sup>8</sup> or with the aged.

<sup>2</sup> Bühler (ZDMG, 37. 261) identified the Ristikas with the Rishikas of the Rāmāyaṇa. But Ristika is probably a clerical mistake for Rāstika; see my note on the translation of the Shāhbāzgarhī edict V, J. According to Michelson (IF, 24. 52 ff.), Petenika stands for **Paitrayanika*. Dhāuli reads Pitenika, and the two Kharōṣṭhī versions read Pitiniika. The same tribe is mentioned in the rock-edict XIII, R; see my note on the translation of the Kālsī version of that passage.

<sup>3</sup> In Senart's and Bühler's translations the word apara, 'western', is disregarded; but it is noticed by Senart in IA, 20. 240. For amta see the Kālsī edict II, l. 1, and XIII, l. 6; Rūpnāth, Sahasrām, and Bairāt, H; Brahmagiri and Śiddāpura, I; and the second separate edict at Dhāuli and Jaugaḍa. Later on Aparānta became the designation of a tract of land on the western coast, the capital of which was Sōpārā; cf. EI, II. 220.

<sup>5</sup> Instead of aparigodha other versions read apalibodha, for which see my note on the translation of the corresponding passage at Kālsī. Thomas has traced the substantive paligodha, 'desire', and the participle paliguddha (= parigriddha), 'desirous', in Buddhist Sanskrit works; see his valuable article in JRAS, 1915. 99 ff.

<sup>6</sup> i.e. Vaiśyas; see Bühler, ZDMG, 37. 269. The readings of the Dhauḷi and Mānsehrā versions, ibhiya and ibhya, show that ibha at Kālsī and Shāhbāzgarhī is meant for ibbha. The same follows from the Jātaka, No. 544, where, as noted by Bühler (VOJ, 12. 76), the compound brāhmaṇ-ibbha occurs several times.

<sup>7</sup> The reading dhamma-yutāye seems to be a mere corruption of that of the Gīrnār version, dhamma-yutānām.

<sup>8</sup> According to Childers's Pāli Dictionary, paṭibodha means 'obstacle, hindrance, drawback, impediment'. Lüders (SPAW, 1914. 841) has shown that its original meaning was 'fetters, to be fettered'. As its equivalent at Gīrnār (parigodha), the word seems to be used here in a metaphorical sense, while it has its original meaning in the next section.

(O) For the following purpose has this rescript on morality been caused to be written, (viz. that) it may be of long duration, and (that) my descendants<sup>4</sup> may conform to it.

(A) King Dōvānaṁpriya Priyadarśin speaks thus.

(B) In times past neither the disposal of affairs nor the submission of reports at any time did exist before.

(C) But I have made the following (arrangement).

(D) Reporters have to report to me the affairs of the people at any time (and) anywhere, while I am eating, in the harem, in the inner apartment, at the cowpen, in the palanquin, (and) in the park.

(E) And everywhere I shall dispose of the affairs of the people.

(F) And also, if in the council (of Mahāmātras) a dispute arises,<sup>9</sup> or an amendment is moved, in connexion with any donation or proclamation which I am ordering verbally, or (in connexion with) an emergent matter which has been delegated to the Mahāmātras, it must be reported to me immediately, anywhere, (and) at any time.

(G) Thus I have ordered.

(H) For I am never content in exerting myself and in dispatching business.

(I) For I consider it my duty<sup>10</sup> (to promote) the welfare of all men.

(J) But the root of that (is) this, (viz.) exertion and the dispatch of business.

(K) For no duty is more important than (promoting) the welfare of all men.<sup>11</sup>

(L) And whatever effort I am making, (is made) in order that I may discharge the debt (which I owe) to living beings, (that) I may make them<sup>12</sup> happy in this (world), and (that) they may attain heaven in the other (world).

<sup>9</sup> The form saṁtaṁ corresponds to saṁto at Gīrnār, and must be a nominative singular, just as in the Kālsī edict VIII, C, and as kalaiṁtaṁ in XII, H; see also kala[ṁ]ta, XI, E, and kalata, XII, F and G, and cf. my note on the translation of the Dhauḷī separate edict I, X.

<sup>10</sup> muta for mata occurs also in the Kālsī edict XIII, E (vedaniya-mute gulu-mute chā). The change of a to u is due to the preceding labial, as in uchāvucha (Kālsī, VII, C, and IX, B) for uchāvacha (Gīrnār).

<sup>12</sup> As kāni corresponds to nāni at Gīrnār, and to sha or she in the two Kharōṣṭhī versions, it seems to be used as a demonstrative. The same meaning fits in the pillar-edict IV, H and M; V, C; VI, C; and VII, H. The singular kaṁi occurs in the Jaugada separate edict I C, and II, C.

(M) Now, for the following purpose has this rescript on morality been caused to be written, (viz. that) it may be of long duration, and (that) my sons and wives<sup>1</sup> may display the same zeal for the welfare of all men.

(N) But it is difficult to accomplish this without great zeal.

(A) King Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin speaks (thus).

(B) Men are practising various ceremonies during illness, at the marriage of a son or a daughter, at the birth of a child,<sup>22</sup> (and) when setting out on a journey; on these and other such (occasions) men are practising many ceremonies.

(C) But in such (cases) mothers and wives<sup>23</sup> are practising many and various vulgar and useless ceremonies.

(D) Now, ceremonies should certainly be practised.

(E) But these (ceremonies) bear little fruit indeed.

(F) But the following bears much fruit indeed, viz. the practice of morality.

(G) Herein the following (are comprised), (viz.) proper courtesy to slaves and servants, reverence to elders, gentleness to animals, (and) liberality to Śramaṇas and Brāhmaṇas; these and other such (virtues) are called the practice of morality.

(H) Therefore a father, or a son, or a brother, or a master, (or) a friend or an acquaintance, or even a (mere) neighbour ought to say:—'This is meritorious. This

practice should be observed until the (desired) object is attained, (thinking):<sup>1</sup> I shall observe this'.

(I) For other<sup>2</sup> ceremonies are of doubtful (effect).

(J) One may attain his object (by them), but he may not (do so).

(K) And they (bear fruit) in this world only.

(L) But that practice of morality is not restricted to time.

(M) Even if one does not attain (by it) his object in this (world), then endless merit is produced in the other (world).<sup>3</sup>

(N) But if one attains (by it) his object in this (world), the gain<sup>4</sup> of both (results) arises from it; (viz.) the (desired) object (is attained) in this (world), and endless merit is produced in the other (world) by that practice of morality.

In these two cases pasavati is construed with an instrumental, and in the last case it corresponds to bhavati in the Gīrnār version. Bühler (ZDMG, 37. 580) was therefore right in explaining it by pasavvati=Sanskrit prasavyatē.

(A) King Dōvānāmpriya Priyadarśin does not think that either glory or fame conveys much advantage, except whatever glory or fame he desires (on account of his aim) that in the present time, and in the future, men may (be induced) by him to practise obedience to morality, or that they may conform to the duties of morality.

(B) On this (account) king Dōvānāmpriya Priyadarśin is desiring glory and fame.

(C) And whatever effort king Dōvānāmpriya Priyadarśin is making, all that (is) only for the sake of (merit) in the other (world), (and) in order that all (men) may run little danger.<sup>1</sup>

(D) But the danger is this, viz. demerit.

(E) But it is indeed difficult either for a lowly person<sup>2</sup> or for a high one to accomplish this without great zeal (and without) laying aside every (other aim).

(F) But among these (two) it is indeed (more) difficult to accomplish just for a high (person).

TRANSLATION

(A) King Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin speaks thus.

(B) There is no such gift as the gift of morality, the distribution of morality, (and) kinship through morality.

(C) Herein the following (are comprised), (viz.) proper courtesy to slaves and servants, obedience to mother and father, liberality to friends, acquaintances, and relatives, to Śramaṇas and Brāhmaṇas, (and) abstention from killing animals.

(D) Concerning this a father, or a son, or a brother, or a master, (or) a friend or an acquaintance, (or) even a (mere) neighbour, ought to say:—'This is meritorious. This ought to be done'.

TRANSLATION

(A) When king Dōvānāmpriya Priyadarśin had been anointed eight years, (the country of) the Kālīngyas was conquered by (him).

(B) One hundred and fifty thousand in number were the men who were deported thence, one hundred thousand in number were those who were slain there, and many times as many those who died.

(C) After that, now that (the country of) the Kālīngyas has been taken, Dōvānāmpriya (is devoted) to a zealous study of morality, to the love of morality, and to the instruction (of people) in morality.

(D) This is the repentance of Dōvānāmpriya on account of his conquest of (the country of) the Kālīngyas.

(E) For, this is considered<sup>1</sup> very painful and deplorable by Dōvānāmpriya, that, while one is conquering<sup>2</sup> an unconquered (country), slaughter, death, and deportation of people (are taking place) there.

(F) But the following is considered even more deplorable than this by Dōvānāmpriya.

(G) (To) the Brāhmaṇas or Śramaṇas, or other sects or householders,<sup>3</sup> who are living there, (and) among whom the following are practised: obedience to those who receive high pay,<sup>4</sup> obedience to mother and father, obedience to elders, proper courtesy to friends, acquaintances, companions, and relatives, to slaves and servants, (and) firm devotion,—to these then happen injury or slaughter or deportation of (their) beloved ones.

(H) Or if there are then incurring misfortune<sup>5</sup> the friends, acquaintances, companions, and relatives of those whose affection (for the latter) is undiminished, although they are (themselves) well provided for,<sup>6</sup> this (misfortune) as well becomes an injury to those (persons) themselves.<sup>7</sup>

(I) This is shared by all men<sup>8</sup> and<sup>9</sup> is considered deplorable by Dōvānāmpriya.

(J) There is no country where these (two) classes, (viz.) the Brāhmaṇas and the Śramaṇas, do not exist, except among the Yōnas; and there is no (place) in any country where men are not indeed attached to some sect.<sup>10</sup>

(K) Therefore even the hundredth part or the thousandth part of all those people

<sup>5</sup> pāpūnāti is used in the same way in the Dhauli separate edict I, J, and the Jaugaḍa separate edict I, K.

<sup>7</sup> The correct construction of this section is due to Lüders, who showed that etānaṃ must be divided into e tānaṃ; see SPAW, 1914. 850.

<sup>9</sup> The chā after gulu-mate corresponds to the preceding chā after paṭibhāge. In the same way the double nathī chā in the next section co-ordinates the two sentences.

who were slain, who died, and who were deported at that time when (the country of) the Kaliṅgas was taken, (would) now be considered very deplorable by Dēvānāmpriya.

(O) . . . . . desires towards all beings . . . . . self-control, impartiality, (and) kindness.

(P) But this . . . . . by Dēvānāmpriya, viz. the conquest by morality.

(Q) And this (conquest) has been won repeatedly by Dēvānāmpriya both [here]<sup>1</sup> and among all (his) borderers, even as far as at (the distance of) six hundred yōjanas, where the Yōna king named Antiyoga<sup>2</sup> (is ruling), and beyond this Antiyoga, (where) four—4—kings (are ruling), (viz. the king) named Tulamaya,<sup>3</sup> (the king) named Antekina,<sup>4</sup> (the king) named Makā,<sup>5</sup> (and the king) named Alikyashudala,<sup>6</sup> (and) likewise<sup>7</sup> towards the south,<sup>8</sup> (where) the Chōḍas and Pāṇḍyas (are ruling), as far as Tāmraparṇī.

(S) Even those to whom the envoys of Dēvānāmpriya do not go, having heard of the duties of morality,<sup>15</sup> the ordinances, (and) the instruction in morality of Dēvānāmpriya, are conforming to morality and will conform to (it).

(T) This conquest, which has been won by this everywhere, causes the feeling of satisfaction.

(U) Firm<sup>16</sup> becomes this satisfaction, (viz.) the satisfaction at the conquest by morality.

<sup>6</sup> The two Kharōshthī versions read Alikasudara. The four kings are Ptolemy II Philadelphos of Egypt (B.C. 285-247), Antigonos Gonatas of Macedonia (276-239), Magas of Cyrene (c. 300-250), and either Alexander of Epirus (272-c. 255) or, more probably, Alexander of Corinth (252-c. 244); see Lassen's Ind. Alt., vol. II, p. 255, and Beloch's Griechische Geschichte, 3, 2, 105.

<sup>11</sup> Bühler (ZDMG, 40. 138) connected the Bhōjas with the city of Bhōjakata in East Berar, which is mentioned in a Vākāṭaka grant (Gupta Insers., p. 241) and in the Bharaut inscriptions (IA, 21. 240). But as, in the rock-edict V, J, the Pitinikas appear among Aśōka's western borderers, the Bhōjas, who are coupled with them here, will have to be looked for in the west as well.

<sup>14</sup> The Gīrnār version seems to read Pāriṇḍa, and the Shāhbāzgarhī one Palida. Bühler (ZDMG, 40. 138) identified this word with Pulinda and noted that the Andhras and Pulindas are mentioned together already in the Aitarēya-Brahmaṇa, VII, 18. But the variants at Gīrnār and Kālsī render this identification very improbable. Pāriṇḍa reminds us of the Sanskrit pārīndra, 'a lion'.

<sup>16</sup> As suggested by Bühler (ZDMG, 40. 138), gadha (instead of which two other versions read ladhā or ladha) may represent **gāddhā*, from Pāli gādhati, 'to stand fast.'

(V) But this satisfaction is indeed of little (consequence).

(W) Dēvānāmpriya thinks that only the fruits in the other (world) are of great (value).<sup>1</sup>

(X) And for the following purpose has this rescript on morality been written, (viz.) in order that the sons (and) great-grandsons (who) may be (born) to me, should not think that a fresh conquest ought to be made; (that), if a conquest does please them,<sup>2</sup> they should take pleasure<sup>3</sup> in mercy and light punishments; and (that) they should regard the conquest by morality as the only (true) conquest.

(Y) This (conquest bears fruit) in this world (and) in the other world.

(Z) And let all (their) pleasure be the pleasure in exertion.<sup>4</sup>

(AA) For this (bears fruit) in this world (and) in the other world.

TRANSLATION

(A) These rescripts on morality have been caused to be written by king Dōvānāṃ-priya Priyadarśin either in an abridged (form), or of middle (size), or at full length.

(B) For the whole was not suitable everywhere.

(C) For (my) dominions are wide, and much has been written, and I shall constantly<sup>1</sup> cause still (more) to be written.

(D) And (some) of this has been stated again and again because of the charm of certain topics, (and) in order that men should act accordingly.

(E) But some of this may have been written incompletely, either on account of the locality,<sup>2</sup> or because (my) motive was not liked, or by the fault of the writer.

(A) This rescript on morality has been caused to be written by king Dōvānāmpriya.

(B) Here no living being must be killed and sacrificed.

(C) And also no festival meetings must be held.

(D) For king Dōvānāmpriya Priyadarśin sees much evil in festival meetings.

(E) But there are also some festival meetings which are considered meritorious by king Dōvānāmpriya Priyadarśin.

(F) Formerly in the kitchen of king Dōvānāmpriya Priyadarśin many hundred thousands of animals were killed daily for the sake of curry.

(G) But now, when this rescript on morality is written, then only three animals are being killed (daily), (viz.) two—2—peacocks (and) 1 deer, (but) even this deer not regularly.

(H) Even these three animals shall not be killed in future.

<sup>11</sup> Bühler wrote aha ti in two words. But the barbarous form ahati or lahati is guaranteed by the edicts V, &c., where it is preceded by evam, and where consequently ti cannot have the meaning 'thus'.

for this very purpose, (viz.) for the following instruction in morality as well as for other business.

(D) 'Meritorious is obedience to mother and father. [Liberality] to friends, acquaintances, and relatives, to Brāhmaṇas and Śramaṇas [is meritorious]. Abstention from killing animals is meritorious. Moderation in expenditure (and) moderation in possessions are meritorious.'

(E) The councils (of Mahāmātras) also shall order the Yuktas to register (these rules) both with (the addition of) reasons and according to the letter.

(A) In times past, for many hundreds of years, there had ever been promoted the killing of animals and the hurting of living beings, discourtesy to relatives, (and) discourtesy to Śramaṇas and Brāhmaṇas.

(B) But now, in consequence of the practice of morality on the part of king Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin, the sound of drums has become the sound of morality, showing the people representations of aerial chariots, elephants, masses of light, and other divine figures.

(C) Such as they had not existed before for many hundreds of years, thus there are now promoted, through the instruction in morality on the part of king Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin, abstention from killing animals, abstention from hurting living beings, courtesy to relatives, courtesy to Brāhmaṇas and Śramaṇas, obedience to mother and father, (and) to the aged.

(D) In this and many other ways is the practice of morality promoted.

(E) And this practice of morality will be ever promoted by king Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin.

(F) And also the sons,<sup>8</sup> grandsons, and great-grandsons of king Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin will ever promote this practice of morality until the æon (of destruction of the world), (and) will instruct (people) in morality, abiding by morality and by good conduct.

(G) For this is the best work, viz. instruction in morality.

(H) And the practice of morality also is not (possible) for (a person) devoid of good conduct.

(I) Therefore promotion and not neglect of this object is meritorious.

(J) For the following purpose has this been written,<sup>9</sup> (viz. in order that) they should devote themselves to the promotion of this practice, and that they should not approve<sup>10</sup> the neglect (of it).

(K) (This) conception (jñāna) was caused to be written here by king Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin (when he had been) anointed twelve years.

<sup>8</sup> For cha kaṇi see above, p. 31, n. 6. Mānsehrā has once cha kaṇi (XI, 14) and twice cha ka (IV, 16; XIII, 13).

(A) King Dōvānāmpriya Priyadarśin speaks thus.

(B) It is difficult to perform virtuous deeds.

(C) He who starts performing virtuous deeds accomplishes something difficult.

(D) Now, by me many virtuous deeds have been performed.

(E) Therefore (among) my sons and grandsons, and (among) my descendants who shall come<sup>19</sup> after them until the æon (of destruction of the world), those who will conform to this (duty) will perform good deeds.

(F) But he who will neglect even one (portion) of this (duty) will perform evil deeds.

(G) For sin is easily committed.

(H) Now, in times past (officers) called Mahāmātras of morality did not exist before.

(I) But Mahāmātras of morality were appointed by me (when I had been) anointed thirteen years.

(J) These are occupied with all sects in establishing morality, in promoting morality, and for the welfare and happiness<sup>20</sup> of those who are devoted to morality (even) among the Yōnas, Kambōyas, and Gandhāras, among the Raṭhikas, among the Pitinikas,<sup>21</sup> and whatever (other) western borderers (of mine there are).

<sup>21</sup> For Raṭhika and Pitinika Gīrnār reads Riṣṭika and Petenika. As Laṭhika at Dhauli agrees with Raṭhika at Shāhbāzgarhī and Mānselrā, Riṣṭika at Gīrnār may be a clerical mistake for Rāṣṭika, just as parikamate for parākamate in X, l. 3, Devinaṁ for Devānaṁ in XI, l. 1, and dūtī for dūtā in XIII, l. 9. Conversely, astā is written for asti in IX, l. 7, pitārā for pitari in XI, l. 2, and vivādhāya for vividhāya in XII, l. 1. The Sanskrit original of Rāṣṭika would be Rāṣṭrika. The identifications of this name with Surāshṭra (Senart, Inscriptions de Piyadasi, vol. I, p. 126) or Lāṭa (Lassen, Ind. Alt., vol. I (sec. ed.), p. 137, n. 4) are improbable because these two provinces were included in Aśoka's empire; cf. Bühler, ZDMG, 37. 261. Sir R. Bhandarkar (Early History of the Dekkan, sec. ed., p. 11 ff.) connects Rāṣṭrika with Mahārāṣṭra, the Pāli form of which, Mahārattṭha, occurs in the Dīpavaiṣa and Mahāvaiṣa. Could the Rāṣṭrikas be identical with the Āraṭṭas of the Panjāb (Lassen, Ind. Alt., vol. III, p. 76) and with the Ἀραττίοι who are mentioned in the Periplus (§ 47) together with the Ἀραχώσιοι and Τανδάριοι?

(K) They are occupied with servants and masters, with Brāhmaṇas and Ibhyas, with the destitute, (and) with the aged, for the welfare and happiness of those who are devoted to morality, (and) in freeing (them) from desire (for worldly life).<sup>1</sup>

(L) They are occupied in supporting prisoners (with money), in causing (their) fetters to be taken off, (and) in setting (them) free, (if) one has children, or is bewitched, or aged, respectively.

(M) They are occupied everywhere, here and in all the outlying towns, in the harems of my brothers, of (my) sisters, and (of) whatever other relatives (of mine there are).

(N) These Mahāmātras of morality are occupied everywhere in my dominions with those who are devoted to morality, (in order to ascertain) whether one is eager for morality, or established in morality, or furnished with gifts.<sup>2</sup>

(O) For the following purpose has this rescript on morality been written, (viz. that) it may be of long duration, and (that) my descendants may conform to it.

TRANSLATION

(A) King Dēvānāṃpriya Priyadarśin speaks thus.

(B) Men are practising various ceremonies during illness, at the marriage of a son or a daughter, at the birth of a child,<sup>32</sup> (and) when setting out on a journey; on these and other such (occasions) men are practising many ceremonies.

(C) But in such (cases) women are practising many and various offensive<sup>33</sup> and useless ceremonies.

(D) Now, ceremonies should certainly be practised.

(E) But these (ceremonies) bear little fruit indeed.

(F) But the following bears much fruit indeed, viz. the practice of morality.

(G) Herein the following (are comprised), (viz.) proper courtesy to slaves and servants, reverence to elders, gentleness to animals, (and) liberality to Śramaṇas and Brāhmaṇas; these and other (virtues) are called the practice of morality.

(H) Therefore a father, or a son, or a brother, or a master, (or) a friend or an acquaintance, (or) even a (mere) neighbour ought to say: 'This is meritorious. This practice should be observed until the (desired) object is attained, (thinking): After it is actually attained, I shall observe this again'.

- (I) For such ceremonies are of doubtful (effect).
 (J) One may attain his object (by them), but he may not (do so).
 (K) And they (bear fruit) in this world only.
 (L) But that practice of morality is not restricted to time.
 (M) But if<sup>1</sup> one does not attain (by it) his object in this (world), then endless merit is produced in the other (world).
 (N) But if one attains (by it) his object (in this world), the gain of both (results) arises from it; (viz.) the (desired) object (is attained) in this (world), and endless merit is produced in the other (world) by that practice of morality.

(A) King Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin does not think that either glory or fame conveys much advantage, except whatever glory or fame he desires (on account of his aim) that in the present time, and in the future, men may (be induced) by him to practise obedience to morality, and that they may conform to the duties of morality.

(B) On this (account) king Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin is desiring glory and fame.

TRANSLATION

(A) King Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin is honouring all sects : (both) ascetics and householders, with gifts and with honours of various kinds.

(B) But Dēvānāmpriya does not value either gifts or honours so (highly) as (this), (viz.) that a promotion of the essentials of all sects should take place.

(C) But the promotion of the essentials (is possible) in many ways.

(D) But its root is this, viz. guarding (one's) speech, (i. e.) that neither praising one's own sect nor blaming other sects should take place on improper occasions, or (that) it should be moderate in every case.

(E) But other sects ought to be duly honoured in every way.

(F) If one is acting thus, he is promoting his own sect and is benefiting other sects as well.

(G) If one is acting otherwise than thus, he is hurting his own sect and wronging other sects.

(H) For whosoever praises his own sect (or) blames other sects,—all (this) out of pure devotion to his own sect, (i. e.) with the view of glorifying his own sect,—if he is acting thus, he rather injures his own sect very severely.

(I) Therefore self-control<sup>8</sup> alone is meritorious, (i. e.) that they should both hear and obey each other's morals.

(J) For this is the desire of Dēvānāmpriya, (viz.) that all sects should be both full of learning and pure in doctrine.

(K) And those who are attached to their respective (sects), ought to be spoken to (as follows).

(L) Dēvānāmpriya does not value either gifts or honours so (highly) as (this), (viz.) that a promotion of the essentials of all sects should take place.<sup>9</sup>

(M) And many (officers) are occupied for this purpose, (viz.) the Mahāmātras of morality, the Mahāmātras controlling women, the inspectors of cowpens, and other classes (of officials).

(N) And this is the fruit of it, (viz.) that the promotion of one's own sect takes place, and the glorification of morality.

TRANSLATION

(A) When king Dōvānāṃpriya Priyadarśin had been anointed eight years, (the country of) the Kaliṅgas was conquered by (him).

(B) One hundred and fifty thousand in number were the men who were deported thence, one hundred thousand in number were those who were slain there, and many times as many those who died.

(C) After that, now that (the country of) the Kaliṅgas has been taken, Dōvānāṃpriya (is devoted) to a zealous study of morality,<sup>19</sup> to the love of morality, and to the instruction (of people) in morality.

(D) This is the repentance of Dōvānāṃpriya on account of his conquest of (the country of) the Kaliṅgas.

(E) For, this is considered very painful and deplorable by Dōvānāṃpriya, that, while one is conquering an unconquered (country), slaughter, death, and deportation of people (are taking place) there.

(F) But the following is considered even more deplorable than this by Dōvānāṃpriya.

(G) (To) the Brāhmaṇas or Śramaṇas, or other sects or householders, who are living there, (and) among whom the following are practised: obedience to those who receive high pay, obedience to mother and father, obedience to elders, proper courtesy to friends, acquaintances, companions, and relatives, to slaves and servants, (and) firm devotion,—to these then happen injury<sup>1</sup> or slaughter or deportation of (their) beloved ones.

(H) Or, if there are then incurring misfortune the friends, acquaintances, companions, and relatives of those whose affection (for the latter) is undiminished, although they are (themselves) well provided for, this (misfortune) as well becomes an injury to those (persons) themselves.

(I) This is shared by all men and is considered deplorable by Dēvānāmpriya.

(J) And there is no (place where men) are not indeed attached to some sect.<sup>2</sup>

(K) Therefore even the hundredth part or the thousandth part of all those people who were slain, who died, and who were deported at that time in Kaliṅga, (would) now be considered very deplorable by Dēvānāmpriya.

(L) And Dēvānāmpriya thinks that even (to one) who should wrong (him), what can be forgiven is to be forgiven.

(M) And even (the inhabitants of) the forests<sup>3</sup> which are (included) in the dominions of Dēvānāmpriya, even those he pacifies (and) converts.<sup>4</sup>

(N) And they are told of the power (to punish them) which Dēvānāmpriya (possesses) in spite of (his) repentance,<sup>5</sup> in order that they may be ashamed (of their crimes) and may not be killed.

(O) For Dēvānāmpriya desires towards all beings abstention from hurting, self-control, (and) impartiality in (case of) violence.<sup>6</sup>

(P) And this conquest is considered the principal one<sup>7</sup> by Dēvānāmpriya, viz. the conquest by morality.

<sup>1</sup> 'The meaning of apagratho is fixed by the various readings npaghāte (Kālsī) and npaghāto (Girnār). It has to be noted (to which Pischel draws my attention) that some Kōśas give for grathita the meaning hata, hiṁsita; see Böhtlingk and Roth's Dictionary, s. v. granth.'—Bühler, ZDMG, 43. 174.

<sup>2</sup> 'By the fault of the writer' (as the rock-edict XIV, E, expresses it), most of this section is omitted in the Shāhbāzgarhī version.

<sup>4</sup> Literally, 'induces to meditate'. Cf. nijhapayisanti and nijhapayitā (or nijhapayitave) in the pillar-edict IV, M, nijhap[e]ta[vi]ye in the Jaugaḍa separate edict I, R, and nijhati in the rock-edict VI, F, and in the Delhi-Tōprā pillar-edict VII, JJ to NN; also the second separate edict at Dhauli and Jaugaḍa, where Aśoka declares that he wishes to induce his borderers to practise morality.

<sup>5</sup> Bühler (EI, 2. 471) rendered anutāpe prabhāve (i. e. anutāpē prabhāvē) by 'power to torment (them)'. But the meaning which he assigned to anutāpa is unusual, and this word is a synonym of anuśaya or anuśōchana in section D of this edict. Thomas takes prabhāve = Skt. prabhavēt; see V. A. Smith's Asoka, sec. ed., p. 173, n. 4. But at Shāhbāzgarhī the 3. sing. opt. ends in -eyati; cf. my note on the translation of edict XIV, D.

<sup>6</sup> I adopt Lüders' rendering of the last two words of this section; see SPAW, 1914. 851. The Girnār and Kālsī versions replace the locative rābhasiye (= Skt. rābhasyē) by the accusative mādava or madava (= Skt. mārdavam, 'kindness').

<sup>7</sup> mukha-muta (also at Mānsehrā, XIII, l. 9) is the same as mukhya-muta in the Lauṛiyā-Ararāj and Allahabad-Kōsam pillar-edicts, VI, F.

(Q) And this (conquest) has been won repeatedly by Dēvānāmpriya both here and among all (his) borderers, even as far as at (the distance of) six hundred yōjanas, where the Yōna king named Antiyoka (is ruling), and beyond this Antiyoka, (where) four—4—kings (are ruling), (viz. the king) named Turamaya, (the king) named Antikini, (the king) named Maka, (and the king) named Alikasudara, (and) towards the south, (where) the Chōḍas and Pāṇḍyas (are ruling), as far as Tāmraparṇī.

(R) Likewise here in the king's territory, among the Yōnas and Kambōyas, among the Nabhakas and Nabhitis,<sup>1</sup> among the Bhōjas and Pitinikas, among the Andhras and Palidas,<sup>2</sup>—everywhere (people) are conforming to Dēvānāmpriya's instruction in morality.

(S) Even those to whom the envoys of Dēvānāmpriya do not go, having heard of the duties of morality, the ordinances, (and) the instruction in morality of Dēvānāmpriya, are conforming to morality and will conform to (it).

(T) This conquest, which has been won by this everywhere,—a conquest (won) everywhere (and) repeatedly,—causes the feeling of satisfaction.

(U) Satisfaction has been obtained (by me) at the conquest by morality.

(V) But this satisfaction is indeed of little (consequence).

(W) Dēvānāmpriya thinks that only the fruits in the other (world) are of great (value).

(X) And for the following purpose has this rescript on morality been written, (viz.) in order that the sons (and) great-grandsons (who) may be (born) to me, should not think that a fresh conquest ought to be made, (that), if a conquest does please them,<sup>3</sup> they should take pleasure in mercy and light punishments, and (that) they should regard the conquest by morality as the only (true) conquest.

(Y) This (conquest bears fruit) in this world (and) in the other world.

(Z) And let there be (to them) pleasure in the abandonment of all (other aims),<sup>4</sup> which is pleasure in morality.

(AA) For this (bears fruit) in this world (and) in the other world.

TRANSLATION

(A) These rescripts on morality have been caused to be written<sup>13</sup> by king Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin either in an abridged (form) or at full length.

(B) For the whole was not suitable everywhere.

(C) For (my) dominions are wide, and much has been written, and I shall cause still (more) to be written.

(D) But (some) of this has been stated again and again because of the charm of certain topics, (and) in order that men should act accordingly.<sup>14</sup>

(E) But some of this may have been written incompletely, either on account of the locality, or because (my) motive was not liked,<sup>15</sup> or by the fault of the writer.

TRANSLATION

(A) At the word of Dvānāmprīya, the Mahāmātrā or Tōsā<sup>2</sup> (who are) the judicial officers of the city,<sup>3</sup> have to be told that—

(B) Whatever I recognize (to be right), that I strive to carry out by deeds, and to accomplish by (various) means:

(C) And this is considered by me the principal means for this object, viz (to give) instruction to you.

(D) For you are occupied with many thousands of men, with the object of gaining the affection of men.'

(E) All men are my children.

(F) As on behalf of (my own children I desire that they may be provided with complete welfare and happiness in this world and in the other world, the same I desire also on behalf of [all] men.'

(G) And you do not learn? how in this way, that we can learn?

(H) Some single person' only learns this and even he only a portion of the whole.

(I) Now you must pay attention to this, although you are not permitted to:

<sup>1</sup> Two copper-plate inscriptions from the Kanakū district, India, mention the two districts of Northern and Southern Tōsalī; see Ep. 4, 266 and 272. Epigraphy Indica, p. 102. However, Epigraphy Indica with the Tōsalī metropolis of Ptolemy; but the latter is stated to have been situated beyond the Ganges. See Lassen, Ind. Alt., 2 (sec. ed., 1856), p. 2. Epigraphy Indica, p. 107. Epigraphy Indica, 1886, 384 f.; IA, 12, 382.

<sup>2</sup> The correct translation of this section is due to Sarason and Frankel III, ibid., and of a quite similar construction in the Calceata-Santa rock-inscription I.

<sup>4</sup> Here, and in the pillar-editions VII, C, VII, D, 10, the participle grans = San grans seems to be used in the sense of 'against' in the mid-edition V, C or D and the pillar-edition VII Y to AA.

<sup>4</sup> Previous translators took sa-ma-ha-ma to be the word 'of good men'. So, however, in the two next sections the king is concerned with 'all men'. Sa-ma has another right in explaining sa = Skt. sva: see SPAW, 1914: 156, and also in the Chandogya Upanishad 12.11.

'as for his own children, even so [the] Buddhacharita. neither venture for it his majesty.'

<sup>2</sup> Bühler rendered pāpānāra by 'unpleasant', and śānta 'calm' by more closely by 'learn'. The verb has the same meaning three times in the second śaṅkṣā edition. In section 1 of the first edict it means 'to suffer': see my note on the Paṇḍita śaṅkṣā edition 2.1.

* Bühler translated śro-gamāḥ 'path' literally and the sense of these words implies and Lüders by 'how far this matter reaches'. The 'how' in this matter is intended to be the īte of īte cha me āvūtī in the Dāhī-Śrī gītā-cūṭī 37.1-5.

<sup>2</sup> This seems to refer to the single verb suppanta 'to punish or rebuke' in individual texts. Some compared eka-pulise (= eka-munize in Jaugyan, with the Sanskrit term pratyakṣa see Bühler 1901: 100 puthujjano), and Bühler rendered it as 'a person present to see' (1901: 100). The expression eka-pulise or eka-munize, 'a single person' occurs again in section 10 = 11 in Jaugyan, where it is opposed to 'many other people' in section 15 = 16 in Jaugyan. In section 20 'a single (person)' is contrasted with the whole body of humans in section 21 see also the second argument edict, 11 and 12).

19 Cf. the rock-etcher T. E. and T. E. =

— THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA —

(J) It happens in the administration (of justice)<sup>1</sup> that a single person suffers either imprisonment or harsh treatment.<sup>2</sup>

(K) In this case (an order) cancelling the imprisonment<sup>3</sup> is (obtained) by him<sup>4</sup> accidentally, while [many] other people continue to suffer.

(L) In this case you must strive to deal (with all of them) impartially.

(M) But one fails to act (thus) on account of the following dispositions:<sup>5</sup> envy, anger,<sup>6</sup> cruelty, hurry, want of practice,<sup>7</sup> laziness, (and) fatigue.

(N) (You) must strive for this, that these dispositions may not arise to you.

(O) And the root of all this is the absence of anger and the avoidance of hurry.

(P) He who is fatigued in the administration (of justice), will not rise; but one ought to move, to walk, and to advance.

(Q) He who will pay attention to this, must tell you:<sup>8</sup> 'See that (you) discharge the debt (which you owe to the king);<sup>9</sup> such and such is the instruction of Dēvānāmpriya.'

(R) The observance of this produces great fruit, (but its) non-observance (becomes) a great evil.<sup>10</sup>

(S) For if one fails to observe this,<sup>11</sup> there will be neither attainment of heaven nor satisfaction of the king.<sup>12</sup>

(T) For how (could) my mind be pleased if one badly fulfils this duty?<sup>13</sup>

<sup>2</sup> Bühler translated palikileśa by 'trouble'. Senart and Lüders (SPAW, 1914. 841, n. 1, and 857) render it by 'torture'. But in the Kauṭīliya the technical term for 'torture' is karman, and pariklēśayataḥ, which occurs on p. 223, l. 16, cannot have the same meaning as karma kārayatāḥ in the next preceding line.

<sup>8</sup> Hitherto the construction and bearing of this sentence have been misunderstood. The relative e corresponds to the demonstrative tena, and the subject is probably one of the controlling officers who are mentioned at the end of the edict.

<sup>9</sup> Cf. below, section U. Previous translators failed to make out the actual meaning of this sentence because they read amnamne, which they divided into amnam ne = Skt. ajñān naḥ (Senart and Bühler) or anyat + naḥ (Lüders).

<sup>10</sup> Both at Dhauḷi and at Jaugaḍa, the predicate is a masculine or neuter, although the subject is a feminine. Cf. above, p. 49, n. 1.

<sup>13</sup> In the translation of this difficult passage I follow Franke, GN, 1895. 537 f., but explain duāhale as a nominative absolute, because in the Māgadha dialect the locative would end in -asi.

(U) But if (you) observe this, you will attain heaven, and you will discharge the debt (which you owe) to me.<sup>1</sup>

(V) And this edict must be listened to (by all) on (every day of) the constellation Tishya.<sup>2</sup>

(W) And it may be listened to even by a single (person) also on frequent (other) occasions between (the days of) Tishya.

(X) And if (you) act thus,<sup>3</sup> you will be able<sup>4</sup> to fulfil (this duty).

(Y) For the following purpose has this rescript been written here, (viz.) in order that the judicial officers of the city may strive at all times<sup>5</sup> (for this), [that] neither undeserved fettering,<sup>6</sup> nor undeserved harsh treatment are happening to [men].

(Z) And for the following purpose I shall send out every five years<sup>7</sup> [a Mahāmātra] who will be neither harsh<sup>8</sup> nor fierce, (but) of gentle actions, (viz. in order to ascertain) whether (the judicial officers),<sup>9</sup> paying attention to this object, . . . . are acting thus, as my instruction (implies).

(AA) But from Ujjayini also the prince (governor) will send out for the same purpose . . . . a person of the same description,<sup>10</sup> and he will not allow (more than) three years to pass (without such a deputation).

(BB) In the same way (an officer will be deputed) from Takshashīlā also.

(CC) When . . . . these Mahāmātras will set out on tour, then, without neglecting their own duties, they will ascertain this as well, (viz.) whether (the judicial officers) are carrying out this also thus, as the instruction of the king (implies).

<sup>3</sup> The forms śāntatā there and in II, L. and P), śāntayāntā (Jaugarā separate edict I, S and T), śāntatā (II, Q, and pillar-edict IV, I), nāntatā (pillar-edict IV, M), and śāntatā (Delhi-Tōpā pillar-edict VII, PP) are nominatives singular absolute. Cf. above, p. 35, n. 9.

<sup>4</sup> Franke (VOJ, 9, 340 ff.) has shown that chaghāṭi is the future of chak, a variant of the root śak. Cf. chakya in the Dhauli separate edict II, l. 5, in the Sahasrām rock-inscription, l. 3, and in the Bairāt rock-inscription, l. 5; also chakya, ibid., l. 6.

<sup>12</sup> Lüders showed that sijā is not the last word of section E, as previous translators thought, but opens section F, and is used in the same way as huthā in the Delhi-Tōprā pillar-edict VII, D and J. He also pointed out the correct construction of sections F and G, which had been curiously misunderstood; see SPAW, 1914, 866 ff.

<sup>14</sup> Kern (JRAS, 1880, 381) explained su by Skt. svit. Cf. gachhema su in the Dhauli separate edict I, D, and kimasu in the Delhi-Tōprā pillar-edict VII, F, G, H.

(H) For the following purpose I am instructing you, (viz. that) I may discharge the debt (which I owe to them)<sup>4</sup> by this, that I instruct (you) and inform (you) of (my) will, i. e. my unshakable<sup>5</sup> resolution and vow.

(I) Therefore, acting thus, (you) must fulfil (your) duty and must inspire confidence to them,<sup>6</sup> in order that they may learn that Dēvānāmpriya is to them like a father, that Dēvānāmpriya loves them like himself, and that they are to Dēvānāmpriya like (his own) children.

(J) Therefore, having instructed (you), and having informed you of (my) will, I shall have (i. e. entertain) officers in (all) provinces<sup>7</sup> for this object.

(K) For you are able to inspire confidence to those (borderers) and (to secure their) welfare and happiness in this world and in the other world.

(L) And if (you) act thus, you will attain heaven, and will discharge the debt (which you owe) to me.

(M) And for the following purpose has this rescript been written here, (viz.) in order that the Mahāmātras may strive at all times to inspire confidence to those borderers (of mine) and (to induce them) to practise morality.

(N) And this rescript must be listened to (by all) every four months<sup>8</sup> on (the day of) the constellation Tishya.<sup>9</sup>

(O) But if desired, it may be listened to even by a single (person)<sup>10</sup> also on frequent (other) occasions between (the days of) Tishya.

(P) If (you) act thus, you will be able to carry out (my orders).

<sup>1</sup> Here and at Jaugaḍa, Senart and Bühler wrongly read mama te (in two words) instead of mamate, which, as Kern recognized, corresponds to the Prākṛit ablative mamatto. See JRAS, 1880. 380, 382, 383; SPAW, 1914. 868; Pischel's Grammatik, § 415 f.

<sup>5</sup> ajala corresponds to achala at Jaugaḍa, as loga (Jaugaḍa separate edict II, ll. 7 and 13) to loka, libi (Delhi-Tōprā pillar-edict VII, QQ and SS) to lipi, hida (Kālsī, V, J and K) to hita, and dose (Kālsī, VI, H) to tose.

<sup>6</sup> The neuter tāni is improperly used for the masculine te, which is the reading of the Jaugaḍa version.

<sup>7</sup> Kern (JRAS, 1880. 384) translated: 'I will entrust the country to your care.' For the difficult term desāvutika (Dhauḷi) or [saka]a-desā-āy[ut]ika (Jaugaḍa) see Bühler (ZDMG, 41. 28), who took āyuti = Skt. āyuktin, 'an official'. Cf. āvuti = Skt. āyukti, 'an order', in the pillar-edict IV, L. The provincial officers who are here referred to, are perhaps identical with the Mahāmātras whom Aśoka ordered to be deputed on inspection duty from Pāṭaliputra, Ujjayini, and Takshaṣilā; see the four last sections of the Dhauḷi separate edict I.

TRANSLATION (DHAULI AND JAUGADA)

(A) In times past, for many hundreds of years, there had ever been promoted the killing of animals and the hurting of living beings, discourtesy to relatives, (and) discourtesy to Śramaṇas and Brāhmaṇas.

(B) But now, in consequence of the practice of morality on the part of king Devānāmpriya Priyadarśin, the sound of drums has become the sound of morality, showing the people representations of aerial chariots, elephants, masses of fire, and other divine figures.

(C) Such as they had not existed before for many hundreds of years, thus there are now promoted, through the instruction in morality on the part of king Devānāmpriya Priyadarśin, abstention from killing animals, abstention from hurting living beings, courtesy to relatives, courtesy to Śramaṇas and Brāhmaṇas, obedience to mother and father, (and) obedience to the aged.

(D) In this and many other ways is the practice of morality promoted.

(E) And king Devānāmpriya Priyadarśin will ever promote this practice of morality.

(F) But also the sons, grandsons, and great-grandsons of king Devānāmpriya Priyadarśin will ever promote this practice of morality until the æon (of destruction of the world), (and) will instruct (people) in morality, abiding by morality and by good conduct.

(G) For this is the best work, viz. instruction in morality.

(H) But the practice of morality also is not (possible) for (a person) devoid of good conduct.

(I) Therefore promotion and not neglect of this object is meritorious.

(J) For the following purpose has this been written, (viz. in order that) they should devote themselves to the promotion of this practice, and that they should not approve <sup>2</sup> the neglect (of it).

(K) This has been written here by king Devānāmpriya Priyadarśin (when he had been) anointed twelve years.

 (E) Therefore (among) my sons and grandsons, and (among) my descendants (who shall come) after them until the æon (of the destruction of the world), those who will conform to this (duty) will perform good deeds.

(A) King Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin speaks thus.

(B) In times past neither the disposal of affairs nor the submission of reports at all times did exist before.

(C) But I have made (the following arrangement).

(D) Reporters have to report to me the affairs of the people at any time (and) anywhere, while I am [eating], within<sup>4</sup> the harem, in the inner apartment, at the cowpen, in the palanquin, and in the park.

(E) And everywhere I am disposing of the affairs of the people.

(F) And also, if in the council (of Mahāmātras) a dispute arises, or an amendment is moved, in connexion with any donation or proclamation which I am ordering verbally, or (in connexion with) an emergent matter which has been delegated to the Mahāmātras, it must be reported to me immediately, anywhere, (and) at any time.

(G) Thus I have ordered.

(H) For I am never satisfied in exerting myself and in dispatching business.

(I) For I consider it my duty (to promote) the welfare of all men.

(J) But the root of that (is) this, (viz.) exertion and the dispatch of business.

(K) For no duty is more important than (promoting) the welfare of all men.

(L) And whatever effort I am making, (is made) in order that I may discharge the debt (which I owe) to living beings, (that) I may make them happy in this (world), and (that) they may attain heaven in the other (world).

(M) For the following purpose has this rescript on morality been written, (viz. that) it may be of long duration, and (that) my sons (and) great-grandsons may display the same zeal for the welfare of all men.

TRANSLATION (DHAULI AND JAUGADA)

(A) In times past, kings used to set out on so-called pleasure-tours.

(B) On these (tours) hunting and other such pleasures were (enjoyed).<sup>1</sup>

(C) But when king Dōvānāmpriya Priyadarśin had been anointed ten years, he went out to Saṁbōdhi.

(D) Therefore tours of morality (were undertaken) here.

(E) On these (tours) the following takes place, (viz.) visiting Śramaṇas and Brāhmaṇas and making gifts (to them), visiting the aged and supporting (them) with gold, visiting the people of the country, instructing (them) in morality, and questioning (them) about morality, as suitable for this (occasion).

(F) This second period (of the reign) of king Dōvānāmpriya Priyadarśin becomes a pleasure in a higher degree.

TRANSLATION (DHAULI AND JAUGADA)

(A) King Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin speaks thus.

(B) Men are practising various ceremonies during illness ..... at the marriage of a daughter, at the birth of a child,<sup>1</sup> (and) when setting out on a journey; on these and other such (occasions) men [are practising] many ceremonies.

(C) But ..... women are practising many and various vulgar and useless ceremonies.

(D) Now ceremonies should certainly be practised.

(E) But such ceremonies as these bear little fruit indeed.

(F) But the following bears much fruit indeed, viz. the practice of morality.

(G) Herein the following (are comprised), (viz.) proper courtesy to slaves and servants, reverence to elders, gentleness to animals, (and) liberality to Śramaṇas and Brāhmaṇas; these and other [such] (virtues) are called the practice of morality.

(H) Therefore a father, or a son, or a brother, or a master ought to say:—‘This is meritorious. This [practice] should be observed until the (desired) object is attained.’

(I) And it has been said thus:—‘Gifts are meritorious.’

(J) But there is no [such] gift or benefit as the gift of morality and the benefit of morality.

(K) Therefore a friend ..... [a relative], and a companion should indeed admonish (another) on such and such an occasion:—‘This ..... this is meritorious. By this (practice) it is possible to attain heaven.’

(L) For what is more desirable than this, [viz.] the attainment of heaven?

TRANSLATION

(A) Dēvānāmpriya speaks thus.

(B) The Mahāmātras at Samāpā, (who are) the judicial officers of the city, have to be told this.

(C) Whatever I recognize (to be right), that I strive to carry out by deeds, and to accomplish by (various) means.

(D) And this is considered by me the principal means, viz. (to give) instruction to you.

(E) For you are occupied with many thousands of men, with the object of gaining the affection of men.

(F) All men are my children.

(G) As on behalf of (my own) children I desire that they may be provided by me with complete welfare and happiness in this world and in the other world, even so is my desire on behalf of all men.

(H) But you do not learn this, (viz.) how far this (my) object reaches.

(I) Some single person (only) learns (this), (and) even he (only) a portion, (but) not the whole.

(J) Now you must also pay attention (to this), although you are in prosperous circumstances.<sup>4</sup>

(K) It happens frequently that a single person undergoes imprisonment and suffers harsh treatment.<sup>5</sup>

(L) In this case (an order) cancelling the imprisonment is (obtained) by him accidentally, while many other people<sup>6</sup> (continue to) suffer.

(M) In this case you must strive to deal (with all of them) impartially.

(N) One fails to act (thus) on account of the following dispositions: envy, anger, cruelty, hurry, want of practice, laziness, (and) fatigue.

(O) (You) must strive for this, that these dispositions may not arise in you.

(P) But the root of all is this: the absence of anger and the avoidance of hurry.

(Q) Whoever is fatigued in the administration (of justice), will [not] move and rise; but one ought to move, to walk, and to advance in the administration (of justice).

<sup>5</sup> Lüders (SPAW, 1914, 862) renders the Dhauḷi version of this section: 'There is also a single officer who hears of imprisonment or torture'; but, in order to vindicate this translation, he is obliged to change eti in the Jaugaḍa version to eta (p. 856, n. 17), which gives no sense. The verb pāpunāti has the same meaning as here in the rock-edict XIII; cf. above, p. 47, n. 5.

(S) If one observes this, great gain results, (but its) non-observance becomes a great evil.

(T) If one fails to observe (this), (there will be) neither attainment of heaven nor satisfaction of the king.

(U) How (could) my mind be pleased if one fulfils this duty badly?

(V) If (you) observe this, you will discharge the debt (which you owe) to me, and you will attain heaven.

(W) And this rescript must be listened to (by all) on every (day of) Tishya.

(X) It may be listened to even by a single (person) also on (other) occasions between (the days of Tishya).

(Y) . . . . . you will be able to . . . . .

(Z) And for the following purpose has this rescript been written, (viz.) in order that the Mahāmātras (who are) city-judges may strive at all times for this, that to men [undeserved imprisonment or harsh treatment] . . . . .

(AA) . . . . . I shall send out every five years on a complete tour (throughout his charge)<sup>1</sup> a Mahāmātra who is neither fierce nor harsh . . . . .

(BB) . . . . . also the prince (governor) [will send out] . . . . .

(CC) . . . . . from [Takshaśi]lā.

(DD) When, at the word [of the king],<sup>2</sup> they will set out on tour, (then), [without neglecting] their own duties, (they will ascertain<sup>3</sup> whether the judicial officers) are carrying out this also just, as . . . . .

(A) Dēvānāmpriya speaks thus.

(B) The Mahāmātras at Samāpā have to be told (this) at the word of the king.<sup>10</sup>

(C) Whatever I recognize (to be right), that I strive to carry out by deeds and to accomplish by (various) means.

(D) And this is considered by me the principal means for this object, viz. (to give) instruction to you.

(E) All men are my children.

(F) As on behalf of (my own) children I desire that they may be provided by me with complete welfare and happiness in this world and in the other world, even so is my desire on behalf of all men.

(G) It might occur to (my) unconquered borderers (to ask): 'What does the king desire with reference to us?'

(H) This alone is my wish with reference to the borderers, (that) they may learn (that) the king desires this, (that) they may not be afraid of me, but may have confidence in me; (that) they may obtain only happiness from me, not misery; (that) they may learn this, (that) the king will forgive them what can be forgiven; that they may (be induced) by me (to) practise morality; (and that) they may attain (happiness) both (in) this world and (in) the other world.

<sup>10</sup> The derivative l[ā]ja-vachanik[a] seems to convey the same meaning as the two words Devānāmpriyasa vachanena at the beginning of each of the two separate edicts at Dhauri, and of the Queen's pillar-edict at Allahabad. Cf. also the opening phrase of the Brahmagiri and Siddhāpura rock-inscriptions.

(I) And for the following purpose I am instructing you, (viz. that) I may discharge the debt (which I owe to them) by this, that I instruct you and inform (you) of (my) will, i. e. (of) my unshakable resolution and vow.

(J) Therefore, acting thus, (you) must fulfil (your) duty and must inspire them with confidence,<sup>1</sup> in order that they may learn that the king is to them like a father, (that) he loves them as he loves himself, (and that) they are to the king like (his own) children.

(K) Having instructed you and having informed (you) of (my) will, i. e. (of) my unshakable resolution and vow, I shall have (i. e. maintain) officers in all provinces for this object.

(L) For you are able to inspire those (borderers) with confidence and (to secure their) welfare and happiness in this world and in the other world.

(M) And if (you) act thus, you will attain heaven, and you will discharge the debt (which you owe) to me.

(N) And for the following purpose has this rescript been written here, (viz.) in order that the Mahāmātras may strive at all times to inspire (my) borderers with confidence and (to induce them) to practise morality.

(O) And this rescript must be listened to (by all) every four months on (the day of) Tishya.

(P) And it may be listened to also between (the days of Tishya).

(Q) It may be listened to even by a single (person) when an occasion offers.<sup>2</sup>

(R) And if (you) act thus, you will be able to carry out (my orders).

TRANSLATION

(A) King Dōvānāmpriya Priyadarśin speaks thus.

(B) (To practise) morality is meritorious ; but what does morality include ?<sup>3</sup>

(C) (It includes) few sins,<sup>4</sup> many virtuous deeds, compassion, liberality, truthfulness, (and) purity.

(D) The gift of spiritual insight<sup>5</sup> also has been bestowed by me in many ways.

(E) On bipeds and quadrupeds, on birds and aquatic animals various benefits have been conferred by me, (even) to the boon of life.<sup>6</sup>

(F) And many other virtuous deeds also have been performed by me.<sup>7</sup>

(G) For the following purpose was this rescript on morality caused to be written by me, (viz.) in order that (men) might conform to it, and that it might be of long duration.

(H) And he who will act thus will perform good deeds.<sup>8</sup>

<sup>4</sup> āsina is a dialectic variety of the Jaina term aṅhaya which is derived from ā + snu; see Weber's Ind. Studien, 16, 326, n. 7, and Michelson, IF, 23, 267 f. The corresponding Pāli term is āsava, which is Sanskritized by āsrava or āsraṇa. See Burnouf, Lotus, p. 822 f.; Sarvadārśana-saṃgraha, translated by Cowell and Gough, p. 53 f.; ZDMG, 72, 149. With the compound apāsina cf. apa-vyayatā, apa-phalaṃ, and apa-parisraṇa in the Gīrṇār edict III, l. 5, IX, l. 3, and X, l. 3, respectively.

TRANSLATION

(A) King Dēvānāṃpriya Priyadarśin speaks thus.

(B) (Men) regard only (their) virtuous deeds, (thinking): 'This virtuous deed has been performed by me.'

(C) They do not at all<sup>1</sup> regard (their) evil deeds, (thinking): 'This evil deed has been performed by me; this very (act) is called a sin.'<sup>2</sup>

(D) Now this is indeed difficult to recognize.

(E) But indeed this ought to be regarded thus:

(F) 'These (passions), viz. fierceness, cruelty, anger, pride, envy, are called sinful.<sup>3</sup> Let me not<sup>4</sup> ruin (myself) by (these) very (passions).'

(G) The following ought to be specially regarded:

(H) 'This (action conduces) to my (happiness) in this (world), that other (action)<sup>5</sup> to my (happiness) in the other (world).'

<sup>1</sup> Michelson (IF, 23, 236 f.) dissolves nomina into no amina, and identifies amina with the Pāli aminā, to which he attributes the meaning 'also'; but this word rather means 'hereby'. Bühler (EI, 2, 251, n. 21) seems to be right in taking no mina = Skt. na manāk. For the change of a to i cf. Pischel's Grammatik, §§ 101-103.

<sup>4</sup> See Michelson, IF, 23, 262. To the reasons adduced by him against taking mā to be the accusative of the pronoun mad, we may add that, if mā were the object of palibhasayisaṃ, it would be an unidiomatic substitute of Skt. ātmanam.

<sup>5</sup> Michelson (IF, 23, 237 f.) connects mana with Skt. manāk, and Bühler translated it by 'at least'. The adverb mana does occur in the Jātaka, vol. I, p. 405, verse 97, where it means 'nearly'. I suspect that iyaṃmana represents Skt. idam anyat. For the Sandhi cf. kayānaṃmeva in line 17; hevaṃmeva (or vā) in the Allahabad-Kōsam pillar-edict VI, D, the Dhauī separate edict I, l. 13, the Jaugaḍa separate edict II, l. 4, and the Calcutta-Bairāt rock-inscription, F; sukhaṃmeva in the Dhauī separate edict II, l. 5, and the Jaugaḍa separate edict II, l. 6.

TRANSLATION

(A) King Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin speaks thus.

(B) This rescript on morality was caused to be written by me (when I had been) anointed twenty-six years.

(D) I have ordered that either rewards<sup>3</sup> or punishments are left to their discretion,<sup>4</sup> in order that the Lajūkas should perform (their) duties confidently (and) fearlessly, that they should bestow welfare and happiness on the people of the country, and that they should confer benefits (on them).

(E) They will know how to cause pleasure<sup>5</sup> and to cause pain (to them), and will exhort the people of the country through those who are devoted to morality,<sup>6</sup> in order that they may attain (happiness) both in this (world) and in the other (world).

(F) The Lajūkas also must obey me.<sup>7</sup>

(G) They will also obey the agents<sup>8</sup> who know (my) wishes.

(H) And these (agents) will also exhort those (people),<sup>9</sup> in order that the Lajūkas may be able to please me.<sup>10</sup>

(I) For, as one feels confident after having entrusted (his) child to an intelligent<sup>11</sup> nurse, (thinking): 'The intelligent nurse will be able to keep my child well', so the Lajūkas were appointed by me for the welfare and happiness of the country-people.<sup>12</sup>

(J) In order that they should perform (their) duties, being fearless, confident, (and) unperturbed,<sup>13</sup> for this (purpose) I have ordered that either rewards or punishments are left to the discretion of the Lajūkas.

<sup>3</sup> In the Ītaka the word abhihāra has the meaning of 'a present, an offering'; see Bühler, ZDMG, 46. 539 f., and Lüders, SPAW, 1913. 991 f.

<sup>11</sup> Kern (Faartelling, p. 99) first identified viyata with Skt. vyakta, which, according to the Amarakōśa, has also the meaning of prājña, and which is used with this meaning in Buddhist Sanskrit; see Böhlingk's Abridged Dictionary, s.v. व्यक्त, and Aśvaghoṣha's Saundarananda, II, 38.

(K) For the following is to be desired, (viz.) that there should be both impartiality in judicial proceedings and impartiality in punishments.

(L) And my order<sup>1</sup> (reaches) even so far<sup>2</sup> (that) a respite of three days is granted by me to persons lying in prison on whom punishment has been passed,<sup>3</sup> (and) who have been condemned to death.

(M) (In this way) either (their) relatives will persuade<sup>4</sup> those (Lajūkas) to (grant) their life, or, if there is none who persuades (them),<sup>5</sup> they will bestow gifts or will undergo fasts in order to (attain happiness) in the other (world).<sup>6</sup>

(N) For my desire is this, that, even when the time (of respite) has expired,<sup>7</sup> they should attain (happiness) in the other (world).

(O) And various moral practices, self-control, (and) the distribution of gifts are (thus) promoted among the people.

<sup>2</sup> Senart (IA, 18. 9) translated ava ite (= Skt. yāvad itaḥ) by 'from this day'. I follow Bühler's rendering (EI, 2. 254), and compare āva-gamu[k]e in the first separate edict at Dhauri (G) and Jaugaḍa (H). Michelson (IF, 23. 236) compares ava with Avestan yavaṭ, and āvā, the reading of three other versions of this edict, with Ancient Persian yāvā.

<sup>4</sup> Literally: 'will induce to meditate or consider'. Lüders (SPAW, 1913. 1022 f.) quotes na machchuno nijjilaṇaṇaṇi karonti from the Jātaka. The means of 'persuasion' was evidently the payment of ransom; cf. the Kaṭṭhiya, p. 146, last line: पुण्यश्रीलाः समयानुवदा वा दोषनिष्क्रयं [वन्धनस्थानां] दद्युः.

<sup>5</sup> Three other versions read: 'if there is none to persuade (them)'. Lüders (SPAW, 1913. 1023) has explained nāsamtam as the nominative singular absolute of the participle present of natthi (Skt. nāsti).

<sup>6</sup> As shown by Lüders (SPAW, 1913. 1024 f.), the prisoners themselves are the subject of the last sentence.

TRANSLATION

(A) King Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarsin speaks thus.

(B) (When I had been) anointed twenty-six years, the following animals were declared by me inviolable, viz.<sup>1</sup> parrots, mainas, the arūṇa, ruddy geese, wild geese, the nandimukha, the gelāṭa, bats, queen-ants,<sup>2</sup> terrapins,<sup>3</sup> boneless fish, the vedaveyaka, the Gaṅgā-puṇṇaka, skate-fish,<sup>4</sup> tortoises<sup>5</sup> and porcupines, squirrels (?),<sup>6</sup> the śrīmara,<sup>7</sup> bulls set at liberty,<sup>8</sup> iguanas (?), the rhinoceros,<sup>9</sup> white doves, domestic doves, (and) all the quadrupeds which are neither useful nor edible.

(C) Those [she-goats],<sup>10</sup> ewes, and sows (which are) either with young or in milk, are inviolable, and also those (of their) young ones (which are) less than six months old.

(D) Cocks must not be caponed.

(E) Husks containing living animals must not be burnt.

(F) Forests must not be burnt either uselessly or in order to destroy (living beings).

<sup>2</sup> Michelson (IF, 23. 266 f.) dissolves aiṇbākapilikā into **ambāka* (an adjective formed of ambā) and **pilikā* (for pīpilikā by haplology). But it seems easier to divide the word into ambā and kapilikā = Pāli kipillika. The Allahabad-Kōsam pillar actually reads aiṇbā-kipilikā. Skt. pīpilikā has been changed to kapilikā, &c. through dissimilation; cf. Trenckner's Pāli Miscellany, p. 59.

<sup>4</sup> With saṅkujā Senart (IA, 18. 75) compares Skt. saṅkuchi or sāṅkuchi, which may be derived from saṅkuch, 'to contract'.

<sup>8</sup> C. M. Mulvany (IA, 37. 211) remarks that this translation of saṇḍaka is improbable because 'Hindūs would hardly kill a bull'; but matters may have been different in Aśoka's time. Cf. the reference in Kālidāsa's Meghadūta (v. 45) to king Rantidēva who, according to the Mahābhārata (7. 67, 5; 12. 29, 123; 13. 66, 42 f.), sacrificed so many cows that their blood formed the river Charmaṇvatī. According to the Śatapatha-Brāhmaṇa (III, 1, 2, 21), Yājñavalkya was fond of tender beef. At the beginning of the fourth act of Bhavabhūti's Uttararāmuṇacharita it is stated that a heifer (vatsatari) was slaughtered by Vālmiki in honour of Vasishṭha's visit to his hermitage. According to Pāṇini, III, 4, 73, gūghna means 'a guest' because a cow is killed for him. Pāraskara (I, 3, 27) specifies the verse which had to be recited at the killing of the cow. Āpastamba (Grīhyasūtra, I, 3, 9) permits the slaughter of a cow at the reception of a guest, at the worship of the manes, and at the celebration of a marriage; cf. Manu, V, 41. For a description of the śūlagava or 'spit-ox' offered to Rudra, see Hillebrandt's Ritual-Litteratur, p. 83 f. The Buddhist Suttas mention beef-butchers; see Neumann's translation of the Dighanikāya, vol. II, p. 448, n. 5. Cf. also Memoirs, ASB, 1. 373; Macdonell and Keith, Vedic Index, vol. II, p. 145; Hastings' Encyclopædia of Religion and Ethics, article 'cow' by Jacobi.

<sup>9</sup> According to Trenckner's Pāli Miscellany, p. 58, n. 6, palasata (= Vedic parasvat) is the original of Pāli palāsāda, 'a rhinoceros', and the latter, which means literally 'eating leaves', is an etymologizing corruption of the former. The form palāsāda occurs in the Jātaka, V, p. 406, v. 267, and palasata ibid., VI, p. 277, v. 1205; see Kern's Toevogsgelen op 't Woordenboek van Childers (Amsterdam, 1916), II, p. 13.

<sup>10</sup> For the pronoun nāni see above, p. 13, n. 5. Lüders (SPAW, 1913. 998, n. 1) has refuted a suggestion of Franke (VOJ, 9. 343), who wanted to join ajakānāni into one word, and to consider it a Prakṛit form of ajakā. Just as the nom. plur. neut. nāni is connected here with the nom. sing. fem. ajakā, and with the nom. sing. neut. she in the Queen's edict, l. 4, kāni is combined with the nom. sing. masc. potake in l. 9; see Lüders, p. 997, and cf. above, p. 35, n. 12.

(G) Living animals must not be fed with (other) living animals.

(H) Fish are inviolable, and must not be sold, on the three Chāturmasīs<sup>1</sup> (and) on the Tishyā full-moon<sup>2</sup> during three days, (viz.) the fourteenth, the fifteenth, (and) the first (tithi), and invariably on every fast-day.<sup>3</sup>

(I) And during these same days also no other classes of animals which are in the elephant-park<sup>4</sup> (and) in the preserves of the fishermen, must be killed.

(J) On the eighth (tithi) of (every) fortnight,<sup>5</sup> on the fourteenth, on the fifteenth, on Tishyā, on Punarvasu, on the three Chāturmasīs, (and) on festivals,<sup>6</sup> bulls<sup>7</sup> must not be castrated, (and) he-goats, rams, boars, and whatever other (animals) are castrated (otherwise), must not be castrated (then).

(K) On Tishyā, on Punarvasu, on the Chāturmasīs, (and) during the fortnight of (every) Chāturmasī, horses (and) bullocks must not be branded.

(L) Until (I had been) anointed twenty-six years, in this period the release of prisoners was ordered by me twenty-five (times).<sup>8</sup>

<sup>6</sup> According to the Kaṭṭhīya, p. 407, l. 9 f., the king's birthday and local festivals are meant; see below, n. 8.

(A) King Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin speaks thus.

(B) (When I had been) anointed twelve years, rescripts on morality were caused to be written by me for the welfare and happiness of the people, (in order that), not transgressing<sup>3</sup> those (rescripts), they might attain a promotion of morality in various respects.

(C) (Thinking): 'thus the welfare and happiness of the people (will be secured)', I am directing my attention not only<sup>4</sup> to (my) relatives, but to those who are near and far, in order that<sup>5</sup> I may lead them<sup>6</sup> to happiness, and I am instructing (them) accordingly.

(D) In the same manner I am directing my attention to all classes.<sup>7</sup>

<sup>3</sup> Kern (Faartelling, p. 92 f.) explained apahaṭā by a-prahartā, and translated it by 'leaving untouched'. Franke (VOJ, 9. 344, n. 2) suggested two slight modifications: apahaṭā may correspond as well to **a-prahṛitvā* (Skt. a-prahṛitya), and pra-hṛi may be taken in the sense of 'transgressing'. I adopt this translation, but believe that Kern found the correct Sanskrit equivalent. The gerund in -tvā would be without parallel in the earlier dialect; see Lüders, SPAW, 1913. 1024, n. 1. Cf. also the nominative singular nijhapayitā in the pillar-edict IV, M.

<sup>5</sup> kimān (or kinimān as three other versions read) appears to be used in the sense of kinṭi, and to be an enlarged form of Skt. kim, as Pāli sudaṇ of Skt. svid. See the remarks of Senart in IA, 18. 107, and those of Franke in KZ, 34. 430. Bühler (EI, 2. 269) preferred to derive it from **kimva* = kimiva.

TRANSLATION

(A) King Dōvānāmpriya Priyadarśin speaks thus.

(B) The kings who were in times past, had this desire, that<sup>7</sup> men might (be made to) progress by the promotion of morality; but men were not made to progress by an adequate promotion of morality.

(C) Concerning this,<sup>8</sup> king Dōvānāmpriya Priyadarśin speaks thus.

(D) The following occurred to me.

(E) On one hand, in times past kings had this desire, that men might (be made to) progress by an adequate promotion of morality; (but) on the other hand, men were not made to progress by an adequate promotion of morality.

<sup>1</sup> Bühler (EI, 2, 274, note k) restored paṭiṭṭhāyanti, which he translated by 'they point out'. I suspect that the actual reading of the pillar was paṭiṭṭhāyanti; cf. paṭiṭṭhāyanti in the Jaugarā rock-edict VI, D.

<sup>6</sup> The late Dr. Fleet drew my attention to the fact that a peculiar mark is attached to the top of the de of Dōvānāmpīye, and that there is a corresponding mark above the word aṭṭhāye in section OO. This double kākaṭāda or caret (cf. Kalhana's Rājatarāṅgiṇī, IV, 117) suggests that the writer wanted us to place sections RR and SS before section OO.

<sup>7</sup> Franke (GN, 1895, 537) attributes to kathaṇi the meaning of 'that'. Bühler translated it by 'in some way'.

(F) How<sup>1</sup> then might men (be made to) conform to (morality)?

(G) How might men (be made to) progress by an adequate promotion of morality?

(H) How could I elevate<sup>2</sup> them<sup>3</sup> by the promotion of morality?

(I) Concerning this, king Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin speaks thus.

(J) The following occurred to me.

(K) I shall issue proclamations on morality,<sup>4</sup> (and) shall order instruction in morality (to be given).

✓(L) Hearing this, men will conform to (it), will be elevated, and will (be made to) progress considerably by the promotion of morality.

(M) For this purpose proclamations on morality were issued by me, (and) manifold instruction in morality was ordered (to be given), [in order that those agents] (of mine)<sup>5</sup> too, who are occupied<sup>6</sup> with many<sup>7</sup> people, will exhort (them) and will explain (morality to them) in detail.

(N) The Laṣṭukas<sup>8</sup> also, who are occupied with many hundred thousands of men, —these too were ordered by me: 'In such and such a manner<sup>9</sup> exhort ye the people who are devoted to morality'.

(O) Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin speaks thus.

(P) Having in view this very (matter),<sup>10</sup> I have set up pillars of morality,<sup>11</sup> appointed Mahāmātras of morality, (and) issued [proclamations] on morality.

(Q) King Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin speaks thus.

(R) On the roads banyan-trees were caused to be planted by me, (in order that) they might afford shade to cattle and men,<sup>12</sup> (and) mango-groves<sup>13</sup> were caused to be planted.

<sup>4</sup> Bühler translated: 'Sermons on the sacred law I will order to be preached'. With the meaning which I assign to sāvāpayāmi, cf. iyam sāvane sāvāpīte at Brahmagiri (l. 5), for which the Śiddhāpura edict (l. 11) reads [īya]m sāvane sāvīte, and the Rūpnāth edict (l. 3) sāvane kaṭe. These three records and the Sahasrām, Bairāt, Maski, and Jaṭiṅga-Rāmēśvara rock-inscriptions are actual specimens of the dharma-sāvanāni to which Aśoka is alluding here.

<sup>7</sup> With the locative bahune Bühler (EI, 2. 270, n. 68) compared punāvasune in the pillar-edict V, ll. 16 and 18, which, however, might be a dative.

<sup>13</sup> In ambā-vaḍikā and aḍha-[ko]sika (below, section S) the k of the two affixes -kā and -ika is palatalized through the influence of the preceding vowel i, as frequently at Kālsī; see there nātikya, pālāntikya, &c. The form ambā-vaḍikā occurs in the Queen's pillar-edict, l. 3. The first member of this compound, ambā (for the Sanskrit masculine āmra), seems to be used as feminine; cf. ābikā-bhati (= **āmrikā-bhṛiti*) at Junnar (ASWI, 4. 97, No. 26). The second member, vaḍikā, is the regular Prākṛit equivalent of Skt. **vṛitika* (= vṛiti, 'a hedge'), while its usual Sanskrit synonym, vāṭikā, presupposes the form **vartikā*; cf. Wackernagel's Altind. Grammatik, I, p. 168.

(Z) Some (Mahāmātras) were ordered by me to busy themselves<sup>1</sup> with the affairs of the Samgha; <sup>2</sup> likewise others were ordered by me to busy themselves also with the Brāhmaṇas (and) Ājīvikas; <sup>3</sup> others were ordered by me to busy themselves also with the Nirgranthas; <sup>4</sup> others were ordered by me to busy themselves also with various (other) sects; (thus) different Mahāmātras (are busying themselves) specially with different (congregations).<sup>5</sup>

(AA) But my Mahāmātras of morality are occupied with these (congregations) as well as with all other sects.

(BB) King Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin speaks thus.

(CC) Both these and many other chief (officers)<sup>6</sup> are occupied with the delivery of the gifts of myself as well as of the queens, and among my whole harem [they are reporting] in divers ways different worthy recipients of charity<sup>7</sup> both here<sup>8</sup> and in the provinces.

(DD) And others<sup>9</sup> were ordered by me to busy themselves also with the delivery of the gifts of (my) sons and of other queens' sons,<sup>10</sup> in order (to promote) noble deeds of morality (and) the practice of morality.

(EE) For noble deeds of morality and the practice of morality (consist in) this, that (morality), viz.<sup>11</sup> compassion, liberality, truthfulness, purity, gentleness, and goodness, will thus be promoted among men.

(FF) King Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin speaks thus.

(GG) Whatsoever good deeds have been performed by me, those the people have imitated, and to those they are conforming.

(HH) Thereby they have been made to progress and will (be made to) progress in obedience to mother and father, in obedience to elders, in courtesy to the aged, in courtesy to Brāhmaṇas and Śramaṇas, to the poor and distressed, (and) even to slaves and servants.

<sup>6</sup> As at Shālbāzgarhi (XIII, 8) and Mānschrā (XIII, 9), mukha corresponds to Skt. mukhya. Michelson (IF, 23. 263 f.) prefers to identify it with Skt. mukha, because in mukhya (= Skt. mukhya, Delhi-Tōprā pillar-edict VI, l. 9) the group khy is not assimilated. But Skt. mukha is always neuter, and the masculine mukha seems to be a fiction of the Kōśas. Thomas renders bahnkā mukhā by 'many departments'; see JRAS, 1915. 99.

<sup>7</sup> Kern and Bühler (EI, 2. 274) explained tnhāyatan[ā]ni by tushy-āyatanāni, 'sources of contentment', i. e. 'opportunities for charity'. I adopt this suggestion, but prefer to take āyatana as a synonym of pātra or ūrtha, and follow Lüders (SPAW, 1914. 853) in considering the first member of the compound to be tushā in the sense of tushī.

<sup>11</sup> See above, p. 120, n. 7. Before yā iyaṇi we may have to supply dhamme, which includes the virtues that are enumerated after it; cf. the pillar-edict II, C. I differ here slightly from Lüders, SPAW, 1914. 854.

- (D) But indeed that monk or nun who shall break up the Samgha, should be

<sup>4</sup> The correct reading of this word is due to Venis. Vogel and Senart read bhikhati, and Boyer bhokhati.

<sup>7</sup> This is the ancient name of the city of Pāṭnā, the capital of Chandragupta and Aśoka. It is mentioned also in the Gīrnār edict V, M. The Sāmāth edict was probably addressed by the king to the Mahāmātras at Pāṭaliputra, as the Kauśāmbī edict to the Mahāmātras at Kauśāmbī.

<sup>8</sup> With saṃghe bhetave cf. saṃghaṇi bhindati, 'to cause divisions among the priesthood', in Childers' Pāli Dictionary, s.v. bhindati; saṃghaṇi bhinditvā in the Jātaka, vol. IV, p. 200, l. 6; saṃaggassa saṃghassa bhedāya in the Pāṭimokkha, JRS, 1876. 75, § 10; Buddha-vachanaṃ bhindimāsu in the Dīpavaṃsa, VII, 54.

(E) Thus this edict must be submitted both to the Samgha of monks and to the Samgha of nuns.

(F) Thus speaks Dēvānāmpriya:

(G) Let one copy of this (edict)<sup>1</sup> remain<sup>2</sup> with you<sup>3</sup> deposited<sup>4</sup> in (your) office;<sup>5</sup> and<sup>6</sup> deposit ye another copy of this very (edict) with the lay-worshippers.

(H) These lay-worshippers may come on every fast-day (posatha)<sup>7</sup> in order to be inspired with confidence in this very edict;<sup>8</sup> and invariably on every fast-day,<sup>9</sup> every Mahāmātra (will) come to the fast-day (service) in order to be inspired with confidence in this very edict and to understand (it).<sup>10</sup>

(I) And as far as your district<sup>11</sup> (extends), dispatch ye (an officer)<sup>12</sup> everywhere according to the letter of this (edict).<sup>13</sup>

<sup>4</sup> Venis (JPASB, 3. 2) translated ni-kship by 'inscribing'. Cf. the Raghuvaṃśa, VII, 65, where Mallinātha explains nikshēpita by lekhitā, and nikkhitta-vanṇam in the Śākuntala, ed. by Cappeller, p. 32, l. 16. But as the word nikhitā is placed after saṃsalanasi, and nikhipātha in the next sentence after upāsakānāntikān, it is more natural to take ni-kship in the sense of 'depositing'.

<sup>6</sup> As remarked by Senart (CR, 1907. 30), the double cha in hedisā cha ikā lipi and ikān cha lipim hedisamvā co-ordinates the two sentences. The same is the case in the next section, where the cha after te pi corresponds to the cha after auposatham in l. 8. Cf. also above, p. 47, n. 9.

<sup>7</sup> In the form posatha, which occurs also in the Āṭaka (ZDMG, 48. 63), the initial u of Skt. upavasatha has been dropped. Cf. posaha in Pischel's Grammatik, § 141, and the artificial form pōshadha (Böhtlingk's two dictionaries, s. v.) in the language of the Northern Buddhists.

<sup>10</sup> Sections E to H do not add anything new to the king's order, of which two other specimens are preserved at Sārnath and Allahabad, but provide merely for the proper circulation of the edict among all the parties concerned. This the king tries to ensure (1) by communicating his edict to the monks and nuns, whom it chiefly concerns, and (2) by ordering that one copy of it should be retained by the Mahāmātras and another by the lay-worshippers, to be studied by both of them respectively at the fast-day services. The two last sections of the inscription contain further provisions for ensuring a still wider circulation to the king's edict. The preceding paragraphs had arranged for its publicity among the citizens of Pāṭaliputra. In sections I and J the king orders the Mahāmātras of Pāṭaliputra to make it known in the district surrounding Pāṭaliputra and in the jungle tracts beyond this district.

<sup>11</sup> Kern pointed out that āhāla (spelt ahāla at Rūpnāth) corresponds to the well-known territorial term āhāra, 'a district'; see EI, 8. 170. The meaning 'food' is excluded here, because the words tuphākān āhāle are contrasted with saveṣu koṣa-vishaveṣu in the next section. For other ancient inscriptions in which the word āhāra, 'a district', occurs, see Lüders' List of Brāhmī Inscriptions (EI, 10. Appendix), p. 214, s. v.

<sup>12</sup> As Thomas states (JA (10), 15. 517), the usual Pāli equivalent of vivasati is viṇṇavasati; see Childers, Pāli Dictionary, s. v. The verb viṇṇasati (viṇṇasati in the Rūpnāth edict, l. 5) is the causative, and viṇṇasāpayati in section J a double causative, of viṇṇasati. Venis (JPASB, 3. 2) translated viṇṇasati by 'making known'; but this meaning is not supported by other instances. Thomas (JRAS, 1915. 112) renders it by 'expelling'. But it would be hazardous to assign to it a different meaning from viṇṇasati at Rūpnāth. I supply the missing object of the verb from the first separate rock-edict (Dhaulī, Z-CC; Jaugaḍa, AA-DD), viz. mahāmātram.

(7) In the same way cause (your subordinates) to dispatch (an officer) according to the letter of this (edict) in all the territories (surrounding) forest.

(A) When King Devānaṃpiyaṃ Piyaḍatti had been anointed twenty years, he came himself and worshipped (his spot), because the Buddha Sākyaṃmaṇi was born there.

(B) (The) birth caused to be made a stone bearing a horse (C) and caused a stone pillar to be set up (in order to show) that the Blessed one was born here.

'Forest' as opposed to 'stone' and the Old Indic śāla 'forest'. In the rock edict III B, it is coupled with lāṇa 'forest'. A number of the sentences in which it occurs, were collected by the late Dr. Vachani (J.M.S. 6, 1939), who rendered it by 'speculation'. Senart (1903, p. 37) translates: 'with the aim of my inscription' as he takes the instrumental lāṇa 'speculation' in the sense of the sūtra; cf. Senart's Manuel de Gram. Ind. 1903, 133.

<sup>1</sup> This seems to refer to cutting jungle trees (perhaps in the Nepalese Terai) which were not fully purified but were used by means of military power, such as the 'forest' mentioned in the Śālistambā edict XIII B.

<sup>2</sup> In the Jāṇāpāṇāśīlāna-jāṇa (J.M.S. 13, 1931), the Buddha himself is reported to have said: 'Evaṃbhavaṃ kho ānanda sabbā bhikkhā-bhikkhāṇā upāsaka-upāsikā vāhi Tathāgata vāhi ti'. In accordance with this quotation I changed the words from lāṇa to ti with section A, while Senart (J.M.S. 1903, 135) joined them to B.

<sup>3</sup> This is Champetier's explanation of the obscure and much-discussed word vigadānī; see 14, 42-43. The syllable -hi might certainly represent Skt. -hiṣṭi; but this vigadā means 'a horse', requiring to be proved by more substantial evidence. Sir R. Shendrikar (J.B.R.A.S. 22, 1928, p. 14) and Senart (J.M.S. 1903, 47, 82), joined hiṣṭi into one word, and explained it by Skt. **bhikkhā* 'a wall'. As according to Fischer's Grammatik, § 12, 119, vigadā is an Archaismus in form of Skt. vāṇīka śāla-vigadā hiṣṭi might mean 'a (brick) wall decorated with stone'. But as Champetier (14, 42-43) remarks, the change of **bhikkhā* to hiṣṭi is wholly improbable from a linguistic point of view, as consonants were not changed to such an extent in the early stage of Pāli as Senart.

<sup>1</sup> Sylvain Lévi (JA (10), 17, 124 f.) first showed that misā represents Skt. miśrāḥ; but his translation of devā by 'kings' is inadmissible. The word deva is not used anywhere else in the Aśoka edicts except in the title Devānaṃpriya, where it certainly does not mean 'a king', for which the word rājā is regularly employed; see JRAS, 1911. 1114. Senart (JA (11), 7, 438 ff.) still upholds Bühler's view that misā stands for Skt. mrishā, which is represented by musā in Pāli, in Ardhamāgadhī (Pischel's Grammatik, § 78), and in the Calcutta-Bairāt rock-inscription, l. 6. Granted that this explanation might account for the curious compounds misāṃ-deva and anṃmisāṃ-deva at Sahasrām,—the nasalized final occurring also in the Ardhamāgadhī form musāṃ,—it would create two serious difficulties: (1) the compound miśibhūtā at Maski would offend against the Vārttika on Pāṇini, VII, 4, 32, which prohibits the change of the final ā of indeclinables to ī (cf. Mahābhāṣya on I, 1, 41), and (2) it forces Senart (loc. cit., p. 441) to render the words misā devēhi, 'mingled with the gods', in the Mysore edicts, by 'ont été (réduits à apparaître comme) fausement (mis au nombre) des dieux', and to consider the instrumental devēhi an ablative partitive (?).

<sup>3</sup> As I have shown in JRAS, 1913. 652 f., this enigmatical sentence can be explained by comparing a similar, but more explicit statement in the fourth rock-edict. It refers to certain religious shows at which Aśoka had exhibited to his subjects in effigie the gods whose abodes they would be able to reach by the zealous practice of Dharma. The word devā corresponds to divyāni rūpāni in the Girnār edict IV, B.

<sup>6</sup> Fleet (JRAS, 1909. 1014) and Thomas (JA (10), 15, 510) were of opinion that the few following words: 'let both the lowly and the exalted be zealous' represent the text of an address delivered by Aśoka himself on a previous occasion, and quoted succinctly by him here. But a glance at the parallel passages collected by Thomas himself on the next page (511) will suffice to show that Senart was right in believing that the following words are rather referred to by etiya aṭṭhāya, and that here, as well as in section M, the word 'proclamation' refers to the whole of the Rūpnāth edict itself.

<sup>7</sup> According to the Kālsī and Shāhbāzgarhī rock-edict XIII, Q, these borderers were Antiochus II of Syria and four other Greek kings (in the west), and the Chōḍas and Pāṇḍyas in the south. Cf. also the rock-edict II, A, and V, J.

(J) And cause ye this matter<sup>1</sup> to be engraved on rocks where an occasion presents itself.<sup>2</sup>

(K) And (wherever) there are stone pillars here,<sup>3</sup> it must be caused to be engraved on stone pillars.<sup>4</sup>

(L) And according to the letter of this (proclamation)<sup>5</sup> (you) must dispatch (an officer)<sup>6</sup> everywhere, as far as your district<sup>7</sup> (extends).

(M) (This) proclamation was issued by (me) on tour.<sup>8</sup>

(N) 256 (nights)<sup>9</sup> (had then been) spent on tour.<sup>10</sup>

II. THE SAHASRAM ROCK-INSCRIPTION.

<sup>1</sup> Instead of the nominative iya cha aṭhe we should have expected the accusative ima cha aṭham, as at Sahasrām, l. 7. The nominative would be in its proper place if we adopt Senart's conjecture lekhāpetaviye ti for lekhāpeta vāṭata; but this change is so extensive that it must be pronounced doubtful.

<sup>8</sup> Cf. the rock-edict VIII. For the two terms vyuṭṭha and vivāsa, which have greatly exercised all earlier interpreters, see now Thomas, JA (10), 15. 512 ff. The instrumental vy[u]ṭṭhā, which depends on sāvane kaṭe, must refer to Aśoka himself, because the preceding text of the proclamation shows the latter to have been the edict of a king to his officers, who are addressed in the second person plural (tupaka, l. 5); see JRAS, 1909. 729. I therefore follow Thomas (IA, 37. 22) in supplying mayā.

<sup>9</sup> The three figures '256' were explained by Bühler as a date after the Nirvāṇa of the Buddha. Other scholars interpreted them in different ways (see Fleet, JRAS, 1908. 817), until in 1910 (JA (10), 15. 507 ff.) Thomas showed that the Sahasrām version of the Rūpnāth edict combines with them the word lāti = Skt. rātri, 'a night'. On the (redundant) word sata, 'a hundred', see Thomas, ibid., p. 521, and Fleet, JRAS, 1911. 1104, n. 2. Since the publication of Thomas' discovery of the word lāti at Sahasrām, the '256 nights' have been discussed by Fleet (JRAS, 1910. 1301 ff., 1911. 1091 ff., and 1913. 655 ff.), Sylvain Lévi (JA (10), 17. 119 ff.), D. R. Bhandarkar (IA, 41. 170 ff.), Neumann (translation of the Dīgha-nikāya, 2. 225 f., and R. Accademia dei Lincei, Rendiconti, 22. 695 ff.), Thomas himself (JRAS, 1916. 113 ff.), and Senart (JA (11), 7. 434 f.), who takes lāti = Skt. ratī, as at Kālsī, VIII, F.

<sup>2</sup> The top of va is damaged by a slanting cross-line, and there happens to be a faint vertical stroke behind it which gave rise to the imaginary syllable vim in Cunningham's copy. A later idea of Bühler's (IA, 22. 299), the group ḍva, is equally non-existent; as stated by Fleet (JRAS, 1910. 147), it is already impossible because the ḍa would then have to stand on the level of the line, but not above it, and the va would have to be entered below, but not on the level of the line. These tedious details have to be noted here because the fanciful reading saḍvachhale, combined with the actual blunder chhavachhale at Rūpnāth, is the starting-point of a (now exploded) theory which has obscured the chronology of Aśoka's inscriptions for a long time.

<sup>2</sup> Thomas (JA (10), 15. 520, note) compares the word vivuthā (corresponding to vivāsā at Rūpnāth) with vyushṭam, a division of time which is mentioned in the Kaṇṭhīya, p. 60, l. 3 from bottom. His suggestion that the latter may have the sense of νυχθημερον, 'a night and a day', is perhaps correct. At any rate, in Aśoka's time both vivutha and vivāsa apparently meant 'a civil day spent in travelling, an absence of twenty-four hours from headquarters'.

<sup>3</sup> The actual purport of this important passage was cleared up by Thomas (JA (10), 15. 520), who discovered in it the word lāti, 'a night', which had escaped the attention of his predecessors for thirty-three years. He pointed out, at the same time, that pañnā is a recognized Prākṛit form of pañchāśat, and that expressions like dvē shatpañchāśe rātri-śatē are used in archaic Sanskrit as well. Cf. ekam rattim vipavasati, 'to spend a night away from home', in Childers' Pālī Dictionary, p. 581.

<sup>5</sup> bunī[pā]śake K.S. The point after bu does resemble an Anusvāra, but it stands on a higher level than the other Anusvāras of this inscription. Besides, an Anusvāra would make no sense here. Krishna Sastri remarks that 'the letter pā appears to have been corrected from some other', and Senart (JA (11), 7. 428) suggests that the writer may have wavered between upāsake and Budhupāsake. I agree with him in believing that the writer originally wanted to write upāsake, which is the reading of Sahasrām, Bairāt, and Śiddhāpura. On second thoughts he changed upā to Budha and added Śake, which corresponds to [Sa]k[e] at Rūpnāth. The abnormal shape of the dha of Budha is due to its having been corrected from pā.

TRANSLATION

(A) From Suvarṇagiri,<sup>5</sup> at the word of the prince (āryaputra)<sup>6</sup> and of the Mahāmātras, the Mahāmātras at Isila must be wished good health<sup>7</sup> and be told this:

(B) Dēvānāmpriya commands (as follows).

(C) More than two and a half years (have passed) since I (am)<sup>8</sup> a lay-worshipper (upāsaka).

(D) But indeed I had not been very zealous for one year.<sup>9</sup>

(E) But indeed a year and somewhat more (has passed) since I have visited the Samgha and have been very zealous.

(F) But men in Jambudvīpa, being during that time unmingled, (are now) mingled with the gods.<sup>10</sup>

(G) For this is the fruit of zeal.

(H) For this cannot be reached by (a person) of high rank alone, but indeed even a lowly (person) can at liberty attain the great heaven if he is zealous.

(I) For the following purpose has this proclamation been issued,<sup>11</sup> [that both the lowly] and those of high rank may be zealous in this manner,<sup>12</sup> and (that even) my borderers may know (it), and (that) this zeal may be of long duration.

(J) And this matter will (be made by me to) progress, and will (be made to) progress even considerably; it will (be made to) progress to at least one and a half.

(K) And this proclamation was issued by (me) on tour.

<sup>5</sup> This place seems to have been the capital of the province administered by the Āryaputra and his Mahāmātras. Bühler (EI, 3, 137) compared the second separate edict at Dhauri, according to which a Kumāra and his Mahāmātras resided at Tōsali. The separate edicts of Dhauri and Jaugada were addressed by the king to the local authorities themselves, while in the Mysore edicts the king commands the authorities of the Suvarṇagiri province to communicate his orders to their subordinates at Isila. In Fleet's opinion the Mysore edicts were issued from Suvarṇagiri by Aśoka himself; and he identified this place with one of the hills, still known as Sōnagiri, near Rājagriha in Bihār; see JRAS, 1909, 998. H. Krishna Sastri connects Suvarṇagiri, i.e. 'the gold mountain', with the country around Maski, which abounds in ancient gold-workings; see his remarks on the Maski edict, p. 1. Perhaps it may be identified with its synonym Kanakagiri, south of Maski and north of the ruins of Vijayanagara; see Constable's Hand-Atlas of India, plate 34, C, b.

<sup>9</sup> The words 'for one year' are missing at Rūpnāth and Sahasrām. As Senart (JA (8), 19, 481 f.) has shown, they are of great importance for the chronology of the Aśoka inscriptions, because they imply that the period of 'more than two and a half years', for which, at the time of the Sahasrām, Bairāt, and Siddāpura edicts, Aśoka had been an upāsaka (or Śākya, as the Rūpnāth and Maski edicts read), must be subdivided into two shorter periods, viz. (1) one year (with, no doubt, a little more) during which he had not been very zealous, and (2) a year with the balance of the whole period, during which he displayed great zeal, and which commenced from his visit to the Samgha. Cf. chapter IV of the Introduction.

<sup>12</sup> With imam supply pakamaṃ; cf. vaḍhi[ni] vaḍhisiti in the Rūpnāth edict, section I, and above, p. 168, n. 9.

(M) Moreover, Dēvānāmpriya speaks thus.<sup>2</sup>

(N) Obedience must be rendered to mother and father, likewise to elders; firmness (of compassion) must be shown towards animals; the truth must be spoken: these same moral virtues must be practised.

(O) In the same way the pupil must show reverence to the master, and one must behave in a suitable manner towards relatives.

(P) This is an ancient rule, and this conduces to long life.

(Q) Thus one must act.<sup>3</sup>

(R) Written by Chapaḍa the writer.

TRANSLATION

By king Priyadarśin, (when he had been) anointed twelve years, this cave in the Khalatika mountain was given to the Ājivikas.

<sup>2</sup> This seems to have been the name of the cave. Cf. the other names of caves at the beginning of the three cave-inscriptions of Daśaratha (IA, 20. 364 f.).

<sup>3</sup> The Ājivika sect was founded by Gōśāla, a contemporary of both Gautama and Mahāvīra. Kern, with whom Bühler sided, considered the Ājivikas to have been a Vaishṇava sect; see IA, 20. 361 f. This view was combated by D. R. Bhandarkar, JBBRAS, 21. 399 ff., and IA, 41. 90, 286 ff. Cf. Neumann's translation of the Digha-nikāya, 2. 248, n. 139, and Charpentier in JRAS, 1913, 669 ff. For full information see the late Dr. Hoernle's learned article 'Ājivikas' in Hastings' Encyclopædia of Religion and Ethics.

<sup>4</sup> The bracketed letters are effaced; cf. above, n. 1. In the first of the three Nāgārjunī Hill cave-inscriptions of Daśaratha also an attempt has been made to chisel away the word ājivikehi; see the plate in IA, 20. 365, D.

CORRIGENDA

Introduction, pages xlv-xlvii.—Since I wrote chapter IV of the Introduction, I have lost my belief in the correctness of the meaning 'on tour', assigned to vyushṭa, and am now convinced that this past participle has to be taken in the same sense as e.g. in the Baudhāyana-Dharmasūtra, IV, 5, 30, viz. 'having spent the night (in prayer)'. Cf. JRAS, 1904. 364 f. (Kielhorn); 1911. 1106 (Fleet); 1916. 113 ff. (Thomas). I would now translate sections J–K of the Sahasrām edict (Text, p. 171) as follows: 'And this proclamation (was issued) by (me after I had) spent the night (in prayer). Two hundred and fifty-six nights (had then been) spent (in prayer).' The translations of the corresponding portions of the Rāpnāth and Brahmagiri edicts (Text, pp. 169 and 177 f.) have to be modified in a similar way. But vivāsayātha at Sārnāth (section I, p. 162) and vivāsetavā[ya] (read vivāsetavīye) at Rāpnāth (section L, p. 167) probably mean nothing but 'expel ye (schismatic monks or nuns)'; and vivāsūpayāthā at Sārnāth (section J, p. 162) would mean 'issue ye orders to expel (schismatic monks or nuns).' See Thomas, JRAS, 1915. 111 f.

<sup>2</sup> As stated by Kern (Faartelling, p. 44), Senart (Inscriptions, vol. I, p. 323 f.), and Bühler (ZDMG, 39. 490), the Gīrnār rock must have borne, like the Kālsī and Dhāuli rocks, the figure of an elephant representing the Buddha. This figure was probably destroyed during the construction of a causeway for pilgrims from Junāgarh to Gīrnār, and along with it those adjacent portions of the fifth and thirteenth edicts which are now missing.

(A) This rescript on morality has been caused to be written by Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin.

(B) Here no living being must be killed and sacrificed.

(C) And also no festival meeting must be held.

(D) For king Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin sees much evil in festival meetings.

(E) And there are also some festival meetings which are considered meritorious by king Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin.

(F) Formerly in the kitchen of king Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin many hundred thousands of animals were killed daily for the sake of curry.

(G) But now, when this rescript on morality is caused to be written, then only three animals are being killed (daily), (viz.) two peacocks (and) one deer, but even this deer not regularly.

(H) But even these three animals shall not be killed (in future).

(A) King Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin speaks thus.

(B) (When I had been) anointed twelve years, the following was ordered by me.

(C) Everywhere in my dominions the Yuktas, the Lajūka, (and) the Prādēsika shall set out on a complete tour (throughout their charges) every five years for this very purpose, (viz.) for the following instruction in morality as well as for other business.

(D) 'Meritorious is obedience to mother and father. Liberality to friends, acquaintances, and relatives, and to Brāhmaṇas and Śramaṇas is meritorious. Abstinence from killing animals is meritorious. Moderation in expenditure (and) moderation in possessions are meritorious.'

(E) And the councils (of Mahāmātras) also shall order the Yuktas<sup>1</sup> to register (these rules) both with (the addition of) reasons<sup>2</sup> and according to the letter.

<sup>1</sup> Lüders (SPAW, 1913. 993 ff.) has been the first to remark that in the eastern dialect the accusative plural of masculines ends in -āni. Cf. yutāni in E with yutā in C, and Kaligyāni in XIII, D, with Kaligyā in A; also XII, A, and pulisāni in the pillar-edict IV, G.

TRANSLATION

(A) In times past, for many hundreds of years, there had ever been promoted the killing of animals and the hurting of living beings, discourtesy to relatives, (and) discourtesy to Śramaṇas and Brāhmaṇas.

(B) But now, in consequence of the practice of morality on the part of king Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin, the sound of drums has become the sound of morality, showing the people representations of aerial chariots, elephants, masses of fire, and other divine figures.

(C) Such as they had not existed before for many hundreds of years, thus there are now promoted, through the instruction in morality on the part of king Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin, abstention from killing animals, abstention from hurting living beings, courtesy to relatives, courtesy to Brāhmaṇas and Śramaṇas, (and) obedience to mother and father.

(D) Both in this and in many other ways is the practice of morality promoted.

(E) And king Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin will ever promote this practice of morality.

(F) And the sons,<sup>6</sup> grandsons, and great-grandsons of king Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin will ever promote this practice of morality until the æon (of destruction of the world), (and) will instruct (people) in morality, abiding by morality and by good conduct.

(G) For this is the best work, viz. instruction in morality.

(H) And the practice of morality also is not (possible) for (a person) devoid of good conduct.

(I) Therefore promotion and not neglect of this object is meritorious.

(J) For the following purpose has this been written, (viz. in order that) they should devote themselves to the promotion of this practice, and that they should not approve<sup>7</sup> the neglect (of it).

(K) (This rescript) was caused to be written by king Dēvānāmpriya Priyadarśin (when he had been) anointed twelve years.

<sup>6</sup> The two syllables cha kaṃ seem to have the same meaning as the simple cha. They occur twice again at Kālsī (XI, E, and XIII, Z), once at Shāhbāzgarhī (IV, F), three times at Mānsehrā, and once at Brahmagiri (l. 11). Cf. kaṃ after nī, sū, hī in the Rigveda.

<sup>7</sup> See above, p. 8, n. 3. Here, and in three other versions, the augment a- is retained after the particle mā, while Shāhbāzgarhī has lo[ch]e[sh]u in accordance with Sanskrit grammar.
